RE: Docket #CP07-208-000 (REX - East Project)

ORIGINAL

Dear Ms. McKinley:

I am writing this letter to reiterate my protest of the proposed location of the natural gas pipeline by Rockies Express Pipeline, LLC ("REX") on my property at 2629 Gardner Road, Hanover Township, OH 45013. My original letter dated 06.09.2007 is attached along with a sketch of my property to help FERC in understanding my discontentment in the location REX is wanting to utilize for their project.

The following are my four concerns:

- REX's selection of the pipeline location is just 56 feet from our home. (Measured from center of pipeline to edge of house.)
- REX's selection would destroy all the mature shade tree's on the south side of our lot #58.
- REX's selection would eliminate the overflow parking we have for family visits along with the parking we require for our 5th wheel travel trailer and a small enclosed trailer.
- REX's plan would abolish any future plans for me building a garage on my property as the proposed plans takes away the only level spot I have available for this to occur.

As you can see from the sketch, there is plenty of space to move the proposed pipeline over to our vacant lot using the existing Duke Energy existing easement. They could then alter the directional layout of the pipeline across Gardner Road since there is an abundance of free space on those vacant lots.

After my original letter and conversation with you, I was contacted by C.L. Williams, Chief Inspector, and Richard Menke, Right of Way Manager, on 07.19.2007 who felt they did not want to change the proposed location mainly because they could not use Duke's existing easement. When I talked to you on 08.01.2007, you stated that FERC's position was to use existing right of ways when available. There is as much land on my property on the other side of the Duke Energy transmission lines as there is on the side they have chosen. The reason I believe REX will not even consider the other side is that it would require more work. (ie. That side of lot is not cleared, the side they proposed is part of my yard that I keep landscaped and cleared out.) There is also another vacant lot (owned by Sanders Financial Group) on the south side of the Duke Energy transmission lines that would allow the pipeline to be located farthest away from inhabited households.

I am requesting that FERC demand REX to move their planned location under the Duke Energy Transmission lines or beyond in order to save our mature tree's, allow us to keep our auxiliary parking, and let us have the capability to use our land how we wish. REX officials said they would offer replacement trees, but I am 67 years old and don't think I would be around to enjoy the shade the new tree's would eventually provide many years down the road.

Please help us in this matter as it creates a lot of stress on us thinking that the home we worked so hard to obtain will be put in danger with the closeness of the planned pipeline and be naked without our mature trees.

Sincerely,

RE: Docket #CP07-208-000
REX-East Project

Dear Ms. Bose:

I am writing to protest the proposed plan for installation of the natural gas pipeline by Rockies Express Pipeline, LLC ("REX") on my property at 2629 Gardner Road, Hanover Township, Ohio 45013. While I fully support the construction of this gas pipeline, the current plan does not demonstrate fairness and commitment to maintaining natural surroundings or use of my property.

Specifically, my protest relates to the following issues:

- I have already lost a portion of my property to Duke Energy for creation of an easement. The plan for the natural gas pipeline does not take advantage of the easement created by Duke Energy; rather, it proposes a new easement be created. I feel the easement created by Duke Energy could be used, eliminating the need to create a second easement.
- The area of my property impacted by the pipeline is currently the location for parking on my property. Since we do not have street parking, this is the only area available for overflow parking for family visits and other guests. It is also used to house a fifth wheel travel trailer.
- I have plans to build a garage on my property and this is the only area that is level enough to house such a structure. By creating this easement, my ability to build this necessary structure would be greatly impacted.
- The only source of shade for my home is provided by trees that are in the area of the proposed pipeline. In addition to the destruction of the natural habitat, I would be impacted by the loss of shade and privacy.
- A natural stream runs through the area proposed for the new pipeline. Again, the current plan would destroy this piece of nature and impact the overall ambience of my property.

I look forward to hearing from you concerning alternative options that would satisfy the need to construct this new pipeline in a manner that would better accommodate the issues outlined above.

Sincerely,
