CP07-208-000 REX Pipeline East

I have been made aware that with the new pathway that the REX Pipeline wishes to take through Somerset Township, Belmont County, Ohio is in the planning stages, except that the REX people wish to accelerate the public hearing process. This requested for an acceleration of a public hearing process with not give land owner an equal chance to explore their options on the proposed placement of the REX Pipeline as the other public hearings that were given to the then proposed pipeline, so the hearing process should be the same as all other communities have received.

Further none of these hearing are posted on the REX website; in fact the REX website is now over one year out of date. So when and where are these hearing going to be held? Or is this an end run around the rights of the land owners so that REX can stay on schedule?

None of the new maps, surveys and drawings are signed off by licensed professionals of any sort, which means that these instruments are not binding on the part of REX or the land owners. I have seen some with disclaimers on them and others with statement such as "non internet public". Is the REX Corporation trying to hide something?

As that the people of the United States are the ones issuing the permit for the REX Pipeline to the company, so then all of the people should get an equal chance for hearings.
