

Lowery, Judy

From: heather august <mail@change.org>
Sent: Tuesday, July 17, 2012 4:52 PM
To: Snitchler, Todd
Subject: Spam: Don't make customers pay for your mistakes!

AEP executives, PUCO members, and Ohio Statehouse Officials,

I just signed the petition at Change.org/AEP, and I wanted to tell you directly how I feel.

* AEP executives Michael Morris, Nicholas Atkins, and Terri Flora: Don't submit the application requesting the PUCO to let you pass on "cleanup costs" of the recent storm to customers after making record profits of $1.9 billion last year. This would be greedy, deceptive and unfair - and it would make me want to do business with a different power company that I can trust and respect.

* PUCO Chairman and Commissioners: If AEP Ohio does apply, reject their application outright. Their failure to plan for sever weather is not their customers' fault or responsibility. It is, however, your responsibility to "assure Ohioans adequate, safe, and reliable public utility services at a fair price."

* Ohio Elected Officials: Use your oversight powers - the ones you were elected to use on behalf of constituents - to ensure the PUCO acts in the best interests of Ohioans and rejects the application. I'm watching to see what happens, and I'll remember in November.

The "cleanup costs" passed on to customers from 2004, 2008, and 2012 combined are less than 15% of AEP Ohio's profits for 2011 alone. Only bad business planning and practices could explain asking customers to bear the cleanup costs.

I don't expect anyone to change the weather, but I do expect you to prepare for it and respond accordingly - just like my family and I do when we know a storm is coming. AEP customers and your constituents won't stand for corporate greed disguised as disaster cleanup, and we won't let our Public Utilities Commission help you, and we won't forget about it if our elected officials fail to act in our interests.

Do the right thing - make AEP pay to clean up its own mess.

heather august
Findlay, Ohio

RECEIVED-DOCKETING DIV
2012 JUL 20 PM 4:58
PUCO

Note: this email was sent as part of a petition started on Change.org, viewable at

<http://www.change.org/petitions/aep-don-t-make-customers-pay-for-your-mistakes>. To respond, click here

This is to certify that the images appearing are an accurate and complete reproduction of a case file document delivered in the regular course of business.
Technician [Signature] Date Processed 7-20-12

Lowery, Judy

---

From: Marilyn Scott <mail@change.org>
Sent: Tuesday, July 17, 2012 4:52 PM
To: Snitchler, Todd
Subject: Spam: Don't make customers pay for your mistakes!

AEP executives, PUCO members, and Ohio Statehouse Officials,

I just signed the petition at Change.org/AEP, and I wanted to tell you directly how I feel.

* AEP executives Michael Morris, Nicholas Atkins, and Terri Flora: Don't submit the application requesting the PUCO to let you pass on "cleanup costs" of the recent storm to customers after making record profits of $1.9 billion last year. This would be greedy, deceptive and unfair - and it would make me want to do business with a different power company that I can trust and respect.

* PUCO Chairman and Commissioners: If AEP Ohio does apply, reject their application outright. Their failure to plan for sever weather is not their customers' fault or responsibility. It is, however, your responsibility to "assure Ohioans adequate, safe, and reliable public utility services at a fair price."

* Ohio Elected Officials: Use your oversight powers - the ones you were elected to use on behalf of constituents - to ensure the PUCO acts in the best interests of Ohioans and rejects the application. I'm watching to see what happens, and I'll remember in November.

The "cleanup costs" passed on to customers from 2004, 2008, and 2012 combined are less than 15% of AEP Ohio's profits for 2011 alone. Only bad business planning and practices could explain asking customers to bear the cleanup costs.

I don't expect anyone to change the weather, but I do expect you to prepare for it and respond accordingly - just like my family and I do when we know a storm is coming. AEP customers and your constituents won't stand for corporate greed disguised as disaster cleanup, and we won't let our Public Utilities Commission help you, and we won't forget about it if our elected officials fail to act in our interests.

Do the right thing - make AEP pay to clean up its own mess.

Marilyn Scott
Cleveland, Ohio

Note: this email was sent as part of a petition started on Change.org, viewable at

<http://www.change.org/petitions/aep-don-t-make-customers-pay-for-your-mistakes>. To respond, click here

Lowery, Judy

---

From: Loren Rutg <mail@change.org>
Sent: Tuesday, July 17, 2012 4:52 PM
To: Snitchler, Todd
Subject: Spam: Don't make customers pay for your mistakes!

AEP executives, PUCO members, and Ohio Statehouse Officials,

I just signed the petition at Change.org/AEP, and I wanted to tell you directly how I feel.

* AEP executives Michael Morris, Nicholas Atkins, and Terri Flora: Don't submit the application requesting the PUCO to let you pass on "cleanup costs" of the recent storm to customers after making record profits of $1.9 billion last year. This would be greedy, deceptive and unfair - and it would make me want to do business with a different power company that I can trust and respect.

* PUCO Chairman and Commissioners: If AEP Ohio does apply, reject their application outright. Their failure to plan for sever weather is not their customers' fault or responsibility. It is, however, your responsibility to "assure Ohioans adequate, safe, and reliable public utility services at a fair price."

* Ohio Elected Officials: Use your oversight powers - the ones you were elected to use on behalf of constituents - to ensure the PUCO acts in the best interests of Ohioans and rejects the application. I'm watching to see what happens, and I'll remember in November.

The "cleanup costs" passed on to customers from 2004, 2008, and 2012 combined are less than 15% of AEP Ohio's profits for 2011 alone. Only bad business planning and practices could explain asking customers to bear the cleanup costs.

I don't expect anyone to change the weather, but I do expect you to prepare for it and respond accordingly - just like my family and I do when we know a storm is coming. AEP customers and your constituents won't stand for corporate greed disguised as disaster cleanup, and we won't let our Public Utilities Commission help you, and we won't forget about it if our elected officials fail to act in our interests.

Do the right thing - make AEP pay to clean up its own mess.

Loren Rutg
Cleveland, Ohio

Note: this email was sent as part of a petition started on Change.org, viewable at

<http://www.change.org/petitions/aep-don-t-make-customers-pay-for-your-mistakes>. To respond, click here

Lowery, Judy

---

From: Mark Clemente <mail@change.org>
Sent: Tuesday, July 17, 2012 4:52 PM
To: Snitchler, Todd
Subject: Spam: Don't make customers pay for your mistakes!

AEP executives, PUCO members, and Ohio Statehouse Officials,

I just signed the petition at Change.org/AEP, and I wanted to tell you directly how I feel.

* AEP executives Michael Morris, Nicholas Atkins, and Terri Flora: Don't submit the application requesting the PUCO to let you pass on "cleanup costs" of the recent storm to customers after making record profits of $1.9 billion last year. This would be greedy, deceptive and unfair - and it would make me want to do business with a different power company that I can trust and respect.

