INTEGRATED SERVICES DIGITAL NETWORK (ISDN) BASIC RATE INTERPACE (BRI) (Intralate)

JSDN-BRI is a digital service overlay to existing telephony facilities. ISDN-BRI capabilities are added to either Centrex lines or BusinessPOTs lines to increase their voice and data handling espacity. Utilizing a digital format for signaling allows ISDN-BRI service to multiply the capacity of a single line by creating multiple data channels within the line. A standard ISDN-BRI line uses a 2B+D signaling format which creates two 64 Kilobit B, or bearer channels and one 16 kilobit D, or data channel. The 64 kilobit Bearer channels are used for voice and data transmission while the 16 kilobit data channel is need to manage the bearer channel activity. The D channel signaling is used to set up and tear down calls as well as carrying call information such as calling number or called number. Occasionally the spare capacity of the D channel is used for data applications that only require limited bandwidth. A local access line is required and will apply in addition to the BRI rates below. In accordance with Section 3 of Schodule 1, the non-recurring charges (NRC) shown in the table below will not apply provided Customer's annual revenue remains above the Target Revenue.
