COMMENT DESCRIPTION:

I read on the internet about rate cuts for jobs and passing cost on to other consumers. Just how much money do you think the average ohioian has? We have already been hit with huge increases over the past few years. I think AEP makes plenty of profit based on earning statements. Maybe they should be eating some of the discount to bring more industry to Ohio which would mean they can sell more electric. They have some duty to help also and YOU have the responsibility to protect the consumer - ME - from unfair rate hikes and deals like this. You have let the public down lately and I will assume you will let us down on this sceme too because you want to please our govener instead of doinf what is right for the public like holding down electric rates for the people!!