* PUCO Chairman and Commissioners: If AEP Ohio does apply, reject their application outright. Their failure to plan for sever weather is not their customers' fault or responsibility. It is, however, your responsibility to "assure Ohioans adequate, safe, and reliable public utility services at a fair price."

* Ohio Elected Officials: Use your oversight powers - the ones you were elected to use on behalf of constituents - to ensure the PUCO acts in the best interests of Ohioans and rejects the application. I'm watching to see what happens, and I'll remember in November.

The "cleanup costs" passed on to customers from 2004, 2008, and 2012 combined are less than 15% of AEP Ohio's profits for 2011 alone. Only bad business planning and practices could explain asking customers to bear the cleanup costs.

I don't expect anyone to change the weather, but I do expect you to prepare for it and respond accordingly - just like my family and I do when we know a storm is coming. AEP customers and your constituents won't stand for corporate greed disguised as disaster cleanup, and we won't let our Public Utilities Commission help you, and we won't forget about it if our elected officials fail to act in our interests.

Do the right thing - make AEP pay to clean up its own mess.

Mark Clemente
Nelsonville, Ohio

Note: this email was sent as part of a petition started on Change.org, viewable at

<http://www.change.org/petitions/aep-don-t-make-customers-pay-for-your-mistakes>. To respond, click here

Lowery, Judy

---

From: Joy McLaughlin <mail@change.org>
Sent: Tuesday, July 17, 2012 4:52 PM
To: Snitchler, Todd
Subject: Spam: Don't make customers pay for your mistakes!

AEP executives, PUCO members, and Ohio Statehouse Officials,

I just signed the petition at Change.org/AEP, and I wanted to tell you directly how I feel.

* AEP executives Michael Morris, Nicholas Atkins, and Terri Flora: Don't submit the application requesting the PUCO to let you pass on "cleanup costs" of the recent storm to customers after making record profits of $1.9 billion last year. This would be greedy, deceptive and unfair - and it would make me want to do business with a different power company that I can trust and respect.

* PUCO Chairman and Commissioners: If AEP Ohio does apply, reject their application outright. Their failure to plan for sever weather is not their customers' fault or responsibility. It is, however, your responsibility to "assure Ohioans adequate, safe, and reliable public utility services at a fair price."

* Ohio Elected Officials: Use your oversight powers - the ones you were elected to use on behalf of constituents - to ensure the PUCO acts in the best interests of Ohioans and rejects the application. I'm watching to see what happens, and I'll remember in November.

The "cleanup costs" passed on to customers from 2004, 2008, and 2012 combined are less than 15% of AEP Ohio's profits for 2011 alone. Only bad business planning and practices could explain asking customers to bear the cleanup costs.

I don't expect anyone to change the weather, but I do expect you to prepare for it and respond accordingly - just like my family and I do when we know a storm is coming. AEP customers and your constituents won't stand for corporate greed disguised as disaster cleanup, and we won't let our Public Utilities Commission help you, and we won't forget about it if our elected officials fail to act in our interests.

Do the right thing - make AEP pay to clean up its own mess.

Joy McLaughlin
Dayton, Ohio

Note: this email was sent as part of a petition started on Change.org, viewable at

<http://www.change.org/petitions/aep-don-t-make-customers-pay-for-your-mistakes>. To respond, click here

Lowery, Judy

---

From: Mathew Austin <mail@change.org>
Sent: Tuesday, July 17, 2012 4:52 PM
To: Snitchler, Todd
Subject: Spam: Don't make customers pay for your mistakes!

AEP executives, PUCO members, and Ohio Statehouse Officials,

I just signed the petition at Change.org/AEP, and I wanted to tell you directly how I feel.

* AEP executives Michael Morris, Nicholas Atkins, and Terri Flora: Don't submit the application requesting the PUCO to let you pass on "cleanup costs" of the recent storm to customers after making record profits of $1.9 billion last year. This would be greedy, deceptive and unfair - and it would make me want to do business with a different power company that I can trust and respect.

* PUCO Chairman and Commissioners: If AEP Ohio does apply, reject their application outright. Their failure to plan for sever weather is not their customers' fault or responsibility. It is, however, your responsibility to "assure Ohioans adequate, safe, and reliable public utility services at a fair price."

* Ohio Elected Officials: Use your oversight powers - the ones you were elected to use on behalf of constituents - to ensure the PUCO acts in the best interests of Ohioans and rejects the application. I'm watching to see what happens, and I'll remember in November.

The "cleanup costs" passed on to customers from 2004, 2008, and 2012 combined are less than 15% of AEP Ohio's profits for 2011 alone. Only bad business planning and practices could explain asking customers to bear the cleanup costs.

I don't expect anyone to change the weather, but I do expect you to prepare for it and respond accordingly - just like my family and I do when we know a storm is coming. AEP customers and your constituents won't stand for corporate greed disguised as disaster cleanup, and we won't let our Public Utilities Commission help you, and we won't forget about it if our elected officials fail to act in our interests.

Do the right thing - make AEP pay to clean up its own mess.

Mathew Austin
Athens, Ohio

Note: this email was sent as part of a petition started on Change.org, viewable at

<http://www.change.org/petitions/aep-don-t-make-customers-pay-for-your-mistakes>. To respond, click here

Lowery, Judy

---

From: jeremy williams <mail@change.org>
Sent: Tuesday, July 17, 2012 4:52 PM
To: Snitchler, Todd
Subject: Spam: Don't make customers pay for your mistakes!

AEP executives, PUCO members, and Ohio Statehouse Officials,

I just signed the petition at Change.org/AEP, and I wanted to tell you directly how I feel.

* AEP executives Michael Morris, Nicholas Atkins, and Terri Flora: Don't submit the application requesting the PUCO to let you pass on "cleanup costs" of the recent storm to customers after making record profits of $1.9 billion last year. This would be greedy, deceptive and unfair - and it would make me want to do business with a different power company that I can trust and respect.

* PUCO Chairman and Commissioners: If AEP Ohio does apply, reject their application outright. Their failure to plan for sever weather is not their customers' fault or responsibility. It is, however, your responsibility to "assure Ohioans adequate, safe, and reliable public utility services at a fair price."

* Ohio Elected Officials: Use your oversight powers - the ones you were elected to use on behalf of constituents - to ensure the PUCO acts in the best interests of Ohioans and rejects the application. I'm watching to see what happens, and I'll remember in November.

The "cleanup costs" passed on to customers from 2004, 2008, and 2012 combined are less than 15% of AEP Ohio's profits for 2011 alone. Only bad business planning and practices could explain asking customers to bear the cleanup costs.

