Electric Security Plan (ESP) The plan requests the recovery of costs for fuel used to generate electricity, electricity purchased wholesale, emission allowances and federally mandated carbon taxes.

This company has had quarterly profit of an impressive size for at least five years. CEO's are making more than the president of the United State and they need more money. This is the same greed that has taking over oil prices and the banking system. They don't seem to realize there are people losing their homes. Now is not the time for them to take more money from their customers. It is time to start regulating utilities to keep them from being greedy.

The PUCO and the Federal Government need to start monitoring utility companies profit and salaries.

I fully disagree with AEP's new plan to get more money from people who can't afford it.
