FILE

Lowery, Judy

From:	Leah Clark <mail@change.org></mail@change.org>	Case#
Sent:	Monday, July 16, 2012 8:39 PM
То:	Snitchler, Todd	//
Subject:	Spam: Don't make customers pay fo	or your mistakes!

11-346-EL-550

AEP executives, PUCO members, and Ohio Statehouse Officials,

I just signed the petition at Change.org/AEP, and I wanted to tell you directly how I feel.

* AEP executives Michael Morris, Nicholas Atkins, and Terri Flora: Don't submit the application requesting the PUCO to let you pass on "cleanup costs" of the recent storm to customers after making record profits of $1.9 billion last year. This would be greedy, deceptive and unfair - and it would make me want to do business with a different power company that I can trust and respect.

* PUCO Chairman and Commissioners: If AEP Ohio does apply, reject their application outright. Their failure to plan for sever weather is not their customers' fault or responsibility. It is, however, your responsibility to "assure Ohioans adequate, safe, and reliable public utility services at a fair price."

* Ohio Elected Officials: Use your oversight powers - the ones you were elected to use on behalf of constituents - to ensure the PUCO acts in the best interests of Ohioans and rejects the application. I'm watching to see what happens, and I'll remember in November.

The "cleanup costs" passed on to customers from 2004, 2008, and 2012 combined are less than 15% of AEP Ohio's profits for 2011 alone. Only bad business planning and practices could explain asking customers to bear the cleanup costs.

I don't expect anyone to change the weather, but I do expect you to prepare for it and respond accordingly - just like my family and I do when we know a storm is coming. AEP customers and your constituents won't stand for corporate greed disguised as disaster cleanup, and we won't let our Public Utilities Commission help you, and we won't forget about it if our elected officials fail to act in our interests.

Do the right thing - make AEP pay to clean up its own mess.

Leah Clark Canton, Ohio

-0	2012 JUL	RECEIVED-DOCKETING DIV
\subseteq	8	-20
00	PH	UKET
	£	ING
	N	VIG

Note: this email was sent as part of a petition started on Change.org, viewable at

http://www.change.org/petitions/aep-don-t-make-customers-pay-for-your-mistakes. To respond, click here

This is to certify that the images appearing are an accurate and complete reproduction of a case file document delivered in the regular course of business. Technician ______ Date Processed ______2

From:	Corey Konicki <mail@change.org></mail@change.org>
Sent:	Monday, July 16, 2012 8:43 PM
То:	Snitchler, Todd
Subject:	Spam: Don't make customers pay for your mistakes!

AEP executives, PUCO members, and Ohio Statehouse Officials,

I just signed the petition at Change.org/AEP, and I wanted to tell you directly how I feel.

* AEP executives Michael Morris, Nicholas Atkins, and Terri Flora: Don't submit the application requesting the PUCO to let you pass on "cleanup costs" of the recent storm to customers after making record profits of $1.9 billion last year. This would be greedy, deceptive and unfair - and it would make me want to do business with a different power company that I can trust and respect.

* PUCO Chairman and Commissioners: If AEP Ohio does apply, reject their application outright. Their failure to plan for sever weather is not their customers' fault or responsibility. It is, however, your responsibility to "assure Ohioans adequate, safe, and reliable public utility services at a fair price."

* Ohio Elected Officials: Use your oversight powers - the ones you were elected to use on behalf of constituents - to ensure the PUCO acts in the best interests of Ohioans and rejects the application. I'm watching to see what happens, and I'll remember in November.

The "cleanup costs" passed on to customers from 2004, 2008, and 2012 combined are less than 15% of AEP Ohio's profits for 2011 alone. Only bad business planning and practices could explain asking customers to bear the cleanup costs.

I don't expect anyone to change the weather, but I do expect you to prepare for it and respond accordingly - just like my family and I do when we know a storm is coming. AEP customers and your constituents won't stand for corporate greed disguised as disaster cleanup, and we won't let our Public Utilities Commission help you, and we won't forget about it if our elected officials fail to act in our interests.

Do the right thing - make AEP pay to clean up its own mess.

Corey Konicki Seven Hills, Ohio

Note: this email was sent as part of a petition started on Change.org, viewable at

http://www.change.org/petitions/aep-don-t-make-customers-pay-for-your-mistakes. To respond, click here

From:	Rosario Davis <mail@change.org></mail@change.org>
Sent:	Monday, July 16, 2012 8:48 PM
То:	Snitchler, Todd
Subject:	Spam: Don't make customers pay for your mistakes!

AEP executives, PUCO members, and Ohio Statehouse Officials,

I just signed the petition at Change.org/AEP, and I wanted to tell you directly how I feel.

* AEP executives Michael Morris, Nicholas Atkins, and Terri Flora: Don't submit the application requesting the PUCO to let you pass on "cleanup costs" of the recent storm to customers after making record profits of $1.9 billion last year. This would be greedy, deceptive and unfair - and it would make me want to do business with a different power company that I can trust and respect.

* PUCO Chairman and Commissioners: If AEP Ohio does apply, reject their application outright. Their failure to plan for sever weather is not their customers' fault or responsibility. It is, however, your responsibility to "assure Ohioans adequate, safe, and reliable public utility services at a fair price."

* Ohio Elected Officials: Use your oversight powers - the ones you were elected to use on behalf of constituents - to ensure the PUCO acts in the best interests of Ohioans and rejects the application. I'm watching to see what happens, and I'll remember in November.

The "cleanup costs" passed on to customers from 2004, 2008, and 2012 combined are less than 15% of AEP Ohio's profits for 2011 alone. Only bad business planning and practices could explain asking customers to bear the cleanup costs.

I don't expect anyone to change the weather, but I do expect you to prepare for it and respond accordingly - just like my family and I do when we know a storm is coming. AEP customers and your constituents won't stand for corporate greed disguised as disaster cleanup, and we won't let our Public Utilities Commission help you, and we won't forget about it if our elected officials fail to act in our interests.

Do the right thing - make AEP pay to clean up its own mess.

Rosario Davis Cincinnati, Ohio

Note: this email was sent as part of a petition started on Change.org, viewable at

http://www.change.org/petitions/aep-don-t-make-customers-pay-for-your-mistakes. To respond, click here

From:	Donna Joyce <mail@change.org></mail@change.org>
Sent:	Monday, July 16, 2012 8:49 PM
То:	Snitchler, Todd
Subject:	Spam: Don't make customers pay for your mistakes!

AEP executives, PUCO members, and Ohio Statehouse Officials,

I just signed the petition at Change.org/AEP, and I wanted to tell you directly how I feel.

* AEP executives Michael Morris, Nicholas Atkins, and Terri Flora: Don't submit the application requesting the PUCO to let you pass on "cleanup costs" of the recent storm to customers after making record profits of $1.9 billion last year. This would be greedy, deceptive and unfair - and it would make me want to do business with a different power company that I can trust and respect.

* PUCO Chairman and Commissioners: If AEP Ohio does apply, reject their application outright. Their failure to plan for sever weather is not their customers' fault or responsibility. It is, however, your responsibility to "assure Ohioans adequate, safe, and reliable public utility services at a fair price."

* Ohio Elected Officials: Use your oversight powers - the ones you were elected to use on behalf of constituents - to ensure the PUCO acts in the best interests of Ohioans and rejects the application. I'm watching to see what happens, and I'll remember in November.

The "cleanup costs" passed on to customers from 2004, 2008, and 2012 combined are less than 15% of AEP Ohio's profits for 2011 alone. Only bad business planning and practices could explain asking customers to bear the cleanup costs.

I don't expect anyone to change the weather, but I do expect you to prepare for it and respond accordingly - just like my family and I do when we know a storm is coming. AEP customers and your constituents won't stand for corporate greed disguised as disaster cleanup, and we won't let our Public Utilities Commission help you, and we won't forget about it if our elected officials fail to act in our interests.

Do the right thing - make AEP pay to clean up its own mess.

Donna Joyce Cana, Virginia

Note: this email was sent as part of a petition started on Change.org, viewable at

http://www.change.org/petitions/aep-don-t-make-customers-pay-for-your-mistakes. To respond, click here

From:	Mae Gates <mail@change.org></mail@change.org>
Sent:	Monday, July 16, 2012 8:52 PM
То:	Snitchler, Todd
Subject:	Spam: Don't make customers pay for your mistakes!

AEP executives, PUCO members, and Ohio Statehouse Officials,

I just signed the petition at Change.org/AEP, and I wanted to tell you directly how I feel.

* AEP executives Michael Morris, Nicholas Atkins, and Terri Flora: Don't submit the application requesting the PUCO to let you pass on "cleanup costs" of the recent storm to customers after making record profits of $1.9 billion last year. This would be greedy, deceptive and unfair - and it would make me want to do business with a different power company that I can trust and respect.

* PUCO Chairman and Commissioners: If AEP Ohio does apply, reject their application outright. Their failure to plan for sever weather is not their customers' fault or responsibility. It is, however, your responsibility to "assure Ohioans adequate, safe, and reliable public utility services at a fair price."

* Ohio Elected Officials: Use your oversight powers - the ones you were elected to use on behalf of constituents - to ensure the PUCO acts in the best interests of Ohioans and rejects the application. I'm watching to see what happens, and I'll remember in November.

The "cleanup costs" passed on to customers from 2004, 2008, and 2012 combined are less than 15% of AEP Ohio's profits for 2011 alone. Only bad business planning and practices could explain asking customers to bear the cleanup costs.

I don't expect anyone to change the weather, but I do expect you to prepare for it and respond accordingly - just like my family and I do when we know a storm is coming. AEP customers and your constituents won't stand for corporate greed disguised as disaster cleanup, and we won't let our Public Utilities Commission help you, and we won't forget about it if our elected officials fail to act in our interests.

Do the right thing - make AEP pay to clean up its own mess.

Mae Gates Cana, Virginia

Note: this email was sent as part of a petition started on Change.org, viewable at

http://www.change.org/petitions/aep-don-t-make-customers-pay-for-your-mistakes. To respond, click here

N

From:	Veronica Waller <mail@change.org></mail@change.org>
Sent:	Monday, July 16, 2012 8:58 PM
То:	Snitchler, Todd
Subject:	Spam: Don't make customers pay for your mistakes!

AEP executives, PUCO members, and Ohio Statehouse Officials,

I just signed the petition at Change.org/AEP, and I wanted to tell you directly how I feel.

* AEP executives Michael Morris, Nicholas Atkins, and Terri Flora: Don't submit the application requesting the PUCO to let you pass on "cleanup costs" of the recent storm to customers after making record profits of $1.9 billion last year. This would be greedy, deceptive and unfair - and it would make me want to do business with a different power company that I can trust and respect.

* PUCO Chairman and Commissioners: If AEP Ohio does apply, reject their application outright. Their failure to plan for sever weather is not their customers' fault or responsibility. It is, however, your responsibility to "assure Ohioans adequate, safe, and reliable public utility services at a fair price."

* Ohio Elected Officials: Use your oversight powers - the ones you were elected to use on behalf of constituents - to ensure the PUCO acts in the best interests of Ohioans and rejects the application. I'm watching to see what happens, and I'll remember in November.

The "cleanup costs" passed on to customers from 2004, 2008, and 2012 combined are less than 15% of AEP Ohio's profits for 2011 alone. Only bad business planning and practices could explain asking customers to bear the cleanup costs.

I don't expect anyone to change the weather, but I do expect you to prepare for it and respond accordingly - just like my family and I do when we know a storm is coming. AEP customers and your constituents won't stand for corporate greed disguised as disaster cleanup, and we won't let our Public Utilities Commission help you, and we won't forget about it if our elected officials fail to act in our interests.

Do the right thing - make AEP pay to clean up its own mess.

Veronica Waller Hillsville, Virginia

Note: this email was sent as part of a petition started on Change.org, viewable at

http://www.change.org/petitions/aep-don-t-make-customers-pay-for-your-mistakes. To respond, click here

From:	Dustin Weller <mail@change.org></mail@change.org>
Sent:	Monday, July 16, 2012 9:13 PM
То:	Snitchler, Todd
Subject:	Spam: Don't make customers pay for your mistakes!

AEP executives, PUCO members, and Ohio Statehouse Officials,

I just signed the petition at Change.org/AEP, and I wanted to tell you directly how I feel.

* AEP executives Michael Morris, Nicholas Atkins, and Terri Flora: Don't submit the application requesting the PUCO to let you pass on "cleanup costs" of the recent storm to customers after making record profits of $1.9 billion last year. This would be greedy, deceptive and unfair - and it would make me want to do business with a different power company that I can trust and respect.

* PUCO Chairman and Commissioners: If AEP Ohio does apply, reject their application outright. Their failure to plan for sever weather is not their customers' fault or responsibility. It is, however, your responsibility to "assure Ohioans adequate, safe, and reliable public utility services at a fair price."

* Ohio Elected Officials: Use your oversight powers - the ones you were elected to use on behalf of constituents - to ensure the PUCO acts in the best interests of Ohioans and rejects the application. I'm watching to see what happens, and I'll remember in November.

The "cleanup costs" passed on to customers from 2004, 2008, and 2012 combined are less than 15% of AEP Ohio's profits for 2011 alone. Only bad business planning and practices could explain asking customers to bear the cleanup costs.

I don't expect anyone to change the weather, but I do expect you to prepare for it and respond accordingly - just like my family and I do when we know a storm is coming. AEP customers and your constituents won't stand for corporate greed disguised as disaster cleanup, and we won't let our Public Utilities Commission help you, and we won't forget about it if our elected officials fail to act in our interests.

Do the right thing - make AEP pay to clean up its own mess.

