This letter addresses all of the home and landowners that have submitted comments to FERC. It has become apparent that FERC will not address the concerns of ordinary citizens who have written about issues with the Rockies Express Pipeline.

Today I learned that Ms. Alyssa Lykens, in particular, does not bother to read the letters or comments posted on the site. My attorney called Ms. Lykens with questions specific to "The Comments of the Ohio Power Siting Board."

1. Ms Lykens stated that she had "never heard" of the document.
2. Ms. Lykens asked if this was an "official document."

The Comments of the Ohio Power Siting Board, a 54-page document, was posted on the FERC web site, January 14, 2008. Docket #CP07-208 The filing was posted by the Ohio Public Utilities Commission, reference accession number 20080114-5061.

Apparently FERC has the right to ignore this document and the Board along with the letters of citizens in Ohio and other states. This is further evidence that FERC does not care anything about the project other than getting the approval for REX. I have noticed the only time FERC responds to a comment is when the comment involves a lawsuit.

Just thought all of you would be interested to know that you don't count and your letters and comments are being ignored.

Sincerely,

Catherine Rowe
