Subject: Airport Screener Boston 9/11/2001

Board,

They could have been stopped.

They weren't.

Like that screener you have a duty and a choice. If you care to learn about the globalist mania of one Maurice Strong (The Deliberate Corruption of Climate Science by Tim Ball) and the malign purpose of The Club of Rome you will see evidence of the big lie that you and a global audience have been fed for fifty years.

That lie: man by unleashing the transformative energy of fossil fuel has empowered an insignificant constituent of our vast and nourishing atmosphere to take control of global temperature.

People trusting the media and responding to the lie have turned their back on the energy grid and created a robust wind and solar infrastructure, each permanently hobbled by intermittency, a fatal defect for a grid requiring instantaneous response.

The infrastructure requires dedicated area for installation and significant fossil fuel energy backup to guard against fickle downtime's when Mrs Wind and Mr. Sun take a break.

The infrastructure is ingenious and a credit to engineering know how. It also, of course, needs labor for design, transport, installation and maintenance. And there's the rub. That workforce is able and eager to do the work. The big lie is news to them. So what's the problem?

The problem is that here and now for the first time a developer wants to plant six huge wind turbines in a fresh water lake. Fresh water the precious source of life has naturally attracted settlement to its shores. Salt water wind turbines get sunk offshore away from land and compromise sites that are minuscule in relation to their oceanic footprint.

You must decide to stop Ice Breaker or let it go through the gate. The income earned for investors and laborers while welcome to them is an ephemeral benefit. But the looming turbines are anything but ephemeral. They will stand for years and God forbid if you give the go ahead they will be joined by hundreds more up and down the lake.

And why?

Not one single predicted climate disaster has occurred. See extinctionclock.org. Your power and mine and everybody else's is reliably a switch away. It has been and will be.

You have a chance to speak for truth and common sense. For now.

We here in New York State have been written off from a position of decision such as you enjoy. Our state house and governor are all in the same party and have approved legislation shutting out localities from exercising home rule.

I urge you to do some more homework and see if you find evidence of the lie. Then decide. Don't be left like the screener on 9/12/2020 agonizing over "What if....?"
