C. Feature Capabilities (cont'd)

3. Selective Call Transfer - Permits the transfer of calls between extensions. The customer can answer an incoming call on one extension, depress the switch hook, dial an access code for one of the three different patterns, and go on hook. All extensions on the exchange service would then ring with the appropriate ringing pattern corresponding to the dialed code. Anyone going off hook from those extensions would be connected to the call automatically.
4. Dialable Call Hold - Permits the customer to place a non-intercom call (i.e., incoming call) on hold by depressing the switch hook, dialing an access code and going on hook. The call will then remain on hold until any telephone is taken off hook or the calling party goes on hook. During this hold, any telephone going off hook is connected to the call.

The following rates and charges are in addition to all other applicable rates and charges for the facilities and service furnished:
