Exhibit A-13 Company History

Vervantis Inc. is a privately held Nevada corporation, founded in 2015 and headquartered in Phoenix, AZ. The owners of Vervantis have over 60 years of experience in energy and utilities supply, trading and consulting. This experience and background led to the development of proprietary energy management software and solutions customized to large and medium-sized energy consumers across the United States and Canada.

Prior to Vervantis, in 2000, the partners started Encore International, a European energy advisor business growing it over ten years into one of the largest advisors in the space with 100 consultants and managing over 20% of the UK commercial & Industrial volume before selling it in 2010 where it was purchased shortly after by Schneider Electric. Dan Moat, the main shareholder at Vervantis came to the United States shortly after the initial sale and after several years immersed in the US energy markets, founded Vervantis and became a US citizen.

Since foundation Vervantis has been a champion of customer choice and innovation bringing several unique offerings to market that challenge the traditional approach to energy and utility support and advice. Today Vervantis has twenty people managing thousands of utility accounts and over $1.5bn of energy spend.

Our principle business interests are providing independent energy and utility advice to commercial and industrial energy consumers. We never take title of energy, we do not trade energy and are not paid by energy suppliers, neither do we operate in the residential or Small Medium Enterprise (SME) space.

Vervantis is a SOC 2 Type 2 certified company and CCPA compliant, which means our customers data is secure and our company can be trusted. This attestation is continually assessed with independent penetration testing of our IT and software both externally and internally every quarter.

Exhibit D-1 Operations

Vervantis applies energy risk management tools and skills commonly found in banks and energy suppliers to accurately measure and control an organization's exposure to energy commodity prices using value at risk. Our energy procurement experts negotiate exclusive supply agreements directly with energy vendors allowing organizations to transact dynamically under an expertly managed energy sourcing process. Dynamic transactions alter the percentage of energy spend that is fixed or unfixed at any point in time and purchases are in small or large blocks. This fine-tuning of transactions ensures energy risk management goals are met with a clear understanding of, and a careful watch on, the taken underlying category risk. Risk reports and energy data analysis are available 24/7 through DataHub360™, our proprietary energy management portal.
