Progressive Energy Group LLC (PEG) was originally founded in 2008 by two partners, Arnie Schramel and Chris Childress, who have a combined 60 years work experience with the Illinois utilities business. Childress, for his part, has worked at both ComEd and Nicor Gas for over 35 years; Schramel's had been at Nicor Gas for 25 years. PEG originally began in 2008 as an Illinois ABC to serve commercial, industrial and governmental customers, providing energy consulting services and procurement recommendations. In 2011, PEG expanded their customer base by working with large scale residential aggregation programs in Illinois.

At this time, PEG is currently licensed as an energy broker in the following states: Illinois, Ohio, Pennsylvania, New York, and Texas.

Type of customers and number of customers Applicant currently serves in other jurisdictions:

State	Industrial	Commercial	Governmental	Residential Aggregation
Illinois	186	1,102	42	25 Cities (75,000 homes)
Ohio		3
Texas	1	2
Pennsylvania		2
New York		4

PEG will work as an Ohio licensed energy broker, working in tandem with both the approved energy suppliers for the state of Ohio and any potential customers that are looking to utilize our energy consulting services:

- Contracting with customers will be based on the supplied agreement from the recommended energy supplier for the customer to execute. PEG will oversee the request, receipt and processing of customer contracts, primarily done through email or mail with both suppliers and customers.
- Contracted services will be providing directly through the energy supplier to the customer. PEG will serve as a broker/consultant between the supplier and the customer.
- Billing statements will be provided from the supplier directly to the customer. PEG will request invoices on the customer's behalf if they request it.
- Should the customer contact PEG regarding complaints or inquiries, PEG will contact the contracted supplier to receive some type of resolution for the customer.
- PEG will provide any assistance to customers, such as contacting the supplier on their behalf regarding pricing, questions about the contract, confirmation of any early termination fees, billing issues, etc., should the customer request it.

Progressive Energy Group LLC (PEG)'s broker operational side is primarily run by two people: The Vice President and the Energy Director, who work closely with several 10-99 agents in obtaining and retaining customers. The operation is as follows:

1. Agent connects with a potential customer who is requesting energy consulting services. Agent obtains the necessary information for PEG to do a pricing audit, including receiving current invoices with account information, current contract end dates, and customer contact information.
2. Agent submits information to the office, where the Energy Director reviews/audits the provided invoices and then sends out for pricing with several suppliers, based on the jurisdiction.
3. Once pricing is received, a pricing sheet is created, featuring all received pricing and the highlighted procurement recommendation. Contracts are requested for the recommendation.
4. Agent is given the audit and necessary paperwork, along with an explanation of everything, to present to the agent.
5. If a contract is signed, Agent returns contract to the Energy Director for processing with the recommended supplier.
6. Process is repeated for any renewing customers for the future.

Plans for arranging and/or aggregating for the supply of electricity to retail customers:

PEG plans on offering our energy brokerage and consulting services to current customers who may have facilities in Ohio, and to potential new leads the 10-99 agents come across, either by networking, marketing, and/or state visits.