Dustin Weller Columbus, Ohio

Note: this email was sent as part of a petition started on Change.org, viewable at

http://www.change.org/petitions/aep-don-t-make-customers-pay-for-your-mistakes. To respond, click here

X

From:	Carolyn Bailey <mail@change.org></mail@change.org>
Sent:	Monday, July 16, 2012 9:15 PM
То:	Snitchler, Todd
Subject:	Spam: Don't make customers pay for your mistakes!

AEP executives, PUCO members, and Ohio Statehouse Officials,

I just signed the petition at Change.org/AEP, and I wanted to tell you directly how I feel.

* AEP executives Michael Morris, Nicholas Atkins, and Terri Flora: Don't submit the application requesting the PUCO to let you pass on "cleanup costs" of the recent storm to customers after making record profits of $1.9 billion last year. This would be greedy, deceptive and unfair - and it would make me want to do business with a different power company that I can trust and respect.

* PUCO Chairman and Commissioners: If AEP Ohio does apply, reject their application outright. Their failure to plan for sever weather is not their customers' fault or responsibility. It is, however, your responsibility to "assure Ohioans adequate, safe, and reliable public utility services at a fair price."

* Ohio Elected Officials: Use your oversight powers - the ones you were elected to use on behalf of constituents - to ensure the PUCO acts in the best interests of Ohioans and rejects the application. I'm watching to see what happens, and I'll remember in November.

The "cleanup costs" passed on to customers from 2004, 2008, and 2012 combined are less than 15% of AEP Ohio's profits for 2011 alone. Only bad business planning and practices could explain asking customers to bear the cleanup costs.

I don't expect anyone to change the weather, but I do expect you to prepare for it and respond accordingly - just like my family and I do when we know a storm is coming. AEP customers and your constituents won't stand for corporate greed disguised as disaster cleanup, and we won't let our Public Utilities Commission help you, and we won't forget about it if our elected officials fail to act in our interests.

Do the right thing - make AEP pay to clean up its own mess.

Carolyn Bailey Harrisville, New Hampshire

Note: this email was sent as part of a petition started on Change.org, viewable at

http://www.change.org/petitions/aep-don-t-make-customers-pay-for-your-mistakes. To respond, click here

From:	Stephanie Lupo <mail@change.org></mail@change.org>
Sent:	Monday, July 16, 2012 9:16 PM
То:	Snitchler, Todd
Subject:	Spam: Don't make customers pay for your mistakes!

AEP executives, PUCO members, and Ohio Statehouse Officials,

I just signed the petition at Change.org/AEP, and I wanted to tell you directly how I feel.

* AEP executives Michael Morris, Nicholas Atkins, and Terri Flora: Don't submit the application requesting the PUCO to let you pass on "cleanup costs" of the recent storm to customers after making record profits of $1.9 billion last year. This would be greedy, deceptive and unfair - and it would make me want to do business with a different power company that I can trust and respect.

* PUCO Chairman and Commissioners: If AEP Ohio does apply, reject their application outright. Their failure to plan for sever weather is not their customers' fault or responsibility. It is, however, your responsibility to "assure Ohioans adequate, safe, and reliable public utility services at a fair price."

* Ohio Elected Officials: Use your oversight powers - the ones you were elected to use on behalf of constituents - to ensure the PUCO acts in the best interests of Ohioans and rejects the application. I'm watching to see what happens, and I'll remember in November.

The "cleanup costs" passed on to customers from 2004, 2008, and 2012 combined are less than 15% of AEP Ohio's profits for 2011 alone. Only bad business planning and practices could explain asking customers to bear the cleanup costs.

I don't expect anyone to change the weather, but I do expect you to prepare for it and respond accordingly - just like my family and I do when we know a storm is coming. AEP customers and your constituents won't stand for corporate greed disguised as disaster cleanup, and we won't let our Public Utilities Commission help you, and we won't forget about it if our elected officials fail to act in our interests.

Do the right thing - make AEP pay to clean up its own mess.

Stephanie Lupo Wickliffe, Ohio

Note: this email was sent as part of a petition started on Change.org, viewable at

http://www.change.org/petitions/aep-don-t-make-customers-pay-for-your-mistakes. To respond, click here

From:	Rochelle S <mail@change.org></mail@change.org>
Sent:	Monday, July 16, 2012 9:19 PM
То:	Snitchler, Todd
Subject:	Spam: Don't make customers pay for your mistakes!

AEP executives, PUCO members, and Ohio Statehouse Officials,

I just signed the petition at Change.org/AEP, and I wanted to tell you directly how I feel.

* AEP executives Michael Morris, Nicholas Atkins, and Terri Flora: Don't submit the application requesting the PUCO to let you pass on "cleanup costs" of the recent storm to customers after making record profits of $1.9 billion last year. This would be greedy, deceptive and unfair - and it would make me want to do business with a different power company that I can trust and respect.

* PUCO Chairman and Commissioners: If AEP Ohio does apply, reject their application outright. Their failure to plan for sever weather is not their customers' fault or responsibility. It is, however, your responsibility to "assure Ohioans adequate, safe, and reliable public utility services at a fair price."

* Ohio Elected Officials: Use your oversight powers - the ones you were elected to use on behalf of constituents - to ensure the PUCO acts in the best interests of Ohioans and rejects the application. I'm watching to see what happens, and I'll remember in November.

The "cleanup costs" passed on to customers from 2004, 2008, and 2012 combined are less than 15% of AEP Ohio's profits for 2011 alone. Only bad business planning and practices could explain asking customers to bear the cleanup costs.

I don't expect anyone to change the weather, but I do expect you to prepare for it and respond accordingly - just like my family and I do when we know a storm is coming. AEP customers and your constituents won't stand for corporate greed disguised as disaster cleanup, and we won't let our Public Utilities Commission help you, and we won't forget about it if our elected officials fail to act in our interests.

Do the right thing - make AEP pay to clean up its own mess.

Rochelle S university hts, Ohio

Note: this email was sent as part of a petition started on Change.org, viewable at

http://www.change.org/petitions/aep-don-t-make-customers-pay-for-your-mistakes. To respond, click here

From:	Cynthia Hudson <mail@change.org></mail@change.org>
Sent:	Monday, July 16, 2012 9:21 PM
То:	Snitchler, Todd
Subject:	Spam: Don't make customers pay for your mistakes!

AEP executives, PUCO members, and Ohio Statehouse Officials,

I just signed the petition at Change.org/AEP, and I wanted to tell you directly how I feel.

* AEP executives Michael Morris, Nicholas Atkins, and Terri Flora: Don't submit the application requesting the PUCO to let you pass on "cleanup costs" of the recent storm to customers after making record profits of $1.9 billion last year. This would be greedy, deceptive and unfair - and it would make me want to do business with a different power company that I can trust and respect.

* PUCO Chairman and Commissioners: If AEP Ohio does apply, reject their application outright. Their failure to plan for sever weather is not their customers' fault or responsibility. It is, however, your responsibility to "assure Ohioans adequate, safe, and reliable public utility services at a fair price."

* Ohio Elected Officials: Use your oversight powers - the ones you were elected to use on behalf of constituents - to ensure the PUCO acts in the best interests of Ohioans and rejects the application. I'm watching to see what happens, and I'll remember in November.

The "cleanup costs" passed on to customers from 2004, 2008, and 2012 combined are less than 15% of AEP Ohio's profits for 2011 alone. Only bad business planning and practices could explain asking customers to bear the cleanup costs.

I don't expect anyone to change the weather, but I do expect you to prepare for it and respond accordingly - just like my family and I do when we know a storm is coming. AEP customers and your constituents won't stand for corporate greed disguised as disaster cleanup, and we won't let our Public Utilities Commission help you, and we won't forget about it if our elected officials fail to act in our interests.

Do the right thing - make AEP pay to clean up its own mess.

Cynthia Hudson Columbus, Ohio

Note: this email was sent as part of a petition started on Change.org, viewable at

http://www.change.org/petitions/aep-don-t-make-customers-pay-for-your-mistakes. To respond, click here

From:	Greg Kirby <mail@change.org></mail@change.org>
Sent:	Monday, July 16, 2012 9:23 PM
То:	Snitchler, Todd
Subject:	Spam: Don't make customers pay for your mistakes!

AEP executives, PUCO members, and Ohio Statehouse Officials,

I just signed the petition at Change.org/AEP, and I wanted to tell you directly how I feel.

* AEP executives Michael Morris, Nicholas Atkins, and Terri Flora: Don't submit the application requesting the PUCO to let you pass on "cleanup costs" of the recent storm to customers after making record profits of $1.9 billion last year. This would be greedy, deceptive and unfair - and it would make me want to do business with a different power company that I can trust and respect.

* PUCO Chairman and Commissioners: If AEP Ohio does apply, reject their application outright. Their failure to plan for sever weather is not their customers' fault or responsibility. It is, however, your responsibility to "assure Ohioans adequate, safe, and reliable public utility services at a fair price."

* Ohio Elected Officials: Use your oversight powers - the ones you were elected to use on behalf of constituents - to ensure the PUCO acts in the best interests of Ohioans and rejects the application. I'm watching to see what happens, and I'll remember in November.

The "cleanup costs" passed on to customers from 2004, 2008, and 2012 combined are less than 15% of AEP Ohio's profits for 2011 alone. Only bad business planning and practices could explain asking customers to bear the cleanup costs.

I don't expect anyone to change the weather, but I do expect you to prepare for it and respond accordingly - just like my family and I do when we know a storm is coming. AEP customers and your constituents won't stand for corporate greed disguised as disaster cleanup, and we won't let our Public Utilities Commission help you, and we won't forget about it if our elected officials fail to act in our interests.

Do the right thing - make AEP pay to clean up its own mess.

Greg Kirby New Albany, Ohio

Note: this email was sent as part of a petition started on Change.org, viewable at

http://www.change.org/petitions/aep-don-t-make-customers-pay-for-your-mistakes. To respond, click here

From:	Mary Beth King <mail@change.org></mail@change.org>
Sent:	Monday, July 16, 2012 9:26 PM
То:	Snitchler, Todd
Subject:	Spam: Don't make customers pay for your mistakes!

AEP executives, PUCO members, and Ohio Statehouse Officials,

I just signed the petition at Change.org/AEP, and I wanted to tell you directly how I feel.

* AEP executives Michael Morris, Nicholas Atkins, and Terri Flora: Don't submit the application requesting the PUCO to let you pass on "cleanup costs" of the recent storm to customers after making record profits of $1.9 billion last year. This would be greedy, deceptive and unfair - and it would make me want to do business with a different power company that I can trust and respect.

* PUCO Chairman and Commissioners: If AEP Ohio does apply, reject their application outright. Their failure to plan for sever weather is not their customers' fault or responsibility. It is, however, your responsibility to "assure Ohioans adequate, safe, and reliable public utility services at a fair price."

* Ohio Elected Officials: Use your oversight powers - the ones you were elected to use on behalf of constituents - to ensure the PUCO acts in the best interests of Ohioans and rejects the application. I'm watching to see what happens, and I'll remember in November.

The "cleanup costs" passed on to customers from 2004, 2008, and 2012 combined are less than 15% of AEP Ohio's profits for 2011 alone. Only bad business planning and practices could explain asking customers to bear the cleanup costs.

I don't expect anyone to change the weather, but I do expect you to prepare for it and respond accordingly - just like my family and I do when we know a storm is coming. AEP customers and your constituents won't stand for corporate greed disguised as disaster cleanup, and we won't let our Public Utilities Commission help you, and we won't forget about it if our elected officials fail to act in our interests.

Do the right thing - make AEP pay to clean up its own mess.

Mary Beth King Cincinnati, Ohio

Note: this email was sent as part of a petition started on Change.org, viewable at

http://www.change.org/petitions/aep-don-t-make-customers-pay-for-your-mistakes. To respond, click here

From:	Jason Semones <mail@change.org></mail@change.org>
Sent:	Monday, July 16, 2012 9:26 PM
То:	Snitchler, Todd
Subject:	Spam: Don't make customers pay for your mistakes!

AEP executives, PUCO members, and Ohio Statehouse Officials,

I just signed the petition at Change.org/AEP, and I wanted to tell you directly how I feel.

* AEP executives Michael Morris, Nicholas Atkins, and Terri Flora: Don't submit the application requesting the PUCO to let you pass on "cleanup costs" of the recent storm to customers after making record profits of $1.9 billion last year. This would be greedy, deceptive and unfair - and it would make me want to do business with a different power company that I can trust and respect.

* PUCO Chairman and Commissioners: If AEP Ohio does apply, reject their application outright. Their failure to plan for sever weather is not their customers' fault or responsibility. It is, however, your responsibility to "assure Ohioans adequate, safe, and reliable public utility services at a fair price."

* Ohio Elected Officials: Use your oversight powers - the ones you were elected to use on behalf of constituents - to ensure the PUCO acts in the best interests of Ohioans and rejects the application. I'm watching to see what happens, and I'll remember in November.

The "cleanup costs" passed on to customers from 2004, 2008, and 2012 combined are less than 15% of AEP Ohio's profits for 2011 alone. Only bad business planning and practices could explain asking customers to bear the cleanup costs.

I don't expect anyone to change the weather, but I do expect you to prepare for it and respond accordingly - just like my family and I do when we know a storm is coming. AEP customers and your constituents won't stand for corporate greed disguised as disaster cleanup, and we won't let our Public Utilities Commission help you, and we won't forget about it if our elected officials fail to act in our interests.

Do the right thing - make AEP pay to clean up its own mess.