I don't expect anyone to change the weather, but I do expect you to prepare for it and respond accordingly - just like my family and I do when we know a storm is coming. AEP customers and your constituents won't stand for corporate greed disguised as disaster cleanup, and we won't let our Public Utilities Commission help you, and we won't forget about it if our elected officials fail to act in our interests.

Do the right thing - make AEP pay to clean up its own mess.

jeremy williams
galloway, Ohio

Note: this email was sent as part of a petition started on Change.org, viewable at

<http://www.change.org/petitions/aep-don-t-make-customers-pay-for-your-mistakes>. To respond, click here

Lowery, Judy

---

From: Mark Neeley <mail@change.org>
Sent: Tuesday, July 17, 2012 4:52 PM
To: Snitchler, Todd
Subject: Spam: Don't make customers pay for your mistakes!

AEP executives, PUCO members, and Ohio Statehouse Officials,

I just signed the petition at Change.org/AEP, and I wanted to tell you directly how I feel.

* AEP executives Michael Morris, Nicholas Atkins, and Terri Flora: Don't submit the application requesting the PUCO to let you pass on "cleanup costs" of the recent storm to customers after making record profits of $1.9 billion last year. This would be greedy, deceptive and unfair - and it would make me want to do business with a different power company that I can trust and respect.

* PUCO Chairman and Commissioners: If AEP Ohio does apply, reject their application outright. Their failure to plan for sever weather is not their customers' fault or responsibility. It is, however, your responsibility to "assure Ohioans adequate, safe, and reliable public utility services at a fair price."

* Ohio Elected Officials: Use your oversight powers - the ones you were elected to use on behalf of constituents - to ensure the PUCO acts in the best interests of Ohioans and rejects the application. I'm watching to see what happens, and I'll remember in November.

The "cleanup costs" passed on to customers from 2004, 2008, and 2012 combined are less than 15% of AEP Ohio's profits for 2011 alone. Only bad business planning and practices could explain asking customers to bear the cleanup costs.

I don't expect anyone to change the weather, but I do expect you to prepare for it and respond accordingly - just like my family and I do when we know a storm is coming. AEP customers and your constituents won't stand for corporate greed disguised as disaster cleanup, and we won't let our Public Utilities Commission help you, and we won't forget about it if our elected officials fail to act in our interests.

Do the right thing - make AEP pay to clean up its own mess.

Mark Neeley
North Canton, Ohio

Note: this email was sent as part of a petition started on Change.org, viewable at

<http://www.change.org/petitions/aep-don-t-make-customers-pay-for-your-mistakes>. To respond, click here

Lowery, Judy

---

From: heather brocklehurst <mail@change.org>
Sent: Tuesday, July 17, 2012 4:53 PM
To: Snitchler, Todd
Subject: Spam: Don't make customers pay for your mistakes!

AEP executives, PUCO members, and Ohio Statehouse Officials,

I just signed the petition at Change.org/AEP, and I wanted to tell you directly how I feel.

* AEP executives Michael Morris, Nicholas Atkins, and Terri Flora: Don't submit the application requesting the PUCO to let you pass on "cleanup costs" of the recent storm to customers after making record profits of $1.9 billion last year. This would be greedy, deceptive and unfair - and it would make me want to do business with a different power company that I can trust and respect.

* PUCO Chairman and Commissioners: If AEP Ohio does apply, reject their application outright. Their failure to plan for sever weather is not their customers' fault or responsibility. It is, however, your responsibility to "assure Ohioans adequate, safe, and reliable public utility services at a fair price."

* Ohio Elected Officials: Use your oversight powers - the ones you were elected to use on behalf of constituents - to ensure the PUCO acts in the best interests of Ohioans and rejects the application. I'm watching to see what happens, and I'll remember in November.

The "cleanup costs" passed on to customers from 2004, 2008, and 2012 combined are less than 15% of AEP Ohio's profits for 2011 alone. Only bad business planning and practices could explain asking customers to bear the cleanup costs.

I don't expect anyone to change the weather, but I do expect you to prepare for it and respond accordingly - just like my family and I do when we know a storm is coming. AEP customers and your constituents won't stand for corporate greed disguised as disaster cleanup, and we won't let our Public Utilities Commission help you, and we won't forget about it if our elected officials fail to act in our interests.

Do the right thing - make AEP pay to clean up its own mess.

heather brocklehurst
St Clairsville, Ohio

Note: this email was sent as part of a petition started on Change.org, viewable at

<http://www.change.org/petitions/aep-don-t-make-customers-pay-for-your-mistakes>. To respond, click here

Lowery, Judy

---

From: Jennifer Coleman <mail@change.org>
Sent: Tuesday, July 17, 2012 4:52 PM
To: Snitchler, Todd
Subject: Spam: Don't make customers pay for your mistakes!

AEP executives, PUCO members, and Ohio Statehouse Officials,

I just signed the petition at Change.org/AEP, and I wanted to tell you directly how I feel.

* AEP executives Michael Morris, Nicholas Atkins, and Terri Flora: Don't submit the application requesting the PUCO to let you pass on "cleanup costs" of the recent storm to customers after making record profits of $1.9 billion last year. This would be greedy, deceptive and unfair - and it would make me want to do business with a different power company that I can trust and respect.

* PUCO Chairman and Commissioners: If AEP Ohio does apply, reject their application outright. Their failure to plan for sever weather is not their customers' fault or responsibility. It is, however, your responsibility to "assure Ohioans adequate, safe, and reliable public utility services at a fair price."

* Ohio Elected Officials: Use your oversight powers - the ones you were elected to use on behalf of constituents - to ensure the PUCO acts in the best interests of Ohioans and rejects the application. I'm watching to see what happens, and I'll remember in November.

The "cleanup costs" passed on to customers from 2004, 2008, and 2012 combined are less than 15% of AEP Ohio's profits for 2011 alone. Only bad business planning and practices could explain asking customers to bear the cleanup costs.

I don't expect anyone to change the weather, but I do expect you to prepare for it and respond accordingly - just like my family and I do when we know a storm is coming. AEP customers and your constituents won't stand for corporate greed disguised as disaster cleanup, and we won't let our Public Utilities Commission help you, and we won't forget about it if our elected officials fail to act in our interests.

Do the right thing - make AEP pay to clean up its own mess.

Jennifer Coleman
Marion, Ohio

Note: this email was sent as part of a petition started on Change.org, viewable at

<http://www.change.org/petitions/aep-don-t-make-customers-pay-for-your-mistakes>. To respond, click here

Lowery, Judy

---

From: Susan Belair <mail@change.org>
Sent: Tuesday, July 17, 2012 4:52 PM
To: Snitchler, Todd
Subject: Spam: Don't make customers pay for your mistakes!

AEP executives, PUCO members, and Ohio Statehouse Officials,

I just signed the petition at Change.org/AEP, and I wanted to tell you directly how I feel.

