To WHOM IT MAY CONCERN

As a person age 70+6 months, I am troubled about the current cost of an increase in the gas bill. I will be returning next year - and will be on a "fixed budget". I currently am having a hard enough time keeping up on my bills, and it seems it might be a lot harder after next year.

Several of my friends are already retired and express concern now about high gas bills; what will an increase do to them if prices are, in fact, raised?

We as "Senior Citizens" are already just making it - the entire country needs to band together and see our rights protected.

Please don't raise the price. I know - by a month seems small, but if a person on a "fixed income" only sees $421 a month - what do they really live on after utility bills, rent, and food so poor?
NOTHING.

Thank You
Respectfully