Jason Semones Cana, Virginia

Note: this email was sent as part of a petition started on Change.org, viewable at

http://www.change.org/petitions/aep-don-t-make-customers-pay-for-your-mistakes. To respond, click here

From:	Gretchen Zunic <mail@change.org></mail@change.org>
Sent:	Monday, July 16, 2012 9:31 PM
То:	Snitchler, Todd
Subject:	Spam: Don't make customers pay for your mistakes!

AEP executives, PUCO members, and Ohio Statehouse Officials,

I just signed the petition at Change.org/AEP, and I wanted to tell you directly how I feel.

* AEP executives Michael Morris, Nicholas Atkins, and Terri Flora: Don't submit the application requesting the PUCO to let you pass on "cleanup costs" of the recent storm to customers after making record profits of $1.9 billion last year. This would be greedy, deceptive and unfair - and it would make me want to do business with a different power company that I can trust and respect.

* PUCO Chairman and Commissioners: If AEP Ohio does apply, reject their application outright. Their failure to plan for sever weather is not their customers' fault or responsibility. It is, however, your responsibility to "assure Ohioans adequate, safe, and reliable public utility services at a fair price."

* Ohio Elected Officials: Use your oversight powers - the ones you were elected to use on behalf of constituents - to ensure the PUCO acts in the best interests of Ohioans and rejects the application. I'm watching to see what happens, and I'll remember in November.

The "cleanup costs" passed on to customers from 2004, 2008, and 2012 combined are less than 15% of AEP Ohio's profits for 2011 alone. Only bad business planning and practices could explain asking customers to bear the cleanup costs.

I don't expect anyone to change the weather, but I do expect you to prepare for it and respond accordingly - just like my family and I do when we know a storm is coming. AEP customers and your constituents won't stand for corporate greed disguised as disaster cleanup, and we won't let our Public Utilities Commission help you, and we won't forget about it if our elected officials fail to act in our interests.

Do the right thing - make AEP pay to clean up its own mess.

Gretchen Zunic Columbus, Ohio

Note: this email was sent as part of a petition started on Change.org, viewable at

http://www.change.org/petitions/aep-don-t-make-customers-pay-for-your-mistakes. To respond, click here

From:	Amie Vetter <mail@change.org></mail@change.org>
Sent:	Monday, July 16, 2012 9:38 PM
То:	Snitchler, Todd
Subject:	Spam: Don't make customers pay for your mistakes!

AEP executives, PUCO members, and Ohio Statehouse Officials,

I just signed the petition at Change.org/AEP, and I wanted to tell you directly how I feel.

* AEP executives Michael Morris, Nicholas Atkins, and Terri Flora: Don't submit the application requesting the PUCO to let you pass on "cleanup costs" of the recent storm to customers after making record profits of $1.9 billion last year. This would be greedy, deceptive and unfair - and it would make me want to do business with a different power company that I can trust and respect.

* PUCO Chairman and Commissioners: If AEP Ohio does apply, reject their application outright. Their failure to plan for sever weather is not their customers' fault or responsibility. It is, however, your responsibility to "assure Ohioans adequate, safe, and reliable public utility services at a fair price."

* Ohio Elected Officials: Use your oversight powers - the ones you were elected to use on behalf of constituents - to ensure the PUCO acts in the best interests of Ohioans and rejects the application. I'm watching to see what happens, and I'll remember in November.

The "cleanup costs" passed on to customers from 2004, 2008, and 2012 combined are less than 15% of AEP Ohio's profits for 2011 alone. Only bad business planning and practices could explain asking customers to bear the cleanup costs.

I don't expect anyone to change the weather, but I do expect you to prepare for it and respond accordingly - just like my family and I do when we know a storm is coming. AEP customers and your constituents won't stand for corporate greed disguised as disaster cleanup, and we won't let our Public Utilities Commission help you, and we won't forget about it if our elected officials fail to act in our interests.

Do the right thing - make AEP pay to clean up its own mess.

Amie Vetter Delaware, Ohio

Note: this email was sent as part of a petition started on Change.org, viewable at

http://www.change.org/petitions/aep-don-t-make-customers-pay-for-your-mistakes. To respond, click here

From:	Barbara Gibson <mail@change.org></mail@change.org>
Sent:	Monday, July 16, 2012 9:45 PM
То:	Snitchler, Todd
Subject:	Spam: Don't make customers pay for your mistakes!

AEP executives, PUCO members, and Ohio Statehouse Officials,

I just signed the petition at Change.org/AEP, and I wanted to tell you directly how I feel.

* AEP executives Michael Morris, Nicholas Atkins, and Terri Flora: Don't submit the application requesting the PUCO to let you pass on "cleanup costs" of the recent storm to customers after making record profits of $1.9 billion last year. This would be greedy, deceptive and unfair - and it would make me want to do business with a different power company that I can trust and respect.

* PUCO Chairman and Commissioners: If AEP Ohio does apply, reject their application outright. Their failure to plan for sever weather is not their customers' fault or responsibility. It is, however, your responsibility to "assure Ohioans adequate, safe, and reliable public utility services at a fair price."

* Ohio Elected Officials: Use your oversight powers - the ones you were elected to use on behalf of constituents - to ensure the PUCO acts in the best interests of Ohioans and rejects the application. I'm watching to see what happens, and I'll remember in November.

The "cleanup costs" passed on to customers from 2004, 2008, and 2012 combined are less than 15% of AEP Ohio's profits for 2011 alone. Only bad business planning and practices could explain asking customers to bear the cleanup costs.

I don't expect anyone to change the weather, but I do expect you to prepare for it and respond accordingly - just like my family and I do when we know a storm is coming. AEP customers and your constituents won't stand for corporate greed disguised as disaster cleanup, and we won't let our Public Utilities Commission help you, and we won't forget about it if our elected officials fail to act in our interests.

Do the right thing - make AEP pay to clean up its own mess.

Barbara Gibson Strasburg, Ohio

Note: this email was sent as part of a petition started on Change.org, viewable at

http://www.change.org/petitions/aep-don-t-make-customers-pay-for-your-mistakes. To respond, click here

From:	Joshua Dambik <mail@change.org></mail@change.org>
Sent:	Monday, July 16, 2012 9:50 PM
То:	Snitchler, Todd
Subject:	Spam: Don't make customers pay for your mistakes!

AEP executives, PUCO members, and Ohio Statehouse Officials,

I just signed the petition at Change.org/AEP, and I wanted to tell you directly how I feel.

* AEP executives Michael Morris, Nicholas Atkins, and Terri Flora: Don't submit the application requesting the PUCO to let you pass on "cleanup costs" of the recent storm to customers after making record profits of $1.9 billion last year. This would be greedy, deceptive and unfair - and it would make me want to do business with a different power company that I can trust and respect.

* PUCO Chairman and Commissioners: If AEP Ohio does apply, reject their application outright. Their failure to plan for sever weather is not their customers' fault or responsibility. It is, however, your responsibility to "assure Ohioans adequate, safe, and reliable public utility services at a fair price."

* Ohio Elected Officials: Use your oversight powers - the ones you were elected to use on behalf of constituents - to ensure the PUCO acts in the best interests of Ohioans and rejects the application. I'm watching to see what happens, and I'll remember in November.

The "cleanup costs" passed on to customers from 2004, 2008, and 2012 combined are less than 15% of AEP Ohio's profits for 2011 alone. Only bad business planning and practices could explain asking customers to bear the cleanup costs.

I don't expect anyone to change the weather, but I do expect you to prepare for it and respond accordingly - just like my family and I do when we know a storm is coming. AEP customers and your constituents won't stand for corporate greed disguised as disaster cleanup, and we won't let our Public Utilities Commission help you, and we won't forget about it if our elected officials fail to act in our interests.

Do the right thing - make AEP pay to clean up its own mess.

Joshua Dambik Warren, Ohio

Note: this email was sent as part of a petition started on Change.org, viewable at

http://www.change.org/petitions/aep-don-t-make-customers-pay-for-your-mistakes. To respond, click here

From:	Thomas Collins <mail@change.org></mail@change.org>
Sent:	Monday, July 16, 2012 9:59 PM
То:	Snitchler, Todd
Subject:	Spam: Don't make customers pay for your mistakes!

AEP executives, PUCO members, and Ohio Statehouse Officials,

I just signed the petition at Change.org/AEP, and I wanted to tell you directly how I feel.

* AEP executives Michael Morris, Nicholas Atkins, and Terri Flora: Don't submit the application requesting the PUCO to let you pass on "cleanup costs" of the recent storm to customers after making record profits of $1.9 billion last year. This would be greedy, deceptive and unfair - and it would make me want to do business with a different power company that I can trust and respect.

* PUCO Chairman and Commissioners: If AEP Ohio does apply, reject their application outright. Their failure to plan for sever weather is not their customers' fault or responsibility. It is, however, your responsibility to "assure Ohioans adequate, safe, and reliable public utility services at a fair price."

* Ohio Elected Officials: Use your oversight powers - the ones you were elected to use on behalf of constituents - to ensure the PUCO acts in the best interests of Ohioans and rejects the application. I'm watching to see what happens, and I'll remember in November.

The "cleanup costs" passed on to customers from 2004, 2008, and 2012 combined are less than 15% of AEP Ohio's profits for 2011 alone. Only bad business planning and practices could explain asking customers to bear the cleanup costs.

I don't expect anyone to change the weather, but I do expect you to prepare for it and respond accordingly - just like my family and I do when we know a storm is coming. AEP customers and your constituents won't stand for corporate greed disguised as disaster cleanup, and we won't let our Public Utilities Commission help you, and we won't forget about it if our elected officials fail to act in our interests.

Do the right thing - make AEP pay to clean up its own mess.

Thomas Collins Garrettsville, Ohio

Note: this email was sent as part of a petition started on Change.org, viewable at

http://www.change.org/petitions/aep-don-t-make-customers-pay-for-your-mistakes. To respond, click here

From:	Claire Fogarty <mail@change.org></mail@change.org>
Sent:	Monday, July 16, 2012 10:06 PM
То:	Snitchler, Todd
Subject:	Spam: Don't make customers pay for your mistakes!

AEP executives, PUCO members, and Ohio Statehouse Officials,

I just signed the petition at Change.org/AEP, and I wanted to tell you directly how I feel.

* AEP executives Michael Morris, Nicholas Atkins, and Terri Flora: Don't submit the application requesting the PUCO to let you pass on "cleanup costs" of the recent storm to customers after making record profits of $1.9 billion last year. This would be greedy, deceptive and unfair - and it would make me want to do business with a different power company that I can trust and respect.

* PUCO Chairman and Commissioners: If AEP Ohio does apply, reject their application outright. Their failure to plan for sever weather is not their customers' fault or responsibility. It is, however, your responsibility to "assure Ohioans adequate, safe, and reliable public utility services at a fair price."

* Ohio Elected Officials: Use your oversight powers - the ones you were elected to use on behalf of constituents - to ensure the PUCO acts in the best interests of Ohioans and rejects the application. I'm watching to see what happens, and I'll remember in November.

The "cleanup costs" passed on to customers from 2004, 2008, and 2012 combined are less than 15% of AEP Ohio's profits for 2011 alone. Only bad business planning and practices could explain asking customers to bear the cleanup costs.

I don't expect anyone to change the weather, but I do expect you to prepare for it and respond accordingly - just like my family and I do when we know a storm is coming. AEP customers and your constituents won't stand for corporate greed disguised as disaster cleanup, and we won't let our Public Utilities Commission help you, and we won't forget about it if our elected officials fail to act in our interests.

Do the right thing - make AEP pay to clean up its own mess.

Claire Fogarty Columbus, Ohio

Note: this email was sent as part of a petition started on Change.org, viewable at http://www.change.org/petitions/aep-don-t-make-customers-pay-for-your-mistakes. To respond, click here

From:	Sherry Kearns <mail@change.org></mail@change.org>
Sent:	Monday, July 16, 2012 10:20 PM
То:	Snitchler, Todd
Subject:	Spam: Don't make customers pay for your mistakes!

AEP executives, PUCO members, and Ohio Statehouse Officials,

I just signed the petition at Change.org/AEP, and I wanted to tell you directly how I feel.

* AEP executives Michael Morris, Nicholas Atkins, and Terri Flora: Don't submit the application requesting the PUCO to let you pass on "cleanup costs" of the recent storm to customers after making record profits of $1.9 billion last year. This would be greedy, deceptive and unfair - and it would make me want to do business with a different power company that I can trust and respect.

* PUCO Chairman and Commissioners: If AEP Ohio does apply, reject their application outright. Their failure to plan for sever weather is not their customers' fault or responsibility. It is, however, your responsibility to "assure Ohioans adequate, safe, and reliable public utility services at a fair price."

* Ohio Elected Officials: Use your oversight powers - the ones you were elected to use on behalf of constituents - to ensure the PUCO acts in the best interests of Ohioans and rejects the application. I'm watching to see what happens, and I'll remember in November.

The "cleanup costs" passed on to customers from 2004, 2008, and 2012 combined are less than 15% of AEP Ohio's profits for 2011 alone. Only bad business planning and practices could explain asking customers to bear the cleanup costs.

I don't expect anyone to change the weather, but I do expect you to prepare for it and respond accordingly - just like my family and I do when we know a storm is coming. AEP customers and your constituents won't stand for corporate greed disguised as disaster cleanup, and we won't let our Public Utilities Commission help you, and we won't forget about it if our elected officials fail to act in our interests.

Do the right thing - make AEP pay to clean up its own mess.

Sherry Kearns Portsmouth, Ohio

Note: this email was sent as part of a petition started on Change.org, viewable at

http://www.change.org/petitions/aep-don-t-make-customers-pay-for-your-mistakes. To respond, click here

From:	Mark Dal Pra <mail@change.org></mail@change.org>
Sent:	Monday, July 16, 2012 10:22 PM
То:	Snitchler, Todd
Subject:	Spam: Don't make customers pay for your mistakes!

