Dear FERC/Editor:

Following recent meetings, I continue to be encouraged with the Rockies Express Pipeline's willingness to listen to the concerns of landowners, residents, elected officials and organizations in Johnson County on the natural gas pipeline project.

All of the Rockies Express team has been responsive to the various questions, and have showed their concern for the area by offering up an alternate pipeline alignment for Johnson County that will best support the continued economic growth and environmental safety for central Indiana. I understand that many factors went into their decision to seek this alternate route, and commend them for taking the proactive step of meeting with local leaders and residents to communicate this action.

A project of this size can never please everyone involved. But as the demand for energy produced in the United States is high and growing, the REX pipeline is a necessary and important project for our country, state and Johnson County that will help reduce our dependence on foreign sources of energy.

I understand that the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission (FERC) will make the final decision on the routing of Rockies Express Pipeline. I support Rockies Express proposed realignment for Johnson County and encourage FERC to approve this recommended alternative rather than the route as originally proposed.

I am committed to work on behalf of the residents of Johnson County with Rockies Express to ensure that this project is completed safely and in the best interest of those affected.

Please do not hesitate to call my office if you have any questions on this project. As well, company representatives have committed to answer any and all questions from residents. I encourage you to visit the project website www.rexpipeline.com or call (866) 566-0066.

Sincerely,