* AEP executives Michael Morris, Nicholas Atkins, and Terri Flora: Don't submit the application requesting the PUCO to let you pass on "cleanup costs" of the recent storm to customers after making record profits of $1.9 billion last year. This would be greedy, deceptive and unfair - and it would make me want to do business with a different power company that I can trust and respect.

* PUCO Chairman and Commissioners: If AEP Ohio does apply, reject their application outright. Their failure to plan for sever weather is not their customers' fault or responsibility. It is, however, your responsibility to "assure Ohioans adequate, safe, and reliable public utility services at a fair price."

* Ohio Elected Officials: Use your oversight powers - the ones you were elected to use on behalf of constituents - to ensure the PUCO acts in the best interests of Ohioans and rejects the application. I'm watching to see what happens, and I'll remember in November.

The "cleanup costs" passed on to customers from 2004, 2008, and 2012 combined are less than 15% of AEP Ohio's profits for 2011 alone. Only bad business planning and practices could explain asking customers to bear the cleanup costs.

I don't expect anyone to change the weather, but I do expect you to prepare for it and respond accordingly - just like my family and I do when we know a storm is coming. AEP customers and your constituents won't stand for corporate greed disguised as disaster cleanup, and we won't let our Public Utilities Commission help you, and we won't forget about it if our elected officials fail to act in our interests.

Do the right thing - make AEP pay to clean up its own mess.

Susan Belair
Columbus, Ohio

Note: this email was sent as part of a petition started on Change.org, viewable at

<http://www.change.org/petitions/aep-don-t-make-customers-pay-for-your-mistakes>. To respond, click here

Lowery, Judy

---

From: Sue Koch <mail@change.org>
Sent: Tuesday, July 17, 2012 4:53 PM
To: Snitchler, Todd
Subject: Spam: Don't make customers pay for your mistakes!

AEP executives, PUCO members, and Ohio Statehouse Officials,

I just signed the petition at Change.org/AEP, and I wanted to tell you directly how I feel.

* AEP executives Michael Morris, Nicholas Atkins, and Terri Flora: Don't submit the application requesting the PUCO to let you pass on "cleanup costs" of the recent storm to customers after making record profits of $1.9 billion last year. This would be greedy, deceptive and unfair - and it would make me want to do business with a different power company that I can trust and respect.

* PUCO Chairman and Commissioners: If AEP Ohio does apply, reject their application outright. Their failure to plan for sever weather is not their customers' fault or responsibility. It is, however, your responsibility to "assure Ohioans adequate, safe, and reliable public utility services at a fair price."

* Ohio Elected Officials: Use your oversight powers - the ones you were elected to use on behalf of constituents - to ensure the PUCO acts in the best interests of Ohioans and rejects the application. I'm watching to see what happens, and I'll remember in November.

The "cleanup costs" passed on to customers from 2004, 2008, and 2012 combined are less than 15% of AEP Ohio's profits for 2011 alone. Only bad business planning and practices could explain asking customers to bear the cleanup costs.

I don't expect anyone to change the weather, but I do expect you to prepare for it and respond accordingly - just like my family and I do when we know a storm is coming. AEP customers and your constituents won't stand for corporate greed disguised as disaster cleanup, and we won't let our Public Utilities Commission help you, and we won't forget about it if our elected officials fail to act in our interests.

Do the right thing - make AEP pay to clean up its own mess.

Sue Koch
Ft Jennings, Ohio

Note: this email was sent as part of a petition started on Change.org, viewable at

<http://www.change.org/petitions/aep-don-t-make-customers-pay-for-your-mistakes>. To respond, click here

Lowery, Judy

---

From: fahima yunis <mail@change.org>
Sent: Tuesday, July 17, 2012 4:53 PM
To: Snitchler, Todd
Subject: Spam: Don't make customers pay for your mistakes!

AEP executives, PUCO members, and Ohio Statehouse Officials,

I just signed the petition at Change.org/AEP, and I wanted to tell you directly how I feel.

* AEP executives Michael Morris, Nicholas Atkins, and Terri Flora: Don't submit the application requesting the PUCO to let you pass on "cleanup costs" of the recent storm to customers after making record profits of $1.9 billion last year. This would be greedy, deceptive and unfair - and it would make me want to do business with a different power company that I can trust and respect.

* PUCO Chairman and Commissioners: If AEP Ohio does apply, reject their application outright. Their failure to plan for sever weather is not their customers' fault or responsibility. It is, however, your responsibility to "assure Ohioans adequate, safe, and reliable public utility services at a fair price."

* Ohio Elected Officials: Use your oversight powers - the ones you were elected to use on behalf of constituents - to ensure the PUCO acts in the best interests of Ohioans and rejects the application. I'm watching to see what happens, and I'll remember in November.

The "cleanup costs" passed on to customers from 2004, 2008, and 2012 combined are less than 15% of AEP Ohio's profits for 2011 alone. Only bad business planning and practices could explain asking customers to bear the cleanup costs.

I don't expect anyone to change the weather, but I do expect you to prepare for it and respond accordingly - just like my family and I do when we know a storm is coming. AEP customers and your constituents won't stand for corporate greed disguised as disaster cleanup, and we won't let our Public Utilities Commission help you, and we won't forget about it if our elected officials fail to act in our interests.

Do the right thing - make AEP pay to clean up its own mess.

fahima yunis
Dayton, Ohio

Note: this email was sent as part of a petition started on Change.org, viewable at

<http://www.change.org/petitions/aep-don-t-make-customers-pay-for-your-mistakes>. To respond, click here

Lowery, Judy

---

From: Anthony Chaney <mail@change.org>
Sent: Tuesday, July 17, 2012 4:53 PM
To: Snitchler, Todd
Subject: Spam: Don't make customers pay for your mistakes!

AEP executives, PUCO members, and Ohio Statehouse Officials,

I just signed the petition at Change.org/AEP, and I wanted to tell you directly how I feel.

* AEP executives Michael Morris, Nicholas Atkins, and Terri Flora: Don't submit the application requesting the PUCO to let you pass on "cleanup costs" of the recent storm to customers after making record profits of $1.9 billion last year. This would be greedy, deceptive and unfair - and it would make me want to do business with a different power company that I can trust and respect.

* PUCO Chairman and Commissioners: If AEP Ohio does apply, reject their application outright. Their failure to plan for sever weather is not their customers' fault or responsibility. It is, however, your responsibility to "assure Ohioans adequate, safe, and reliable public utility services at a fair price."

* Ohio Elected Officials: Use your oversight powers - the ones you were elected to use on behalf of constituents - to ensure the PUCO acts in the best interests of Ohioans and rejects the application. I'm watching to see what happens, and I'll remember in November.

The "cleanup costs" passed on to customers from 2004, 2008, and 2012 combined are less than 15% of AEP Ohio's profits for 2011 alone. Only bad business planning and practices could explain asking customers to bear the cleanup costs.

I don't expect anyone to change the weather, but I do expect you to prepare for it and respond accordingly - just like my family and I do when we know a storm is coming. AEP customers and your constituents won't stand for corporate greed disguised as disaster cleanup, and we won't let our Public Utilities Commission help you, and we won't forget about it if our elected officials fail to act in our interests.

Do the right thing - make AEP pay to clean up its own mess.

Anthony Chaney
Pataskala, Ohio

Note: this email was sent as part of a petition started on Change.org, viewable at

<http://www.change.org/petitions/aep-don-t-make-customers-pay-for-your-mistakes>. To respond, click here

Lowery, Judy

---

From: Richard Simpson <mail@change.org>
Sent: Tuesday, July 17, 2012 4:53 PM
To: Snitchler, Todd
Subject: Spam: Don't make customers pay for your mistakes!

AEP executives, PUCO members, and Ohio Statehouse Officials,

I just signed the petition at Change.org/AEP, and I wanted to tell you directly how I feel.

* AEP executives Michael Morris, Nicholas Atkins, and Terri Flora: Don't submit the application requesting the PUCO to let you pass on "cleanup costs" of the recent storm to customers after making record profits of $1.9 billion last year. This would be greedy, deceptive and unfair - and it would make me want to do business with a different power company that I can trust and respect.

* PUCO Chairman and Commissioners: If AEP Ohio does apply, reject their application outright. Their failure to plan for sever weather is not their customers' fault or responsibility. It is, however, your responsibility to "assure Ohioans adequate, safe, and reliable public utility services at a fair price."

* Ohio Elected Officials: Use your oversight powers - the ones you were elected to use on behalf of constituents - to ensure the PUCO acts in the best interests of Ohioans and rejects the application. I'm watching to see what happens, and I'll remember in November.

The "cleanup costs" passed on to customers from 2004, 2008, and 2012 combined are less than 15% of AEP Ohio's profits for 2011 alone. Only bad business planning and practices could explain asking customers to bear the cleanup costs.

I don't expect anyone to change the weather, but I do expect you to prepare for it and respond accordingly - just like my family and I do when we know a storm is coming. AEP customers and your constituents won't stand for corporate greed disguised as disaster cleanup, and we won't let our Public Utilities Commission help you, and we won't forget about it if our elected officials fail to act in our interests.

Do the right thing - make AEP pay to clean up its own mess.

Richard Simpson
Sagamore Hills, Ohio

Note: this email was sent as part of a petition started on Change.org, viewable at

<http://www.change.org/petitions/aep-don-t-make-customers-pay-for-your-mistakes>. To respond, click here

Lowery, Judy

---

From: Robin Harris <mail@change.org>
Sent: Tuesday, July 17, 2012 4:53 PM
To: Snitchler, Todd
Subject: Spam: Don't make customers pay for your mistakes!

AEP executives, PUCO members, and Ohio Statehouse Officials,

I just signed the petition at Change.org/AEP, and I wanted to tell you directly how I feel.

* AEP executives Michael Morris, Nicholas Atkins, and Terri Flora: Don't submit the application requesting the PUCO to let you pass on "cleanup costs" of the recent storm to customers after making record profits of $1.9 billion last year. This would be greedy, deceptive and unfair - and it would make me want to do business with a different power company that I can trust and respect.

* PUCO Chairman and Commissioners: If AEP Ohio does apply, reject their application outright. Their failure to plan for sever weather is not their customers' fault or responsibility. It is, however, your responsibility to "assure Ohioans adequate, safe, and reliable public utility services at a fair price."

* Ohio Elected Officials: Use your oversight powers - the ones you were elected to use on behalf of constituents - to ensure the PUCO acts in the best interests of Ohioans and rejects the application. I'm watching to see what happens, and I'll remember in November.

The "cleanup costs" passed on to customers from 2004, 2008, and 2012 combined are less than 15% of AEP Ohio's profits for 2011 alone. Only bad business planning and practices could explain asking customers to bear the cleanup costs.

I don't expect anyone to change the weather, but I do expect you to prepare for it and respond accordingly - just like my family and I do when we know a storm is coming. AEP customers and your constituents won't stand for corporate greed disguised as disaster cleanup, and we won't let our Public Utilities Commission help you, and we won't forget about it if our elected officials fail to act in our interests.

Do the right thing - make AEP pay to clean up its own mess.

Robin Harris
Rutland, Ohio

Note: this email was sent as part of a petition started on Change.org, viewable at

<http://www.change.org/petitions/aep-don-t-make-customers-pay-for-your-mistakes>. To respond, click here

Lowery, Judy

---

From: donna brown <mail@change.org>
Sent: Tuesday, July 17, 2012 4:53 PM
To: Snitchler, Todd
Subject: Spam: Don't make customers pay for your mistakes!

AEP executives, PUCO members, and Ohio Statehouse Officials,

I just signed the petition at Change.org/AEP, and I wanted to tell you directly how I feel.

* AEP executives Michael Morris, Nicholas Atkins, and Terri Flora: Don't submit the application requesting the PUCO to let you pass on "cleanup costs" of the recent storm to customers after making record profits of $1.9 billion last year. This would be greedy, deceptive and unfair - and it would make me want to do business with a different power company that I can trust and respect.

* PUCO Chairman and Commissioners: If AEP Ohio does apply, reject their application outright. Their failure to plan for sever weather is not their customers' fault or responsibility. It is, however, your responsibility to "assure Ohioans adequate, safe, and reliable public utility services at a fair price."

* Ohio Elected Officials: Use your oversight powers - the ones you were elected to use on behalf of constituents - to ensure the PUCO acts in the best interests of Ohioans and rejects the application. I'm watching to see what happens, and I'll remember in November.

The "cleanup costs" passed on to customers from 2004, 2008, and 2012 combined are less than 15% of AEP Ohio's profits for 2011 alone. Only bad business planning and practices could explain asking customers to bear the cleanup costs.

I don't expect anyone to change the weather, but I do expect you to prepare for it and respond accordingly - just like my family and I do when we know a storm is coming. AEP customers and your constituents won't stand for corporate greed disguised as disaster cleanup, and we won't let our Public Utilities Commission help you, and we won't forget about it if our elected officials fail to act in our interests.

Do the right thing - make AEP pay to clean up its own mess.

donna brown
AKRON, Ohio

Note: this email was sent as part of a petition started on Change.org, viewable at

<http://www.change.org/petitions/aep-don-t-make-customers-pay-for-your-mistakes>. To respond, click here

Lowery, Judy

---

From: Jon Dombrady <mail@change.org>
Sent: Tuesday, July 17, 2012 4:53 PM
To: Snitchler, Todd
Subject: Spam: Don't make customers pay for your mistakes!