AEP executives, PUCO members, and Ohio Statehouse Officials,

I just signed the petition at Change.org/AEP, and I wanted to tell you directly how I feel.

* AEP executives Michael Morris, Nicholas Atkins, and Terri Flora: Don't submit the application requesting the PUCO to let you pass on "cleanup costs" of the recent storm to customers after making record profits of $1.9 billion last year. This would be greedy, deceptive and unfair - and it would make me want to do business with a different power company that I can trust and respect.

* PUCO Chairman and Commissioners: If AEP Ohio does apply, reject their application outright. Their failure to plan for sever weather is not their customers' fault or responsibility. It is, however, your responsibility to "assure Ohioans adequate, safe, and reliable public utility services at a fair price."

* Ohio Elected Officials: Use your oversight powers - the ones you were elected to use on behalf of constituents - to ensure the PUCO acts in the best interests of Ohioans and rejects the application. I'm watching to see what happens, and I'll remember in November.

The "cleanup costs" passed on to customers from 2004, 2008, and 2012 combined are less than 15% of AEP Ohio's profits for 2011 alone. Only bad business planning and practices could explain asking customers to bear the cleanup costs.

I don't expect anyone to change the weather, but I do expect you to prepare for it and respond accordingly - just like my family and I do when we know a storm is coming. AEP customers and your constituents won't stand for corporate greed disguised as disaster cleanup, and we won't let our Public Utilities Commission help you, and we won't forget about it if our elected officials fail to act in our interests.

Do the right thing - make AEP pay to clean up its own mess.

Mark Dal Pra Dalton, Ohio

Note: this email was sent as part of a petition started on Change.org, viewable at

http://www.change.org/petitions/aep-don-t-make-customers-pay-for-your-mistakes. To respond, click here

X

From:	Gifford Doxsee <mail@change.org></mail@change.org>
Sent:	Monday, July 16, 2012 10:23 PM
То:	Snitchler, Todd
Subject:	Spam: Don't make customers pay for your mistakes!

AEP executives, PUCO members, and Ohio Statehouse Officials,

I just signed the petition at Change.org/AEP, and I wanted to tell you directly how I feel.

* AEP executives Michael Morris, Nicholas Atkins, and Terri Flora: Don't submit the application requesting the PUCO to let you pass on "cleanup costs" of the recent storm to customers after making record profits of $1.9 billion last year. This would be greedy, deceptive and unfair - and it would make me want to do business with a different power company that I can trust and respect.

* PUCO Chairman and Commissioners: If AEP Ohio does apply, reject their application outright. Their failure to plan for sever weather is not their customers' fault or responsibility. It is, however, your responsibility to "assure Ohioans adequate, safe, and reliable public utility services at a fair price."

* Ohio Elected Officials: Use your oversight powers - the ones you were elected to use on behalf of constituents - to ensure the PUCO acts in the best interests of Ohioans and rejects the application. I'm watching to see what happens, and I'll remember in November.

The "cleanup costs" passed on to customers from 2004, 2008, and 2012 combined are less than 15% of AEP Ohio's profits for 2011 alone. Only bad business planning and practices could explain asking customers to bear the cleanup costs.

I don't expect anyone to change the weather, but I do expect you to prepare for it and respond accordingly - just like my family and I do when we know a storm is coming. AEP customers and your constituents won't stand for corporate greed disguised as disaster cleanup, and we won't let our Public Utilities Commission help you, and we won't forget about it if our elected officials fail to act in our interests.

Do the right thing - make AEP pay to clean up its own mess.

Gifford Doxsee Athens, Ohio

Note: this email was sent as part of a petition started on Change.org, viewable at

http://www.change.org/petitions/aep-don-t-make-customers-pay-for-your-mistakes. To respond, click here

From:	eleanor phillips <mail@change.org></mail@change.org>
Sent:	Monday, July 16, 2012 10:28 PM
То:	Snitchler, Todd
Subject:	Spam: Don't make customers pay for your mistakes!

AEP executives, PUCO members, and Ohio Statehouse Officials,

I just signed the petition at Change.org/AEP, and I wanted to tell you directly how I feel.

* AEP executives Michael Morris, Nicholas Atkins, and Terri Flora: Don't submit the application requesting the PUCO to let you pass on "cleanup costs" of the recent storm to customers after making record profits of $1.9 billion last year. This would be greedy, deceptive and unfair - and it would make me want to do business with a different power company that I can trust and respect.

* PUCO Chairman and Commissioners: If AEP Ohio does apply, reject their application outright. Their failure to plan for sever weather is not their customers' fault or responsibility. It is, however, your responsibility to "assure Ohioans adequate, safe, and reliable public utility services at a fair price."

* Ohio Elected Officials: Use your oversight powers - the ones you were elected to use on behalf of constituents - to ensure the PUCO acts in the best interests of Ohioans and rejects the application. I'm watching to see what happens, and I'll remember in November.

The "cleanup costs" passed on to customers from 2004, 2008, and 2012 combined are less than 15% of AEP Ohio's profits for 2011 alone. Only bad business planning and practices could explain asking customers to bear the cleanup costs.

I don't expect anyone to change the weather, but I do expect you to prepare for it and respond accordingly - just like my family and I do when we know a storm is coming. AEP customers and your constituents won't stand for corporate greed disguised as disaster cleanup, and we won't let our Public Utilities Commission help you, and we won't forget about it if our elected officials fail to act in our interests.

Do the right thing - make AEP pay to clean up its own mess.

eleanor phillips new waterford,, Ohio

Note: this email was sent as part of a petition started on Change.org, viewable at

http://www.change.org/petitions/aep-don-t-make-customers-pay-for-your-mistakes. To respond, click here

N

From:	Keith Zanone <mail@change.org></mail@change.org>
Sent:	Monday, July 16, 2012 10:32 PM
То:	Snitchler, Todd
Subject:	Spam: Don't make customers pay for your mistakes!

AEP executives, PUCO members, and Ohio Statehouse Officials,

I just signed the petition at Change.org/AEP, and I wanted to tell you directly how I feel.

* AEP executives Michael Morris, Nicholas Atkins, and Terri Flora: Don't submit the application requesting the PUCO to let you pass on "cleanup costs" of the recent storm to customers after making record profits of $1.9 billion last year. This would be greedy, deceptive and unfair - and it would make me want to do business with a different power company that I can trust and respect.

* PUCO Chairman and Commissioners: If AEP Ohio does apply, reject their application outright. Their failure to plan for sever weather is not their customers' fault or responsibility. It is, however, your responsibility to "assure Ohioans adequate, safe, and reliable public utility services at a fair price."

* Ohio Elected Officials: Use your oversight powers - the ones you were elected to use on behalf of constituents - to ensure the PUCO acts in the best interests of Ohioans and rejects the application. I'm watching to see what happens, and I'll remember in November.

The "cleanup costs" passed on to customers from 2004, 2008, and 2012 combined are less than 15% of AEP Ohio's profits for 2011 alone. Only bad business planning and practices could explain asking customers to bear the cleanup costs.

I don't expect anyone to change the weather, but I do expect you to prepare for it and respond accordingly - just like my family and I do when we know a storm is coming. AEP customers and your constituents won't stand for corporate greed disguised as disaster cleanup, and we won't let our Public Utilities Commission help you, and we won't forget about it if our elected officials fail to act in our interests.

Do the right thing - make AEP pay to clean up its own mess.

Keith Zanone Wooster, Ohio

Note: this email was sent as part of a petition started on Change.org, viewable at

http://www.change.org/petitions/aep-don-t-make-customers-pay-for-your-mistakes. To respond, click here

From:	janet carleton <mail@change.org></mail@change.org>
Sent:	Monday, July 16, 2012 10:33 PM
То:	Snitchler, Todd
Subject:	Spam: Don't make customers pay for your mistakes!

AEP executives, PUCO members, and Ohio Statehouse Officials,

I just signed the petition at Change.org/AEP, and I wanted to tell you directly how I feel.

* AEP executives Michael Morris, Nicholas Atkins, and Terri Flora: Don't submit the application requesting the PUCO to let you pass on "cleanup costs" of the recent storm to customers after making record profits of $1.9 billion last year. This would be greedy, deceptive and unfair - and it would make me want to do business with a different power company that I can trust and respect.

* PUCO Chairman and Commissioners: If AEP Ohio does apply, reject their application outright. Their failure to plan for sever weather is not their customers' fault or responsibility. It is, however, your responsibility to "assure Ohioans adequate, safe, and reliable public utility services at a fair price."

* Ohio Elected Officials: Use your oversight powers - the ones you were elected to use on behalf of constituents - to ensure the PUCO acts in the best interests of Ohioans and rejects the application. I'm watching to see what happens, and I'll remember in November.

The "cleanup costs" passed on to customers from 2004, 2008, and 2012 combined are less than 15% of AEP Ohio's profits for 2011 alone. Only bad business planning and practices could explain asking customers to bear the cleanup costs.

I don't expect anyone to change the weather, but I do expect you to prepare for it and respond accordingly - just like my family and I do when we know a storm is coming. AEP customers and your constituents won't stand for corporate greed disguised as disaster cleanup, and we won't let our Public Utilities Commission help you, and we won't forget about it if our elected officials fail to act in our interests.

Do the right thing - make AEP pay to clean up its own mess.

janet carleton athens, Ohio

Note: this email was sent as part of a petition started on Change.org, viewable at

http://www.change.org/petitions/aep-don-t-make-customers-pay-for-your-mistakes. To respond, click here

N

From:	Matt Caddy <mail@change.org></mail@change.org>
Sent:	Monday, July 16, 2012 10:34 PM
То:	Snitchler, Todd
Subject:	Spam: Don't make customers pay for your mistakes!

AEP executives, PUCO members, and Ohio Statehouse Officials,

I just signed the petition at Change.org/AEP, and I wanted to tell you directly how I feel.

* AEP executives Michael Morris, Nicholas Atkins, and Terri Flora: Don't submit the application requesting the PUCO to let you pass on "cleanup costs" of the recent storm to customers after making record profits of $1.9 billion last year. This would be greedy, deceptive and unfair - and it would make me want to do business with a different power company that I can trust and respect.

* PUCO Chairman and Commissioners: If AEP Ohio does apply, reject their application outright. Their failure to plan for sever weather is not their customers' fault or responsibility. It is, however, your responsibility to "assure Ohioans adequate, safe, and reliable public utility services at a fair price."

* Ohio Elected Officials: Use your oversight powers - the ones you were elected to use on behalf of constituents - to ensure the PUCO acts in the best interests of Ohioans and rejects the application. I'm watching to see what happens, and I'll remember in November.

The "cleanup costs" passed on to customers from 2004, 2008, and 2012 combined are less than 15% of AEP Ohio's profits for 2011 alone. Only bad business planning and practices could explain asking customers to bear the cleanup costs.

I don't expect anyone to change the weather, but I do expect you to prepare for it and respond accordingly - just like my family and I do when we know a storm is coming. AEP customers and your constituents won't stand for corporate greed disguised as disaster cleanup, and we won't let our Public Utilities Commission help you, and we won't forget about it if our elected officials fail to act in our interests.

Do the right thing - make AEP pay to clean up its own mess.

Matt Caddy Dayton, Ohio

Note: this email was sent as part of a petition started on Change.org, viewable at

http://www.change.org/petitions/aep-don-t-make-customers-pay-for-your-mistakes. To respond, click here

X

From:	Heather Hardin <mail@change.org></mail@change.org>
Sent:	Monday, July 16, 2012 10:37 PM
То:	Snitchler, Todd
Subject:	Spam: Don't make customers pay for your mistakes!

AEP executives, PUCO members, and Ohio Statehouse Officials,

I just signed the petition at Change.org/AEP, and I wanted to tell you directly how I feel.

* AEP executives Michael Morris, Nicholas Atkins, and Terri Flora: Don't submit the application requesting the PUCO to let you pass on "cleanup costs" of the recent storm to customers after making record profits of $1.9 billion last year. This would be greedy, deceptive and unfair - and it would make me want to do business with a different power company that I can trust and respect.

* PUCO Chairman and Commissioners: If AEP Ohio does apply, reject their application outright. Their failure to plan for sever weather is not their customers' fault or responsibility. It is, however, your responsibility to "assure Ohioans adequate, safe, and reliable public utility services at a fair price."

* Ohio Elected Officials: Use your oversight powers - the ones you were elected to use on behalf of constituents - to ensure the PUCO acts in the best interests of Ohioans and rejects the application. I'm watching to see what happens, and I'll remember in November.

The "cleanup costs" passed on to customers from 2004, 2008, and 2012 combined are less than 15% of AEP Ohio's profits for 2011 alone. Only bad business planning and practices could explain asking customers to bear the cleanup costs.

I don't expect anyone to change the weather, but I do expect you to prepare for it and respond accordingly - just like my family and I do when we know a storm is coming. AEP customers and your constituents won't stand for corporate greed disguised as disaster cleanup, and we won't let our Public Utilities Commission help you, and we won't forget about it if our elected officials fail to act in our interests.

Do the right thing - make AEP pay to clean up its own mess.

Heather Hardin Columbus, Ohio

Note: this email was sent as part of a petition started on Change.org, viewable at

http://www.change.org/petitions/aep-don-t-make-customers-pay-for-your-mistakes. To respond, click here

X

From:	Amber Guildoo <mail@change.org></mail@change.org>
Sent:	Monday, July 16, 2012 10:52 PM
То:	Snitchler, Todd
Subject:	Spam: Don't make customers pay for your mistakes!

