COMPLAINT DESCRIPTION:

Re: Case Number 10-388-EL-SSO

No more increases in delivery charges for consumers! Especially not on a rider. We just had a 106% increase in delivery charges. This is outrageous that First Energy demands yet another increase and asking for it on a rider is not right. After I received a $760 electric bill in January due to the loss of all-electric rates, my electric rate continued to climb even higher in February and higher still in March due to these crafty little riders that First Energy has. I called the electric company and asked them why my rate got higher and higher with each month of winter and they couldn't even answer me! They told me they would have to sift through all the various "riders" and that there were eight or nine of them on my account and that would take too much time to explain why my rate for electricity got higher and higher as the months went on. What???? They told me to go online and figure it out for myself.

I have had enough of First Energy and their money grubbing. I can't even predict what electric rate I am getting each month, let alone plan for these massive increases that First Energy wants. I am on a fixed income basically. Most Ohioans are. This is a recession under which Ohio has been particularly hit hard.
(In case the PUCO and First Energy haven't noticed.)

Having to worry about whether First Energy is going to fast track another increase that will bankrupt my family at any time is nothing but pure domestic terrorism.

If First Energy had the wealth to purchase a competitor for 4.9 billion, how is it that they think they are so broke, they have to suck more money out of the consumers? I do not understand that. Tell them to live within their means like the rest of us have to!
