Re: In the Matter of the Regulation of the Purchased Gas Adjustment Clause Contained Within the Rate Schedules of Duke Energy Ohio, Inc. and Related Matters
Case No. 10-218-GA-GCR

Dear Ms. Jenkins:

On January 26, 2011, Duke Energy Ohio filed the Affidavit from the Cincinnati Enquirer regarding the Proof of Publication in this case. The date that the legal notice was published was inadvertently omitted from the affidavit by the Cincinnati Enquirer.

Attached here is a copy of the actual newspaper page containing the legal notice dated January 5, 2011. As January 5, 2011 is well within the fifteen-day minimum notice before the hearing date of January 25, 2011, Duke Energy Ohio asks that the proof of publication filing be found in compliance with Rule 4901:1-14-08 (c) O.A.C. and accepted for filing.

Very truly yours,

Elizabeth H. Watts

Buoys on border canal to prevent drownings

By Bill Engel
Associated Press

COLUMBUS, Miss. — A government agency on the Mississippi River has begun installing floating buoys in a stretch of water along the U.S.-Mexico border where drownings have been common. The agency said the buoys will help prevent accidents by marking the area and warning boats. The buoys will be installed in a stretch of water about 10 miles long, between the towns of Osyka and Osyka, Miss. The area is known for its shallow water and strong currents.