AEP executives, PUCO members, and Ohio Statehouse Officials,

I just signed the petition at Change.org/AEP, and I wanted to tell you directly how I feel.

* AEP executives Michael Morris, Nicholas Atkins, and Terri Flora: Don't submit the application requesting the PUCO to let you pass on "cleanup costs" of the recent storm to customers after making record profits of $1.9 billion last year. This would be greedy, deceptive and unfair - and it would make me want to do business with a different power company that I can trust and respect.

* PUCO Chairman and Commissioners: If AEP Ohio does apply, reject their application outright. Their failure to plan for sever weather is not their customers' fault or responsibility. It is, however, your responsibility to "assure Ohioans adequate, safe, and reliable public utility services at a fair price."

* Ohio Elected Officials: Use your oversight powers - the ones you were elected to use on behalf of constituents - to ensure the PUCO acts in the best interests of Ohioans and rejects the application. I'm watching to see what happens, and I'll remember in November.

The "cleanup costs" passed on to customers from 2004, 2008, and 2012 combined are less than 15% of AEP Ohio's profits for 2011 alone. Only bad business planning and practices could explain asking customers to bear the cleanup costs.

I don't expect anyone to change the weather, but I do expect you to prepare for it and respond accordingly - just like my family and I do when we know a storm is coming. AEP customers and your constituents won't stand for corporate greed disguised as disaster cleanup, and we won't let our Public Utilities Commission help you, and we won't forget about it if our elected officials fail to act in our interests.

Do the right thing - make AEP pay to clean up its own mess.

Amber Guildoo Columbus, Ohio

Note: this email was sent as part of a petition started on Change.org, viewable at

http://www.change.org/petitions/aep-don-t-make-customers-pay-for-your-mistakes. To respond, click here

From;	Kathleen Thornton <mail@change.org></mail@change.org>
Sent:	Monday, July 16, 2012 11:00 PM
То:	Snitchler, Todd
Subject:	Spam: Don't make customers pay for your mistakes!

AEP executives, PUCO members, and Ohio Statehouse Officials,

I just signed the petition at Change.org/AEP, and I wanted to tell you directly how I feel.

* AEP executives Michael Morris, Nicholas Atkins, and Terri Flora: Don't submit the application requesting the PUCO to let you pass on "cleanup costs" of the recent storm to customers after making record profits of $1.9 billion last year. This would be greedy, deceptive and unfair - and it would make me want to do business with a different power company that I can trust and respect.

* PUCO Chairman and Commissioners: If AEP Ohio does apply, reject their application outright. Their failure to plan for sever weather is not their customers' fault or responsibility. It is, however, your responsibility to "assure Ohioans adequate, safe, and reliable public utility services at a fair price."

* Ohio Elected Officials: Use your oversight powers - the ones you were elected to use on behalf of constituents - to ensure the PUCO acts in the best interests of Ohioans and rejects the application. I'm watching to see what happens, and I'll remember in November.

The "cleanup costs" passed on to customers from 2004, 2008, and 2012 combined are less than 15% of AEP Ohio's profits for 2011 alone. Only bad business planning and practices could explain asking customers to bear the cleanup costs.

I don't expect anyone to change the weather, but I do expect you to prepare for it and respond accordingly - just like my family and I do when we know a storm is coming. AEP customers and your constituents won't stand for corporate greed disguised as disaster cleanup, and we won't let our Public Utilities Commission help you, and we won't forget about it if our elected officials fail to act in our interests.

Do the right thing - make AEP pay to clean up its own mess.

Kathleen Thornton Newark, Ohio

Note: this email was sent as part of a petition started on Change.org, viewable at

http://www.change.org/petitions/aep-don-t-make-customers-pay-for-your-mistakes. To respond, click here

From:	shannon shortridge <mail@change.org></mail@change.org>
Sent:	Monday, July 16, 2012 11:01 PM
То:	Snitchler, Todd
Subject:	Spam: Don't make customers pay for your mistakes!

AEP executives, PUCO members, and Ohio Statehouse Officials,

I just signed the petition at Change.org/AEP, and I wanted to tell you directly how I feel.

* AEP executives Michael Morris, Nicholas Atkins, and Terri Flora: Don't submit the application requesting the PUCO to let you pass on "cleanup costs" of the recent storm to customers after making record profits of $1.9 billion last year. This would be greedy, deceptive and unfair - and it would make me want to do business with a different power company that I can trust and respect.

* PUCO Chairman and Commissioners: If AEP Ohio does apply, reject their application outright. Their failure to plan for sever weather is not their customers' fault or responsibility. It is, however, your responsibility to "assure Ohioans adequate, safe, and reliable public utility services at a fair price."

* Ohio Elected Officials: Use your oversight powers - the ones you were elected to use on behalf of constituents - to ensure the PUCO acts in the best interests of Ohioans and rejects the application. I'm watching to see what happens, and I'll remember in November.

The "cleanup costs" passed on to customers from 2004, 2008, and 2012 combined are less than 15% of AEP Ohio's profits for 2011 alone. Only bad business planning and practices could explain asking customers to bear the cleanup costs.

I don't expect anyone to change the weather, but I do expect you to prepare for it and respond accordingly - just like my family and I do when we know a storm is coming. AEP customers and your constituents won't stand for corporate greed disguised as disaster cleanup, and we won't let our Public Utilities Commission help you, and we won't forget about it if our elected officials fail to act in our interests.

Do the right thing - make AEP pay to clean up its own mess.

I am a paying customer thats why

shannon shortridge Columbus, Ohio

Note: this email was sent as part of a petition started on Change.org, viewable at

http://www.change.org/petitions/aep-don-t-make-customers-pay-for-your-mistakes. To respond, click here

From:	Charles Oney <mail@change.org></mail@change.org>
Sent:	Monday, July 16, 2012 11:18 PM
То:	Snitchler, Todd
Subject:	Spam: Don't make customers pay for your mistakes!

AEP executives, PUCO members, and Ohio Statehouse Officials,

I just signed the petition at Change.org/AEP, and I wanted to tell you directly how I feel.

* AEP executives Michael Morris, Nicholas Atkins, and Terri Flora: Don't submit the application requesting the PUCO to let you pass on "cleanup costs" of the recent storm to customers after making record profits of $1.9 billion last year. This would be greedy, deceptive and unfair - and it would make me want to do business with a different power company that I can trust and respect.

* PUCO Chairman and Commissioners: If AEP Ohio does apply, reject their application outright. Their failure to plan for sever weather is not their customers' fault or responsibility. It is, however, your responsibility to "assure Ohioans adequate, safe, and reliable public utility services at a fair price."

* Ohio Elected Officials: Use your oversight powers - the ones you were elected to use on behalf of constituents - to ensure the PUCO acts in the best interests of Ohioans and rejects the application. I'm watching to see what happens, and I'll remember in November.

The "cleanup costs" passed on to customers from 2004, 2008, and 2012 combined are less than 15% of AEP Ohio's profits for 2011 alone. Only bad business planning and practices could explain asking customers to bear the cleanup costs.

I don't expect anyone to change the weather, but I do expect you to prepare for it and respond accordingly - just like my family and I do when we know a storm is coming. AEP customers and your constituents won't stand for corporate greed disguised as disaster cleanup, and we won't let our Public Utilities Commission help you, and we won't forget about it if our elected officials fail to act in our interests.

Do the right thing - make AEP pay to clean up its own mess.

Becuz it's BS..get insurance!

Charles Oney

Note: this email was sent as part of a petition started on Change.org, viewable at

http://www.change.org/petitions/aep-don-t-make-customers-pay-for-your-mistakes. To respond, click here

From:	EMALINE R MC KEAVER <mail@change.org></mail@change.org>
Sent:	Monday, July 16, 2012 11:20 PM
То:	Snitchler, Todd
Subject:	Spam: Don't make customers pay for your mistakes!

AEP executives, PUCO members, and Ohio Statehouse Officials,

I just signed the petition at Change.org/AEP, and I wanted to tell you directly how I feel.

* AEP executives Michael Morris, Nicholas Atkins, and Terri Flora: Don't submit the application requesting the PUCO to let you pass on "cleanup costs" of the recent storm to customers after making record profits of $1.9 billion last year. This would be greedy, deceptive and unfair - and it would make me want to do business with a different power company that I can trust and respect.

* PUCO Chairman and Commissioners: If AEP Ohio does apply, reject their application outright. Their failure to plan for sever weather is not their customers' fault or responsibility. It is, however, your responsibility to "assure Ohioans adequate, safe, and reliable public utility services at a fair price."

* Ohio Elected Officials: Use your oversight powers - the ones you were elected to use on behalf of constituents - to ensure the PUCO acts in the best interests of Ohioans and rejects the application. I'm watching to see what happens, and I'll remember in November.

The "cleanup costs" passed on to customers from 2004, 2008, and 2012 combined are less than 15% of AEP Ohio's profits for 2011 alone. Only bad business planning and practices could explain asking customers to bear the cleanup costs.

I don't expect anyone to change the weather, but I do expect you to prepare for it and respond accordingly - just like my family and I do when we know a storm is coming. AEP customers and your constituents won't stand for corporate greed disguised as disaster cleanup, and we won't let our Public Utilities Commission help you, and we won't forget about it if our elected officials fail to act in our interests.

Do the right thing - make AEP pay to clean up its own mess.

EMALINE R MC KEAVER CANTON, Ohio

Note: this email was sent as part of a petition started on Change.org, viewable at

http://www.change.org/petitions/aep-don-t-make-customers-pay-for-your-mistakes. To respond, click here

X

From:	Kayla Stanziano <mail@change.org></mail@change.org>
Sent:	Monday, July 16, 2012 11:27 PM
То:	Snitchler, Todd
Subject:	Spam: Don't make customers pay for your mistakes!

AEP executives, PUCO members, and Ohio Statehouse Officials,

I just signed the petition at Change.org/AEP, and I wanted to tell you directly how I feel.

* AEP executives Michael Morris, Nicholas Atkins, and Terri Flora: Don't submit the application requesting the PUCO to let you pass on "cleanup costs" of the recent storm to customers after making record profits of $1.9 billion last year. This would be greedy, deceptive and unfair - and it would make me want to do business with a different power company that I can trust and respect.

* PUCO Chairman and Commissioners: If AEP Ohio does apply, reject their application outright. Their failure to plan for sever weather is not their customers' fault or responsibility. It is, however, your responsibility to "assure Ohioans adequate, safe, and reliable public utility services at a fair price."

* Ohio Elected Officials: Use your oversight powers - the ones you were elected to use on behalf of constituents - to ensure the PUCO acts in the best interests of Ohioans and rejects the application. I'm watching to see what happens, and I'll remember in November.

The "cleanup costs" passed on to customers from 2004, 2008, and 2012 combined are less than 15% of AEP Ohio's profits for 2011 alone. Only bad business planning and practices could explain asking customers to bear the cleanup costs.

I don't expect anyone to change the weather, but I do expect you to prepare for it and respond accordingly - just like my family and I do when we know a storm is coming. AEP customers and your constituents won't stand for corporate greed disguised as disaster cleanup, and we won't let our Public Utilities Commission help you, and we won't forget about it if our elected officials fail to act in our interests.

Do the right thing - make AEP pay to clean up its own mess.

Kayla Stanziano Oberlin, Ohio

Note: this email was sent as part of a petition started on Change.org, viewable at

http://www.change.org/petitions/aep-don-t-make-customers-pay-for-your-mistakes. To respond, click here

From:	Maryann Garber <mail@change.org></mail@change.org>
Sent:	Monday, July 16, 2012 11:42 PM
То:	Snitchler, Todd
Subject:	Spam: Don't make customers pay for your mistakes!

AEP executives, PUCO members, and Ohio Statehouse Officials,

I just signed the petition at Change.org/AEP, and I wanted to tell you directly how I feel.

* AEP executives Michael Morris, Nicholas Atkins, and Terri Flora: Don't submit the application requesting the PUCO to let you pass on "cleanup costs" of the recent storm to customers after making record profits of $1.9 billion last year. This would be greedy, deceptive and unfair - and it would make me want to do business with a different power company that I can trust and respect.

* PUCO Chairman and Commissioners: If AEP Ohio does apply, reject their application outright. Their failure to plan for sever weather is not their customers' fault or responsibility. It is, however, your responsibility to "assure Ohioans adequate, safe, and reliable public utility services at a fair price."

* Ohio Elected Officials: Use your oversight powers - the ones you were elected to use on behalf of constituents - to ensure the PUCO acts in the best interests of Ohioans and rejects the application. I'm watching to see what happens, and I'll remember in November.

The "cleanup costs" passed on to customers from 2004, 2008, and 2012 combined are less than 15% of AEP Ohio's profits for 2011 alone. Only bad business planning and practices could explain asking customers to bear the cleanup costs.

I don't expect anyone to change the weather, but I do expect you to prepare for it and respond accordingly - just like my family and I do when we know a storm is coming. AEP customers and your constituents won't stand for corporate greed disguised as disaster cleanup, and we won't let our Public Utilities Commission help you, and we won't forget about it if our elected officials fail to act in our interests.

Do the right thing - make AEP pay to clean up its own mess.

Maryann Garber

,

Note: this email was sent as part of a petition started on Change.org, viewable at

http://www.change.org/petitions/aep-don-t-make-customers-pay-for-your-mistakes. To respond, click here

From:	Alexandra Still <mail@change.org></mail@change.org>
Sent:	Monday, July 16, 2012 11:50 PM
То:	Snitchler, Todd
Subject:	Spam: Don't make customers pay for your mistakes!