AEP executives, PUCO members, and Ohio Statehouse Officials,

I just signed the petition at Change.org/AEP, and I wanted to tell you directly how I feel.

* AEP executives Michael Morris, Nicholas Atkins, and Terri Flora: Don't submit the application requesting the PUCO to let you pass on "cleanup costs" of the recent storm to customers after making record profits of $1.9 billion last year. This would be greedy, deceptive and unfair - and it would make me want to do business with a different power company that I can trust and respect.

* PUCO Chairman and Commissioners: If AEP Ohio does apply, reject their application outright. Their failure to plan for sever weather is not their customers' fault or responsibility. It is, however, your responsibility to "assure Ohioans adequate, safe, and reliable public utility services at a fair price."

* Ohio Elected Officials: Use your oversight powers - the ones you were elected to use on behalf of constituents - to ensure the PUCO acts in the best interests of Ohioans and rejects the application. I'm watching to see what happens, and I'll remember in November.

The "cleanup costs" passed on to customers from 2004, 2008, and 2012 combined are less than 15% of AEP Ohio's profits for 2011 alone. Only bad business planning and practices could explain asking customers to bear the cleanup costs.

I don't expect anyone to change the weather, but I do expect you to prepare for it and respond accordingly - just like my family and I do when we know a storm is coming. AEP customers and your constituents won't stand for corporate greed disguised as disaster cleanup, and we won't let our Public Utilities Commission help you, and we won't forget about it if our elected officials fail to act in our interests.

Do the right thing - make AEP pay to clean up its own mess.

Jon Dombrady
Wadsworth, Ohio

Note: this email was sent as part of a petition started on Change.org, viewable at

<http://www.change.org/petitions/aep-don-t-make-customers-pay-for-your-mistakes>. To respond, click here

Lowery, Judy

---

From: lisa ackerman <mail@change.org>
Sent: Tuesday, July 17, 2012 4:53 PM
To: Snitchler, Todd
Subject: Spam: Don't make customers pay for your mistakes!

AEP executives, PUCO members, and Ohio Statehouse Officials,

I just signed the petition at Change.org/AEP, and I wanted to tell you directly how I feel.

* AEP executives Michael Morris, Nicholas Atkins, and Terri Flora: Don't submit the application requesting the PUCO to let you pass on "cleanup costs" of the recent storm to customers after making record profits of $1.9 billion last year. This would be greedy, deceptive and unfair - and it would make me want to do business with a different power company that I can trust and respect.

* PUCO Chairman and Commissioners: If AEP Ohio does apply, reject their application outright. Their failure to plan for sever weather is not their customers' fault or responsibility. It is, however, your responsibility to "assure Ohioans adequate, safe, and reliable public utility services at a fair price."

* Ohio Elected Officials: Use your oversight powers - the ones you were elected to use on behalf of constituents - to ensure the PUCO acts in the best interests of Ohioans and rejects the application. I'm watching to see what happens, and I'll remember in November.

The "cleanup costs" passed on to customers from 2004, 2008, and 2012 combined are less than 15% of AEP Ohio's profits for 2011 alone. Only bad business planning and practices could explain asking customers to bear the cleanup costs.

I don't expect anyone to change the weather, but I do expect you to prepare for it and respond accordingly - just like my family and I do when we know a storm is coming. AEP customers and your constituents won't stand for corporate greed disguised as disaster cleanup, and we won't let our Public Utilities Commission help you, and we won't forget about it if our elected officials fail to act in our interests.

Do the right thing - make AEP pay to clean up its own mess.

lisa ackerman
Canton, Ohio

Note: this email was sent as part of a petition started on Change.org, viewable at

<http://www.change.org/petitions/aep-don-t-make-customers-pay-for-your-mistakes>. To respond, click here

Lowery, Judy

---

From: Michael Stratton <mail@change.org>
Sent: Tuesday, July 17, 2012 4:53 PM
To: Snitchler, Todd
Subject: Spam: Don't make customers pay for your mistakes!

AEP executives, PUCO members, and Ohio Statehouse Officials,

I just signed the petition at Change.org/AEP, and I wanted to tell you directly how I feel.

* AEP executives Michael Morris, Nicholas Atkins, and Terri Flora: Don't submit the application requesting the PUCO to let you pass on "cleanup costs" of the recent storm to customers after making record profits of $1.9 billion last year. This would be greedy, deceptive and unfair - and it would make me want to do business with a different power company that I can trust and respect.

* PUCO Chairman and Commissioners: If AEP Ohio does apply, reject their application outright. Their failure to plan for sever weather is not their customers' fault or responsibility. It is, however, your responsibility to "assure Ohioans adequate, safe, and reliable public utility services at a fair price."

* Ohio Elected Officials: Use your oversight powers - the ones you were elected to use on behalf of constituents - to ensure the PUCO acts in the best interests of Ohioans and rejects the application. I'm watching to see what happens, and I'll remember in November.

The "cleanup costs" passed on to customers from 2004, 2008, and 2012 combined are less than 15% of AEP Ohio's profits for 2011 alone. Only bad business planning and practices could explain asking customers to bear the cleanup costs.

I don't expect anyone to change the weather, but I do expect you to prepare for it and respond accordingly - just like my family and I do when we know a storm is coming. AEP customers and your constituents won't stand for corporate greed disguised as disaster cleanup, and we won't let our Public Utilities Commission help you, and we won't forget about it if our elected officials fail to act in our interests.

Do the right thing - make AEP pay to clean up its own mess.

How much money is enough for these rich scumbags.

Michael Stratton
Magnolia, Ohio

Note: this email was sent as part of a petition started on Change.org, viewable at

<http://www.change.org/petitions/aep-don-t-make-customers-pay-for-your-mistakes>. To respond, click here

Lowery, Judy

---

From: Michael Morgan <mail@change.org>
Sent: Tuesday, July 17, 2012 4:53 PM
To: Snitchler, Todd
Subject: Spam: Don't make customers pay for your mistakes!

AEP executives, PUCO members, and Ohio Statehouse Officials,

I just signed the petition at Change.org/AEP, and I wanted to tell you directly how I feel.

* AEP executives Michael Morris, Nicholas Atkins, and Terri Flora: Don't submit the application requesting the PUCO to let you pass on "cleanup costs" of the recent storm to customers after making record profits of $1.9 billion last year. This would be greedy, deceptive and unfair - and it would make me want to do business with a different power company that I can trust and respect.

* PUCO Chairman and Commissioners: If AEP Ohio does apply, reject their application outright. Their failure to plan for sever weather is not their customers' fault or responsibility. It is, however, your responsibility to "assure Ohioans adequate, safe, and reliable public utility services at a fair price."

