My family and I moved to the country because we did not want to be around this sort of stuff. We live off our farm and our animals can be poisoned if a hunter shoots one of these panels. We moved here to see nature and not metal panels.

I moved to Union County to live in the country - my family and a lot of people live off their property and this should be voted against. Our homes will be devalued - we moved out here because we chose to. The solar farm is not something we chose to happen. I do not want to see the solar panels, I have animals that can be poisoned if hunters accidentally shoot one of the panels. Should we sue the farmers?