AEP executives, PUCO members, and Ohio Statehouse Officials,

I just signed the petition at Change.org/AEP, and I wanted to tell you directly how I feel.

* AEP executives Michael Morris, Nicholas Atkins, and Terri Flora: Don't submit the application requesting the PUCO to let you pass on "cleanup costs" of the recent storm to customers after making record profits of $1.9 billion last year. This would be greedy, deceptive and unfair - and it would make me want to do business with a different power company that I can trust and respect.

* PUCO Chairman and Commissioners: If AEP Ohio does apply, reject their application outright. Their failure to plan for sever weather is not their customers' fault or responsibility. It is, however, your responsibility to "assure Ohioans adequate, safe, and reliable public utility services at a fair price."

* Ohio Elected Officials: Use your oversight powers - the ones you were elected to use on behalf of constituents - to ensure the PUCO acts in the best interests of Ohioans and rejects the application. I'm watching to see what happens, and I'll remember in November.

The "cleanup costs" passed on to customers from 2004, 2008, and 2012 combined are less than 15% of AEP Ohio's profits for 2011 alone. Only bad business planning and practices could explain asking customers to bear the cleanup costs.

I don't expect anyone to change the weather, but I do expect you to prepare for it and respond accordingly - just like my family and I do when we know a storm is coming. AEP customers and your constituents won't stand for corporate greed disguised as disaster cleanup, and we won't let our Public Utilities Commission help you, and we won't forget about it if our elected officials fail to act in our interests.

Do the right thing - make AEP pay to clean up its own mess.

Alexandra Still Oberlin, Ohio

Note: this email was sent as part of a petition started on Change.org, viewable at

http://www.change.org/petitions/aep-don-t-make-customers-pay-for-your-mistakes. To respond, click here

X

From:	Marielle Cedeno <mail@change.org></mail@change.org>
Sent:	Monday, July 16, 2012 11:53 PM
То:	Snitchler, Todd
Subject:	Spam: Don't make customers pay for your mistakes!

AEP executives, PUCO members, and Ohio Statehouse Officials,

I just signed the petition at Change.org/AEP, and I wanted to tell you directly how I feel.

* AEP executives Michael Morris, Nicholas Atkins, and Terri Flora: Don't submit the application requesting the PUCO to let you pass on "cleanup costs" of the recent storm to customers after making record profits of $1.9 billion last year. This would be greedy, deceptive and unfair - and it would make me want to do business with a different power company that I can trust and respect.

* PUCO Chairman and Commissioners: If AEP Ohio does apply, reject their application outright. Their failure to plan for sever weather is not their customers' fault or responsibility. It is, however, your responsibility to "assure Ohioans adequate, safe, and reliable public utility services at a fair price."

* Ohio Elected Officials: Use your oversight powers - the ones you were elected to use on behalf of constituents - to ensure the PUCO acts in the best interests of Ohioans and rejects the application. I'm watching to see what happens, and I'll remember in November.

The "cleanup costs" passed on to customers from 2004, 2008, and 2012 combined are less than 15% of AEP Ohio's profits for 2011 alone. Only bad business planning and practices could explain asking customers to bear the cleanup costs.

I don't expect anyone to change the weather, but I do expect you to prepare for it and respond accordingly - just like my family and I do when we know a storm is coming. AEP customers and your constituents won't stand for corporate greed disguised as disaster cleanup, and we won't let our Public Utilities Commission help you, and we won't forget about it if our elected officials fail to act in our interests.

Do the right thing - make AEP pay to clean up its own mess.

Marielle Cedeno Cudahy, California

Note: this email was sent as part of a petition started on Change.org, viewable at

http://www.change.org/petitions/aep-don-t-make-customers-pay-for-your-mistakes. To respond, click here

From:	JENNIFER LUCUS <mail@change.org></mail@change.org>
Sent:	Monday, July 16, 2012 11:54 PM
То:	Snitchler, Todd
Subject:	Spam: Don't make customers pay for your mistakes!

AEP executives, PUCO members, and Ohio Statehouse Officials,

I just signed the petition at Change.org/AEP, and I wanted to tell you directly how I feel.

* AEP executives Michael Morris, Nicholas Atkins, and Terri Flora: Don't submit the application requesting the PUCO to let you pass on "cleanup costs" of the recent storm to customers after making record profits of $1.9 billion last year. This would be greedy, deceptive and unfair - and it would make me want to do business with a different power company that I can trust and respect.

* PUCO Chairman and Commissioners: If AEP Ohio does apply, reject their application outright. Their failure to plan for sever weather is not their customers' fault or responsibility. It is, however, your responsibility to "assure Ohioans adequate, safe, and reliable public utility services at a fair price."

* Ohio Elected Officials: Use your oversight powers - the ones you were elected to use on behalf of constituents - to ensure the PUCO acts in the best interests of Ohioans and rejects the application. I'm watching to see what happens, and I'll remember in November.

The "cleanup costs" passed on to customers from 2004, 2008, and 2012 combined are less than 15% of AEP Ohio's profits for 2011 alone. Only bad business planning and practices could explain asking customers to bear the cleanup costs.

I don't expect anyone to change the weather, but I do expect you to prepare for it and respond accordingly - just like my family and I do when we know a storm is coming. AEP customers and your constituents won't stand for corporate greed disguised as disaster cleanup, and we won't let our Public Utilities Commission help you, and we won't forget about it if our elected officials fail to act in our interests.

Do the right thing - make AEP pay to clean up its own mess.

JENNIFER LUCUS DUBLIN, Ohio

Note: this email was sent as part of a petition started on Change.org, viewable at

http://www.change.org/petitions/aep-don-t-make-customers-pay-for-your-mistakes. To respond, click here

X

From:	Nicholas Tebbe <mail@change.org></mail@change.org>
Sent:	Tuesday, July 17, 2012 12:25 AM
То:	Snitchler, Todd
Subject:	Spam: Don't make customers pay for your mistakes!

AEP executives, PUCO members, and Ohio Statehouse Officials,

I just signed the petition at Change.org/AEP, and I wanted to tell you directly how I feel.

* AEP executives Michael Morris, Nicholas Atkins, and Terri Flora: Don't submit the application requesting the PUCO to let you pass on "cleanup costs" of the recent storm to customers after making record profits of $1.9 billion last year. This would be greedy, deceptive and unfair - and it would make me want to do business with a different power company that I can trust and respect.

* PUCO Chairman and Commissioners: If AEP Ohio does apply, reject their application outright. Their failure to plan for sever weather is not their customers' fault or responsibility. It is, however, your responsibility to "assure Ohioans adequate, safe, and reliable public utility services at a fair price."

* Ohio Elected Officials: Use your oversight powers - the ones you were elected to use on behalf of constituents - to ensure the PUCO acts in the best interests of Ohioans and rejects the application. I'm watching to see what happens, and I'll remember in November.

The "cleanup costs" passed on to customers from 2004, 2008, and 2012 combined are less than 15% of AEP Ohio's profits for 2011 alone. Only bad business planning and practices could explain asking customers to bear the cleanup costs.

I don't expect anyone to change the weather, but I do expect you to prepare for it and respond accordingly - just like my family and I do when we know a storm is coming. AEP customers and your constituents won't stand for corporate greed disguised as disaster cleanup, and we won't let our Public Utilities Commission help you, and we won't forget about it if our elected officials fail to act in our interests.

Do the right thing - make AEP pay to clean up its own mess.

Nicholas Tebbe Columbus, Ohio

Note: this email was sent as part of a petition started on Change.org, viewable at

http://www.change.org/petitions/aep-don-t-make-customers-pay-for-your-mistakes. To respond, click here

From:	Christine Hickey <mail@change.org></mail@change.org>
Sent:	Tuesday, July 17, 2012 12:31 AM
То:	Snitchler, Todd
Subject:	Spam: Don't make customers pay for your mistakes!

AEP executives, PUCO members, and Ohio Statehouse Officials,

I just signed the petition at Change.org/AEP, and I wanted to tell you directly how I feel.

* AEP executives Michael Morris, Nicholas Atkins, and Terri Flora: Don't submit the application requesting the PUCO to let you pass on "cleanup costs" of the recent storm to customers after making record profits of $1.9 billion last year. This would be greedy, deceptive and unfair - and it would make me want to do business with a different power company that I can trust and respect.

* PUCO Chairman and Commissioners: If AEP Ohio does apply, reject their application outright. Their failure to plan for sever weather is not their customers' fault or responsibility. It is, however, your responsibility to "assure Ohioans adequate, safe, and reliable public utility services at a fair price."

* Ohio Elected Officials: Use your oversight powers - the ones you were elected to use on behalf of constituents - to ensure the PUCO acts in the best interests of Ohioans and rejects the application. I'm watching to see what happens, and I'll remember in November.

The "cleanup costs" passed on to customers from 2004, 2008, and 2012 combined are less than 15% of AEP Ohio's profits for 2011 alone. Only bad business planning and practices could explain asking customers to bear the cleanup costs.

I don't expect anyone to change the weather, but I do expect you to prepare for it and respond accordingly - just like my family and I do when we know a storm is coming. AEP customers and your constituents won't stand for corporate greed disguised as disaster cleanup, and we won't let our Public Utilities Commission help you, and we won't forget about it if our elected officials fail to act in our interests.

Do the right thing - make AEP pay to clean up its own mess.

Christine Hickey Seaman, Ohio

Note: this email was sent as part of a petition started on Change.org, viewable at

http://www.change.org/petitions/aep-don-t-make-customers-pay-for-your-mistakes. To respond, click here

From:	Lorna Buskirk <mail@change.org></mail@change.org>
Sent:	Tuesday, July 17, 2012 12:35 AM
То:	Snitchler, Todd
Subject:	Spam: Don't make customers pay for your mistakes!

AEP executives, PUCO members, and Ohio Statehouse Officials,

I just signed the petition at Change.org/AEP, and I wanted to tell you directly how I feel.

* AEP executives Michael Morris, Nicholas Atkins, and Terri Flora: Don't submit the application requesting the PUCO to let you pass on "cleanup costs" of the recent storm to customers after making record profits of $1.9 billion last year. This would be greedy, deceptive and unfair - and it would make me want to do business with a different power company that I can trust and respect.

* PUCO Chairman and Commissioners: If AEP Ohio does apply, reject their application outright. Their failure to plan for sever weather is not their customers' fault or responsibility. It is, however, your responsibility to "assure Ohioans adequate, safe, and reliable public utility services at a fair price."

* Ohio Elected Officials: Use your oversight powers - the ones you were elected to use on behalf of constituents - to ensure the PUCO acts in the best interests of Ohioans and rejects the application. I'm watching to see what happens, and I'll remember in November.

The "cleanup costs" passed on to customers from 2004, 2008, and 2012 combined are less than 15% of AEP Ohio's profits for 2011 alone. Only bad business planning and practices could explain asking customers to bear the cleanup costs.

I don't expect anyone to change the weather, but I do expect you to prepare for it and respond accordingly - just like my family and I do when we know a storm is coming. AEP customers and your constituents won't stand for corporate greed disguised as disaster cleanup, and we won't let our Public Utilities Commission help you, and we won't forget about it if our elected officials fail to act in our interests.

Do the right thing - make AEP pay to clean up its own mess.

Lorna Buskirk Chillicothe, Ohio

Note: this email was sent as part of a petition started on Change.org, viewable at

http://www.change.org/petitions/aep-don-t-make-customers-pay-for-your-mistakes. To respond, click here

From:	David Roberts <mail@change.org></mail@change.org>
Sent:	Tuesday, July 17, 2012 12:41 AM
То:	Snitchler, Todd
Subject:	Spam: Don't make customers pay for your mistakes!

AEP executives, PUCO members, and Ohio Statehouse Officials,

I just signed the petition at Change.org/AEP, and I wanted to tell you directly how I feel.

* AEP executives Michael Morris, Nicholas Atkins, and Terri Flora: Don't submit the application requesting the PUCO to let you pass on "cleanup costs" of the recent storm to customers after making record profits of $1.9 billion last year. This would be greedy, deceptive and unfair - and it would make me want to do business with a different power company that I can trust and respect.

* PUCO Chairman and Commissioners: If AEP Ohio does apply, reject their application outright. Their failure to plan for sever weather is not their customers' fault or responsibility. It is, however, your responsibility to "assure Ohioans adequate, safe, and reliable public utility services at a fair price."

* Ohio Elected Officials: Use your oversight powers - the ones you were elected to use on behalf of constituents - to ensure the PUCO acts in the best interests of Ohioans and rejects the application. I'm watching to see what happens, and I'll remember in November.

The "cleanup costs" passed on to customers from 2004, 2008, and 2012 combined are less than 15% of AEP Ohio's profits for 2011 alone. Only bad business planning and practices could explain asking customers to bear the cleanup costs.

I don't expect anyone to change the weather, but I do expect you to prepare for it and respond accordingly - just like my family and I do when we know a storm is coming. AEP customers and your constituents won't stand for corporate greed disguised as disaster cleanup, and we won't let our Public Utilities Commission help you, and we won't forget about it if our elected officials fail to act in our interests.

Do the right thing - make AEP pay to clean up its own mess.

David Roberts Chillicothe, Ohio

Note: this email was sent as part of a petition started on Change.org, viewable at

http://www.change.org/petitions/aep-don-t-make-customers-pay-for-your-mistakes. To respond, click here

X

From:	Amanda McCoy <mail@change.org></mail@change.org>
Sent:	Tuesday, July 17, 2012 12:58 AM
То:	Snitchler, Todd
Subject:	Spam: Don't make customers pay for your mistakes!

AEP executives, PUCO members, and Ohio Statehouse Officials,

I just signed the petition at Change.org/AEP, and I wanted to tell you directly how I feel.