* Ohio Elected Officials: Use your oversight powers - the ones you were elected to use on behalf of constituents - to ensure the PUCO acts in the best interests of Ohioans and rejects the application. I'm watching to see what happens, and I'll remember in November.

The "cleanup costs" passed on to customers from 2004, 2008, and 2012 combined are less than 15% of AEP Ohio's profits for 2011 alone. Only bad business planning and practices could explain asking customers to bear the cleanup costs.

I don't expect anyone to change the weather, but I do expect you to prepare for it and respond accordingly - just like my family and I do when we know a storm is coming. AEP customers and your constituents won't stand for corporate greed disguised as disaster cleanup, and we won't let our Public Utilities Commission help you, and we won't forget about it if our elected officials fail to act in our interests.

Do the right thing - make AEP pay to clean up its own mess.

Michael Morgan
columbus, Ohio

Note: this email was sent as part of a petition started on Change.org, viewable at

<http://www.change.org/petitions/aep-don-t-make-customers-pay-for-your-mistakes>. To respond, click here

Lowery, Judy

---

From: karma Nutter <mail@change.org>
Sent: Tuesday, July 17, 2012 4:53 PM
To: Snitchler, Todd
Subject: Spam: Don't make customers pay for your mistakes!

AEP executives, PUCO members, and Ohio Statehouse Officials,

I just signed the petition at Change.org/AEP, and I wanted to tell you directly how I feel.

* AEP executives Michael Morris, Nicholas Atkins, and Terri Flora: Don't submit the application requesting the PUCO to let you pass on "cleanup costs" of the recent storm to customers after making record profits of $1.9 billion last year. This would be greedy, deceptive and unfair - and it would make me want to do business with a different power company that I can trust and respect.

* PUCO Chairman and Commissioners: If AEP Ohio does apply, reject their application outright. Their failure to plan for sever weather is not their customers' fault or responsibility. It is, however, your responsibility to "assure Ohioans adequate, safe, and reliable public utility services at a fair price."

* Ohio Elected Officials: Use your oversight powers - the ones you were elected to use on behalf of constituents - to ensure the PUCO acts in the best interests of Ohioans and rejects the application. I'm watching to see what happens, and I'll remember in November.

The "cleanup costs" passed on to customers from 2004, 2008, and 2012 combined are less than 15% of AEP Ohio's profits for 2011 alone. Only bad business planning and practices could explain asking customers to bear the cleanup costs.

I don't expect anyone to change the weather, but I do expect you to prepare for it and respond accordingly - just like my family and I do when we know a storm is coming. AEP customers and your constituents won't stand for corporate greed disguised as disaster cleanup, and we won't let our Public Utilities Commission help you, and we won't forget about it if our elected officials fail to act in our interests.

Do the right thing - make AEP pay to clean up its own mess.

karma Nutter
Cincinnati, Ohio

Note: this email was sent as part of a petition started on Change.org, viewable at

<http://www.change.org/petitions/aep-don-t-make-customers-pay-for-your-mistakes>. To respond, click here

Lowery, Judy

---

From: Lara McCormick <mail@change.org>
Sent: Tuesday, July 17, 2012 4:53 PM
To: Snitchler, Todd
Subject: Spam: Don't make customers pay for your mistakes!

AEP executives, PUCO members, and Ohio Statehouse Officials,

I just signed the petition at Change.org/AEP, and I wanted to tell you directly how I feel.

* AEP executives Michael Morris, Nicholas Atkins, and Terri Flora: Don't submit the application requesting the PUCO to let you pass on "cleanup costs" of the recent storm to customers after making record profits of $1.9 billion last year. This would be greedy, deceptive and unfair - and it would make me want to do business with a different power company that I can trust and respect.

* PUCO Chairman and Commissioners: If AEP Ohio does apply, reject their application outright. Their failure to plan for sever weather is not their customers' fault or responsibility. It is, however, your responsibility to "assure Ohioans adequate, safe, and reliable public utility services at a fair price."

* Ohio Elected Officials: Use your oversight powers - the ones you were elected to use on behalf of constituents - to ensure the PUCO acts in the best interests of Ohioans and rejects the application. I'm watching to see what happens, and I'll remember in November.

The "cleanup costs" passed on to customers from 2004, 2008, and 2012 combined are less than 15% of AEP Ohio's profits for 2011 alone. Only bad business planning and practices could explain asking customers to bear the cleanup costs.

I don't expect anyone to change the weather, but I do expect you to prepare for it and respond accordingly - just like my family and I do when we know a storm is coming. AEP customers and your constituents won't stand for corporate greed disguised as disaster cleanup, and we won't let our Public Utilities Commission help you, and we won't forget about it if our elected officials fail to act in our interests.

Do the right thing - make AEP pay to clean up its own mess.

Lara McCormick
Columbus, Ohio

Note: this email was sent as part of a petition started on Change.org, viewable at

<http://www.change.org/petitions/aep-don-t-make-customers-pay-for-your-mistakes>. To respond, click here

Lowery, Judy

---

From: Rachel Tolleson <mail@change.org>
Sent: Tuesday, July 17, 2012 4:53 PM
To: Snitchler, Todd
Subject: Spam: Don't make customers pay for your mistakes!

AEP executives, PUCO members, and Ohio Statehouse Officials,

I just signed the petition at Change.org/AEP, and I wanted to tell you directly how I feel.

* AEP executives Michael Morris, Nicholas Atkins, and Terri Flora: Don't submit the application requesting the PUCO to let you pass on "cleanup costs" of the recent storm to customers after making record profits of $1.9 billion last year. This would be greedy, deceptive and unfair - and it would make me want to do business with a different power company that I can trust and respect.

* PUCO Chairman and Commissioners: If AEP Ohio does apply, reject their application outright. Their failure to plan for sever weather is not their customers' fault or responsibility. It is, however, your responsibility to "assure Ohioans adequate, safe, and reliable public utility services at a fair price."

* Ohio Elected Officials: Use your oversight powers - the ones you were elected to use on behalf of constituents - to ensure the PUCO acts in the best interests of Ohioans and rejects the application. I'm watching to see what happens, and I'll remember in November.

The "cleanup costs" passed on to customers from 2004, 2008, and 2012 combined are less than 15% of AEP Ohio's profits for 2011 alone. Only bad business planning and practices could explain asking customers to bear the cleanup costs.

I don't expect anyone to change the weather, but I do expect you to prepare for it and respond accordingly - just like my family and I do when we know a storm is coming. AEP customers and your constituents won't stand for corporate greed disguised as disaster cleanup, and we won't let our Public Utilities Commission help you, and we won't forget about it if our elected officials fail to act in our interests.

Do the right thing - make AEP pay to clean up its own mess.

