Case#07-589.

I am a retired Police Officer. I have only so much income. When my house needs a new roof I do not have the option to go to my retirement fund and aske for more money, I have to save the money, manage my money better, or get a loan frome a bank in witch I have to pay interest on that money.

It seems to me that anytime a utility needs to make improvments they want to charge us more money. Why don't they put some of the profit in a fund and use it for future repairs, or get a loan like the rest of use.

You see in the news how often CEO's are making millions of dollars a year, and on top of that they get millions of dollars in bonuses. Why don't they dig into thair own pockett's to pay for the repairs, This is called investing in the future of the very company they get the millions of dollars a year in pay as well as millions of dollars in bonuses. Im sure the majer stock holders have the money to invest in the company they make the money from. Or why don't they sell more stocks to the public to rais the money.