* AEP executives Michael Morris, Nicholas Atkins, and Terri Flora: Don't submit the application requesting the PUCO to let you pass on "cleanup costs" of the recent storm to customers after making record profits of $1.9 billion last year. This would be greedy, deceptive and unfair - and it would make me want to do business with a different power company that I can trust and respect.

* PUCO Chairman and Commissioners: If AEP Ohio does apply, reject their application outright. Their failure to plan for sever weather is not their customers' fault or responsibility. It is, however, your responsibility to "assure Ohioans adequate, safe, and reliable public utility services at a fair price."

* Ohio Elected Officials: Use your oversight powers - the ones you were elected to use on behalf of constituents - to ensure the PUCO acts in the best interests of Ohioans and rejects the application. I'm watching to see what happens, and I'll remember in November.

The "cleanup costs" passed on to customers from 2004, 2008, and 2012 combined are less than 15% of AEP Ohio's profits for 2011 alone. Only bad business planning and practices could explain asking customers to bear the cleanup costs.

I don't expect anyone to change the weather, but I do expect you to prepare for it and respond accordingly - just like my family and I do when we know a storm is coming. AEP customers and your constituents won't stand for corporate greed disguised as disaster cleanup, and we won't let our Public Utilities Commission help you, and we won't forget about it if our elected officials fail to act in our interests.

Do the right thing - make AEP pay to clean up its own mess.

Amanda McCoy Grove City, Ohio

Note: this email was sent as part of a petition started on Change.org, viewable at

http://www.change.org/petitions/aep-don-t-make-customers-pay-for-your-mistakes. To respond, click here

From:	Michael Portale <mail@change.org></mail@change.org>
Sent:	Tuesday, July 17, 2012 1:02 AM
То:	Snitchler, Todd
Subject:	Spam: Don't make customers pay for your mistakes!

AEP executives, PUCO members, and Ohio Statehouse Officials,

I just signed the petition at Change.org/AEP, and I wanted to tell you directly how I feel.

* AEP executives Michael Morris, Nicholas Atkins, and Terri Flora: Don't submit the application requesting the PUCO to let you pass on "cleanup costs" of the recent storm to customers after making record profits of $1.9 billion last year. This would be greedy, deceptive and unfair - and it would make me want to do business with a different power company that I can trust and respect.

* PUCO Chairman and Commissioners: If AEP Ohio does apply, reject their application outright. Their failure to plan for sever weather is not their customers' fault or responsibility. It is, however, your responsibility to "assure Ohioans adequate, safe, and reliable public utility services at a fair price."

* Ohio Elected Officials: Use your oversight powers - the ones you were elected to use on behalf of constituents - to ensure the PUCO acts in the best interests of Ohioans and rejects the application. I'm watching to see what happens, and I'll remember in November.

The "cleanup costs" passed on to customers from 2004, 2008, and 2012 combined are less than 15% of AEP Ohio's profits for 2011 alone. Only bad business planning and practices could explain asking customers to bear the cleanup costs.

I don't expect anyone to change the weather, but I do expect you to prepare for it and respond accordingly - just like my family and I do when we know a storm is coming. AEP customers and your constituents won't stand for corporate greed disguised as disaster cleanup, and we won't let our Public Utilities Commission help you, and we won't forget about it if our elected officials fail to act in our interests.

Do the right thing - make AEP pay to clean up its own mess.

Michael Portale Avon Lake, Ohio

Note: this email was sent as part of a petition started on Change.org, viewable at

http://www.change.org/petitions/aep-don-t-make-customers-pay-for-your-mistakes. To respond, click here

⊠≣

From:	Sherry Gillogly <mail@change.org></mail@change.org>
Sent:	Tuesday, July 17, 2012 1:02 AM
То:	Snitchler, Todd
Subject:	Spam: Don't make customers pay for your mistakes!

AEP executives, PUCO members, and Ohio Statehouse Officials,

I just signed the petition at Change.org/AEP, and I wanted to tell you directly how I feel.

* AEP executives Michael Morris, Nicholas Atkins, and Terri Flora: Don't submit the application requesting the PUCO to let you pass on "cleanup costs" of the recent storm to customers after making record profits of $1.9 billion last year. This would be greedy, deceptive and unfair - and it would make me want to do business with a different power company that I can trust and respect.

* PUCO Chairman and Commissioners: If AEP Ohio does apply, reject their application outright. Their failure to plan for sever weather is not their customers' fault or responsibility. It is, however, your responsibility to "assure Ohioans adequate, safe, and reliable public utility services at a fair price."

* Ohio Elected Officials: Use your oversight powers - the ones you were elected to use on behalf of constituents - to ensure the PUCO acts in the best interests of Ohioans and rejects the application. I'm watching to see what happens, and I'll remember in November.

The "cleanup costs" passed on to customers from 2004, 2008, and 2012 combined are less than 15% of AEP Ohio's profits for 2011 alone. Only bad business planning and practices could explain asking customers to bear the cleanup costs.

I don't expect anyone to change the weather, but I do expect you to prepare for it and respond accordingly - just like my family and I do when we know a storm is coming. AEP customers and your constituents won't stand for corporate greed disguised as disaster cleanup, and we won't let our Public Utilities Commission help you, and we won't forget about it if our elected officials fail to act in our interests.

Do the right thing - make AEP pay to clean up its own mess.

AEP has neglected maintence for years to maximize their profits. Why should we have toay for their greed now.

Sherry Gillogly Albany, Ohio

Note: this email was sent as part of a petition started on Change.org, viewable at

http://www.change.org/petitions/aep-don-t-make-customers-pay-for-your-mistakes. To respond, click here

From:	Colette Hill <mail@change.org></mail@change.org>
Sent:	Tuesday, July 17, 2012 1:04 AM
То:	Snitchler, Todd
Subject:	Spam: Don't make customers pay for your mistakes!

AEP executives, PUCO members, and Ohio Statehouse Officials,

I just signed the petition at Change.org/AEP, and I wanted to tell you directly how I feel.

* AEP executives Michael Morris, Nicholas Atkins, and Terri Flora: Don't submit the application requesting the PUCO to let you pass on "cleanup costs" of the recent storm to customers after making record profits of $1.9 billion last year. This would be greedy, deceptive and unfair - and it would make me want to do business with a different power company that I can trust and respect.

* PUCO Chairman and Commissioners: If AEP Ohio does apply, reject their application outright. Their failure to plan for sever weather is not their customers' fault or responsibility. It is, however, your responsibility to "assure Ohioans adequate, safe, and reliable public utility services at a fair price."

* Ohio Elected Officials: Use your oversight powers - the ones you were elected to use on behalf of constituents - to ensure the PUCO acts in the best interests of Ohioans and rejects the application. I'm watching to see what happens, and I'll remember in November.

The "cleanup costs" passed on to customers from 2004, 2008, and 2012 combined are less than 15% of AEP Ohio's profits for 2011 alone. Only bad business planning and practices could explain asking customers to bear the cleanup costs.

I don't expect anyone to change the weather, but I do expect you to prepare for it and respond accordingly - just like my family and I do when we know a storm is coming. AEP customers and your constituents won't stand for corporate greed disguised as disaster cleanup, and we won't let our Public Utilities Commission help you, and we won't forget about it if our elected officials fail to act in our interests.

Do the right thing - make AEP pay to clean up its own mess.

Ohioans cannot pay for the greed of AEP. Please stop this from happening and save the citizens from footing the cleanup costs that could of been prevented if AEP had made changes after the past power outages.

Colette Hill Maple Hts, Ohio

Note: this email was sent as part of a petition started on Change.org, viewable at

http://www.change.org/petitions/aep-don-t-make-customers-pay-for-your-mistakes. To respond, click here

回輩

From:	joe corder <mail@change.org></mail@change.org>
Sent:	Tuesday, July 17, 2012 1:25 AM
То:	Snitchler, Todd
Subject:	Spam: Don't make customers pay for your mistakes!

AEP executives, PUCO members, and Ohio Statehouse Officials,

I just signed the petition at Change.org/AEP, and I wanted to tell you directly how I feel.

* AEP executives Michael Morris, Nicholas Atkins, and Terri Flora: Don't submit the application requesting the PUCO to let you pass on "cleanup costs" of the recent storm to customers after making record profits of $1.9 billion last year. This would be greedy, deceptive and unfair - and it would make me want to do business with a different power company that I can trust and respect.

* PUCO Chairman and Commissioners: If AEP Ohio does apply, reject their application outright. Their failure to plan for sever weather is not their customers' fault or responsibility. It is, however, your responsibility to "assure Ohioans adequate, safe, and reliable public utility services at a fair price."

* Ohio Elected Officials: Use your oversight powers - the ones you were elected to use on behalf of constituents - to ensure the PUCO acts in the best interests of Ohioans and rejects the application. I'm watching to see what happens, and I'll remember in November.

The "cleanup costs" passed on to customers from 2004, 2008, and 2012 combined are less than 15% of AEP Ohio's profits for 2011 alone. Only bad business planning and practices could explain asking customers to bear the cleanup costs.

I don't expect anyone to change the weather, but I do expect you to prepare for it and respond accordingly - just like my family and I do when we know a storm is coming. AEP customers and your constituents won't stand for corporate greed disguised as disaster cleanup, and we won't let our Public Utilities Commission help you, and we won't forget about it if our elected officials fail to act in our interests.

Do the right thing - make AEP pay to clean up its own mess.

Dayton power and Light has done this same thing also...and its TIME IT STOPPED.....they are responsible to repair this....and out of THEIR pockets..not ours.

joe corder

Note: this email was sent as part of a petition started on Change.org, viewable at

http://www.change.org/petitions/aep-don-t-make-customers-pay-for-your-mistakes. To respond, click here

From:	Kenna O'Sullivan <mail@change.org></mail@change.org>
Sent:	Tuesday, July 17, 2012 1:37 AM
То:	Snitchler, Todd
Subject:	Spam: Don't make customers pay for your mistakes!

AEP executives, PUCO members, and Ohio Statehouse Officials,

I just signed the petition at Change.org/AEP, and I wanted to tell you directly how I feel.

* AEP executives Michael Morris, Nicholas Atkins, and Terri Flora: Don't submit the application requesting the PUCO to let you pass on "cleanup costs" of the recent storm to customers after making record profits of $1.9 billion last year. This would be greedy, deceptive and unfair - and it would make me want to do business with a different power company that I can trust and respect.

* PUCO Chairman and Commissioners: If AEP Ohio does apply, reject their application outright. Their failure to plan for sever weather is not their customers' fault or responsibility. It is, however, your responsibility to "assure Ohioans adequate, safe, and reliable public utility services at a fair price."

* Ohio Elected Officials: Use your oversight powers - the ones you were elected to use on behalf of constituents - to ensure the PUCO acts in the best interests of Ohioans and rejects the application. I'm watching to see what happens, and I'll remember in November.

The "cleanup costs" passed on to customers from 2004, 2008, and 2012 combined are less than 15% of AEP Ohio's profits for 2011 alone. Only bad business planning and practices could explain asking customers to bear the cleanup costs.

I don't expect anyone to change the weather, but I do expect you to prepare for it and respond accordingly - just like my family and I do when we know a storm is coming. AEP customers and your constituents won't stand for corporate greed disguised as disaster cleanup, and we won't let our Public Utilities Commission help you, and we won't forget about it if our elected officials fail to act in our interests.

Do the right thing - make AEP pay to clean up its own mess.

Kenna O'Sullivan Mason, Ohio

Note: this email was sent as part of a petition started on Change.org, viewable at

http://www.change.org/petitions/aep-don-t-make-customers-pay-for-your-mistakes. To respond, click here

From:	Garrison Latimer <mail@change.org></mail@change.org>
Sent:	Tuesday, July 17, 2012 2:07 AM
То:	Snitchler, Todd
Subject:	Spam: Don't make customers pay for your mistakes!

AEP executives, PUCO members, and Ohio Statehouse Officials,

I just signed the petition at Change.org/AEP, and I wanted to tell you directly how I feel.

* AEP executives Michael Morris, Nicholas Atkins, and Terri Flora: Don't submit the application requesting the PUCO to let you pass on "cleanup costs" of the recent storm to customers after making record profits of $1.9 billion last year. This would be greedy, deceptive and unfair - and it would make me want to do business with a different power company that I can trust and respect.

* PUCO Chairman and Commissioners: If AEP Ohio does apply, reject their application outright. Their failure to plan for sever weather is not their customers' fault or responsibility. It is, however, your responsibility to "assure Ohioans adequate, safe, and reliable public utility services at a fair price."

* Ohio Elected Officials: Use your oversight powers - the ones you were elected to use on behalf of constituents - to ensure the PUCO acts in the best interests of Ohioans and rejects the application. I'm watching to see what happens, and I'll remember in November.

The "cleanup costs" passed on to customers from 2004, 2008, and 2012 combined are less than 15% of AEP Ohio's profits for 2011 alone. Only bad business planning and practices could explain asking customers to bear the cleanup costs.

I don't expect anyone to change the weather, but I do expect you to prepare for it and respond accordingly - just like my family and I do when we know a storm is coming. AEP customers and your constituents won't stand for corporate greed disguised as disaster cleanup, and we won't let our Public Utilities Commission help you, and we won't forget about it if our elected officials fail to act in our interests.

Do the right thing - make AEP pay to clean up its own mess.

Garrison Latimer Columbus, Ohio

Note: this email was sent as part of a petition started on Change.org, viewable at

http://www.change.org/petitions/aep-don-t-make-customers-pay-for-your-mistakes. To respond, click here

From:	Christine Hickey <mail@change.org></mail@change.org>
Sent:	Tuesday, July 17, 2012 12:31 AM
То:	Snitchler, Todd
Subject:	Spam: Don't make customers pay for your mistakes!

AEP executives, PUCO members, and Ohio Statehouse Officials,

I just signed the petition at Change.org/AEP, and I wanted to tell you directly how I feel.

* AEP executives Michael Morris, Nicholas Atkins, and Terri Flora: Don't submit the application requesting the PUCO to let you pass on "cleanup costs" of the recent storm to customers after making record profits of $1.9 billion last year. This would be greedy, deceptive and unfair - and it would make me want to do business with a different power company that I can trust and respect.

* PUCO Chairman and Commissioners: If AEP Ohio does apply, reject their application outright. Their failure to plan for sever weather is not their customers' fault or responsibility. It is, however, your responsibility to "assure Ohioans adequate, safe, and reliable public utility services at a fair price."

* Ohio Elected Officials: Use your oversight powers - the ones you were elected to use on behalf of constituents - to ensure the PUCO acts in the best interests of Ohioans and rejects the application. I'm watching to see what happens, and I'll remember in November.

The "cleanup costs" passed on to customers from 2004, 2008, and 2012 combined are less than 15% of AEP Ohio's profits for 2011 alone. Only bad business planning and practices could explain asking customers to bear the cleanup costs.

I don't expect anyone to change the weather, but I do expect you to prepare for it and respond accordingly - just like my family and I do when we know a storm is coming. AEP customers and your constituents won't stand for corporate greed disguised as disaster cleanup, and we won't let our Public Utilities Commission help you, and we won't forget about it if our elected officials fail to act in our interests.

Do the right thing - make AEP pay to clean up its own mess.

Christine Hickey Seaman, Ohio

Note: this email was sent as part of a petition started on Change.org, viewable at

http://www.change.org/petitions/aep-don-t-make-customers-pay-for-your-mistakes. To respond, click here

From:	margie ann <mail@change.org></mail@change.org>
Sent:	Tuesday, July 17, 2012 2:19 AM
То:	Snitchler, Todd
Subject:	Spam: Don't make customers pay for your mistakes!

AEP executives, PUCO members, and Ohio Statehouse Officials,

I just signed the petition at Change.org/AEP, and I wanted to tell you directly how I feel.

* AEP executives Michael Morris, Nicholas Atkins, and Terri Flora: Don't submit the application requesting the PUCO to let you pass on "cleanup costs" of the recent storm to customers after making record profits of $1.9 billion last year. This would be greedy, deceptive and unfair - and it would make me want to do business with a different power company that I can trust and respect.

* PUCO Chairman and Commissioners: If AEP Ohio does apply, reject their application outright. Their failure to plan for sever weather is not their customers' fault or responsibility. It is, however, your responsibility to "assure Ohioans adequate, safe, and reliable public utility services at a fair price."

* Ohio Elected Officials: Use your oversight powers - the ones you were elected to use on behalf of constituents - to ensure the PUCO acts in the best interests of Ohioans and rejects the application. I'm watching to see what happens, and I'll remember in November.

The "cleanup costs" passed on to customers from 2004, 2008, and 2012 combined are less than 15% of AEP Ohio's profits for 2011 alone. Only bad business planning and practices could explain asking customers to bear the cleanup costs.

I don't expect anyone to change the weather, but I do expect you to prepare for it and respond accordingly - just like my family and I do when we know a storm is coming. AEP customers and your constituents won't stand for corporate greed disguised as disaster cleanup, and we won't let our Public Utilities Commission help you, and we won't forget about it if our elected officials fail to act in our interests.

Do the right thing - make AEP pay to clean up its own mess.

margie ann columbus, Ohio

Note: this email was sent as part of a petition started on Change.org, viewable at

http://www.change.org/petitions/aep-don-t-make-customers-pay-for-your-mistakes. To respond, click here

From:	Bob Brinkman <mail@change.org></mail@change.org>
Sent:	Tuesday, July 17, 2012 2:16 AM
То:	Snitchler, Todd
Subject:	Spam: Don't make customers pay for your mistakes!

AEP executives, PUCO members, and Ohio Statehouse Officials,

I just signed the petition at Change.org/AEP, and I wanted to tell you directly how I feel.

* AEP executives Michael Morris, Nicholas Atkins, and Terri Flora: Don't submit the application requesting the PUCO to let you pass on "cleanup costs" of the recent storm to customers after making record profits of $1.9 billion last year. This would be greedy, deceptive and unfair - and it would make me want to do business with a different power company that I can trust and respect.

* PUCO Chairman and Commissioners: If AEP Ohio does apply, reject their application outright. Their failure to plan for sever weather is not their customers' fault or responsibility. It is, however, your responsibility to "assure Ohioans adequate, safe, and reliable public utility services at a fair price."

* Ohio Elected Officials: Use your oversight powers - the ones you were elected to use on behalf of constituents - to ensure the PUCO acts in the best interests of Ohioans and rejects the application. I'm watching to see what happens, and I'll remember in November.

The "cleanup costs" passed on to customers from 2004, 2008, and 2012 combined are less than 15% of AEP Ohio's profits for 2011 alone. Only bad business planning and practices could explain asking customers to bear the cleanup costs.

I don't expect anyone to change the weather, but I do expect you to prepare for it and respond accordingly - just like my family and I do when we know a storm is coming. AEP customers and your constituents won't stand for corporate greed disguised as disaster cleanup, and we won't let our Public Utilities Commission help you, and we won't forget about it if our elected officials fail to act in our interests.

Do the right thing - make AEP pay to clean up its own mess.

It's their infrastructure they should pay to repair it. That's how every IT/Hosting/Services company I have worked for handles it, I am not sure how the service they provide is any different then what we do.

Bob Brinkman COLUMBUS, Ohio

Note: this email was sent as part of a petition started on Change.org, viewable at

http://www.change.org/petitions/aep-don-t-make-customers-pay-for-your-mistakes. To respond, click here

From:	Courtney Elrod <mail@change.org></mail@change.org>
Sent:	Tuesday, July 17, 2012 2:22 AM
То:	Snitchler, Todd
Subject:	Spam: Don't make customers pay for your mistakes!

AEP executives, PUCO members, and Ohio Statehouse Officials,

I just signed the petition at Change.org/AEP, and I wanted to tell you directly how I feel.

* AEP executives Michael Morris, Nicholas Atkins, and Terri Flora: Don't submit the application requesting the PUCO to let you pass on "cleanup costs" of the recent storm to customers after making record profits of $1.9 billion last year. This would be greedy, deceptive and unfair - and it would make me want to do business with a different power company that I can trust and respect.

* PUCO Chairman and Commissioners: If AEP Ohio does apply, reject their application outright. Their failure to plan for sever weather is not their customers' fault or responsibility. It is, however, your responsibility to "assure Ohioans adequate, safe, and reliable public utility services at a fair price."

* Ohio Elected Officials: Use your oversight powers - the ones you were elected to use on behalf of constituents - to ensure the PUCO acts in the best interests of Ohioans and rejects the application. I'm watching to see what happens, and I'll remember in November.

The "cleanup costs" passed on to customers from 2004, 2008, and 2012 combined are less than 15% of AEP Ohio's profits for 2011 alone. Only bad business planning and practices could explain asking customers to bear the cleanup costs.

I don't expect anyone to change the weather, but I do expect you to prepare for it and respond accordingly - just like my family and I do when we know a storm is coming. AEP customers and your constituents won't stand for corporate greed disguised as disaster cleanup, and we won't let our Public Utilities Commission help you, and we won't forget about it if our elected officials fail to act in our interests.

Do the right thing - make AEP pay to clean up its own mess.

Courtney Elrod Columbus, Ohio

Note: this email was sent as part of a petition started on Change.org, viewable at

http://www.change.org/petitions/aep-don-t-make-customers-pay-for-your-mistakes. To respond, click here

From:	Kristal Edwards <mail@change.org></mail@change.org>
Sent:	Tuesday, July 17, 2012 2:26 AM
То:	Snitchler, Todd
Subject:	Spam: Don't make customers pay for your mistakes!

AEP executives, PUCO members, and Ohio Statehouse Officials,

I just signed the petition at Change.org/AEP, and I wanted to tell you directly how I feel.

* AEP executives Michael Morris, Nicholas Atkins, and Terri Flora: Don't submit the application requesting the PUCO to let you pass on "cleanup costs" of the recent storm to customers after making record profits of $1.9 billion last year. This would be greedy, deceptive and unfair - and it would make me want to do business with a different power company that I can trust and respect.

* PUCO Chairman and Commissioners: If AEP Ohio does apply, reject their application outright. Their failure to plan for sever weather is not their customers' fault or responsibility. It is, however, your responsibility to "assure Ohioans adequate, safe, and reliable public utility services at a fair price."

* Ohio Elected Officials: Use your oversight powers - the ones you were elected to use on behalf of constituents - to ensure the PUCO acts in the best interests of Ohioans and rejects the application. I'm watching to see what happens, and I'll remember in November.

The "cleanup costs" passed on to customers from 2004, 2008, and 2012 combined are less than 15% of AEP Ohio's profits for 2011 alone. Only bad business planning and practices could explain asking customers to bear the cleanup costs.

I don't expect anyone to change the weather, but I do expect you to prepare for it and respond accordingly - just like my family and I do when we know a storm is coming. AEP customers and your constituents won't stand for corporate greed disguised as disaster cleanup, and we won't let our Public Utilities Commission help you, and we won't forget about it if our elected officials fail to act in our interests.

Do the right thing - make AEP pay to clean up its own mess.

Kristal Edwards Galax, Virginia

Note: this email was sent as part of a petition started on Change.org, viewable at

http://www.change.org/petitions/aep-don-t-make-customers-pay-for-your-mistakes. To respond, click here

From:	Ellen O'Connor <mail@change.org></mail@change.org>
Sent:	Tuesday, July 17, 2012 2:31 AM
То:	Snitchler, Todd
Subject:	Spam: Don't make customers pay for your mistakes!

AEP executives, PUCO members, and Ohio Statehouse Officials,

I just signed the petition at Change.org/AEP, and I wanted to tell you directly how I feel.

* AEP executives Michael Morris, Nicholas Atkins, and Terri Flora: Don't submit the application requesting the PUCO to let you pass on "cleanup costs" of the recent storm to customers after making record profits of $1.9 billion last year. This would be greedy, deceptive and unfair - and it would make me want to do business with a different power company that I can trust and respect.

* PUCO Chairman and Commissioners: If AEP Ohio does apply, reject their application outright. Their failure to plan for sever weather is not their customers' fault or responsibility. It is, however, your responsibility to "assure Ohioans adequate, safe, and reliable public utility services at a fair price."

* Ohio Elected Officials: Use your oversight powers - the ones you were elected to use on behalf of constituents - to ensure the PUCO acts in the best interests of Ohioans and rejects the application. I'm watching to see what happens, and I'll remember in November.

The "cleanup costs" passed on to customers from 2004, 2008, and 2012 combined are less than 15% of AEP Ohio's profits for 2011 alone. Only bad business planning and practices could explain asking customers to bear the cleanup costs.

I don't expect anyone to change the weather, but I do expect you to prepare for it and respond accordingly - just like my family and I do when we know a storm is coming. AEP customers and your constituents won't stand for corporate greed disguised as disaster cleanup, and we won't let our Public Utilities Commission help you, and we won't forget about it if our elected officials fail to act in our interests.

Do the right thing - make AEP pay to clean up its own mess.

Ellen O'Connor Arlington, Virginia

Note: this email was sent as part of a petition started on Change.org, viewable at

http://www.change.org/petitions/aep-don-t-make-customers-pay-for-your-mistakes. To respond, click here

From:	Lisa Faigenbaum <mail@change.org></mail@change.org>
Sent:	Tuesday, July 17, 2012 2:42 AM
То:	Snitchler, Todd
Subject:	Spam: Don't make customers pay for your mistakes!

AEP executives, PUCO members, and Ohio Statehouse Officials,

I just signed the petition at Change.org/AEP, and I wanted to tell you directly how I feel.

* AEP executives Michael Morris, Nicholas Atkins, and Terri Flora: Don't submit the application requesting the PUCO to let you pass on "cleanup costs" of the recent storm to customers after making record profits of $1.9 billion last year. This would be greedy, deceptive and unfair - and it would make me want to do business with a different power company that I can trust and respect.

* PUCO Chairman and Commissioners: If AEP Ohio does apply, reject their application outright. Their failure to plan for sever weather is not their customers' fault or responsibility. It is, however, your responsibility to "assure Ohioans adequate, safe, and reliable public utility services at a fair price."

* Ohio Elected Officials: Use your oversight powers - the ones you were elected to use on behalf of constituents - to ensure the PUCO acts in the best interests of Ohioans and rejects the application. I'm watching to see what happens, and I'll remember in November.

The "cleanup costs" passed on to customers from 2004, 2008, and 2012 combined are less than 15% of AEP Ohio's profits for 2011 alone. Only bad business planning and practices could explain asking customers to bear the cleanup costs.

I don't expect anyone to change the weather, but I do expect you to prepare for it and respond accordingly - just like my family and I do when we know a storm is coming. AEP customers and your constituents won't stand for corporate greed disguised as disaster cleanup, and we won't let our Public Utilities Commission help you, and we won't forget about it if our elected officials fail to act in our interests.

Do the right thing - make AEP pay to clean up its own mess.

Lisa Faigenbaum

Note: this email was sent as part of a petition started on Change.org, viewable at

http://www.change.org/petitions/aep-don-t-make-customers-pay-for-your-mistakes. To respond, click here