Rachel Tolleson
Columbus, Ohio

Note: this email was sent as part of a petition started on Change.org, viewable at

<http://www.change.org/petitions/aep-don-t-make-customers-pay-for-your-mistakes>. To respond, click here

Lowery, Judy

---

From: barbara mehok <mail@change.org>
Sent: Tuesday, July 17, 2012 4:53 PM
To: Snitchler, Todd
Subject: Spam: Don't make customers pay for your mistakes!

AEP executives, PUCO members, and Ohio Statehouse Officials,

I just signed the petition at Change.org/AEP, and I wanted to tell you directly how I feel.

* AEP executives Michael Morris, Nicholas Atkins, and Terri Flora: Don't submit the application requesting the PUCO to let you pass on "cleanup costs" of the recent storm to customers after making record profits of $1.9 billion last year. This would be greedy, deceptive and unfair - and it would make me want to do business with a different power company that I can trust and respect.

* PUCO Chairman and Commissioners: If AEP Ohio does apply, reject their application outright. Their failure to plan for sever weather is not their customers' fault or responsibility. It is, however, your responsibility to "assure Ohioans adequate, safe, and reliable public utility services at a fair price."

* Ohio Elected Officials: Use your oversight powers - the ones you were elected to use on behalf of constituents - to ensure the PUCO acts in the best interests of Ohioans and rejects the application. I'm watching to see what happens, and I'll remember in November.

The "cleanup costs" passed on to customers from 2004, 2008, and 2012 combined are less than 15% of AEP Ohio's profits for 2011 alone. Only bad business planning and practices could explain asking customers to bear the cleanup costs.

I don't expect anyone to change the weather, but I do expect you to prepare for it and respond accordingly - just like my family and I do when we know a storm is coming. AEP customers and your constituents won't stand for corporate greed disguised as disaster cleanup, and we won't let our Public Utilities Commission help you, and we won't forget about it if our elected officials fail to act in our interests.

Do the right thing - make AEP pay to clean up its own mess.

barbara mehok
Heath, Ohio

Note: this email was sent as part of a petition started on Change.org, viewable at

<http://www.change.org/petitions/aep-don-t-make-customers-pay-for-your-mistakes>. To respond, click here

Lowery, Judy

---

From: Patsy Warner <mail@change.org>
Sent: Tuesday, July 17, 2012 4:53 PM
To: Snitchler, Todd
Subject: Spam: Don't make customers pay for your mistakes!

AEP executives, PUCO members, and Ohio Statehouse Officials,

I just signed the petition at Change.org/AEP, and I wanted to tell you directly how I feel.

* AEP executives Michael Morris, Nicholas Atkins, and Terri Flora: Don't submit the application requesting the PUCO to let you pass on "cleanup costs" of the recent storm to customers after making record profits of $1.9 billion last year. This would be greedy, deceptive and unfair - and it would make me want to do business with a different power company that I can trust and respect.

* PUCO Chairman and Commissioners: If AEP Ohio does apply, reject their application outright. Their failure to plan for sever weather is not their customers' fault or responsibility. It is, however, your responsibility to "assure Ohioans adequate, safe, and reliable public utility services at a fair price."

* Ohio Elected Officials: Use your oversight powers - the ones you were elected to use on behalf of constituents - to ensure the PUCO acts in the best interests of Ohioans and rejects the application. I'm watching to see what happens, and I'll remember in November.

The "cleanup costs" passed on to customers from 2004, 2008, and 2012 combined are less than 15% of AEP Ohio's profits for 2011 alone. Only bad business planning and practices could explain asking customers to bear the cleanup costs.

I don't expect anyone to change the weather, but I do expect you to prepare for it and respond accordingly - just like my family and I do when we know a storm is coming. AEP customers and your constituents won't stand for corporate greed disguised as disaster cleanup, and we won't let our Public Utilities Commission help you, and we won't forget about it if our elected officials fail to act in our interests.

Do the right thing - make AEP pay to clean up its own mess.

Patsy Warner
Syracuse, Ohio

Note: this email was sent as part of a petition started on Change.org, viewable at

<http://www.change.org/petitions/aep-don-t-make-customers-pay-for-your-mistakes>. To respond, click here

Lowery, Judy

---

From: kathleen egry <mail@change.org>
Sent: Tuesday, July 17, 2012 4:53 PM
To: Snitchler, Todd
Subject: Spam: Don't make customers pay for your mistakes!

AEP executives, PUCO members, and Ohio Statehouse Officials,

I just signed the petition at Change.org/AEP, and I wanted to tell you directly how I feel.

* AEP executives Michael Morris, Nicholas Atkins, and Terri Flora: Don't submit the application requesting the PUCO to let you pass on "cleanup costs" of the recent storm to customers after making record profits of $1.9 billion last year. This would be greedy, deceptive and unfair - and it would make me want to do business with a different power company that I can trust and respect.

* PUCO Chairman and Commissioners: If AEP Ohio does apply, reject their application outright. Their failure to plan for sever weather is not their customers' fault or responsibility. It is, however, your responsibility to "assure Ohioans adequate, safe, and reliable public utility services at a fair price."

* Ohio Elected Officials: Use your oversight powers - the ones you were elected to use on behalf of constituents - to ensure the PUCO acts in the best interests of Ohioans and rejects the application. I'm watching to see what happens, and I'll remember in November.

The "cleanup costs" passed on to customers from 2004, 2008, and 2012 combined are less than 15% of AEP Ohio's profits for 2011 alone. Only bad business planning and practices could explain asking customers to bear the cleanup costs.

I don't expect anyone to change the weather, but I do expect you to prepare for it and respond accordingly - just like my family and I do when we know a storm is coming. AEP customers and your constituents won't stand for corporate greed disguised as disaster cleanup, and we won't let our Public Utilities Commission help you, and we won't forget about it if our elected officials fail to act in our interests.

Do the right thing - make AEP pay to clean up its own mess.

kathleen egry
mineral ridge, Ohio

Note: this email was sent as part of a petition started on Change.org, viewable at

<http://www.change.org/petitions/aep-don-t-make-customers-pay-for-your-mistakes>. To respond, click here

Lowery, Judy

---

From: coral abel <mail@change.org>
Sent: Tuesday, July 17, 2012 4:53 PM
To: Snitchler, Todd
Subject: Spam: Don't make customers pay for your mistakes!

AEP executives, PUCO members, and Ohio Statehouse Officials,

I just signed the petition at Change.org/AEP, and I wanted to tell you directly how I feel.

* AEP executives Michael Morris, Nicholas Atkins, and Terri Flora: Don't submit the application requesting the PUCO to let you pass on "cleanup costs" of the recent storm to customers after making record profits of $1.9 billion last year. This would be greedy, deceptive and unfair - and it would make me want to do business with a different power company that I can trust and respect.

* PUCO Chairman and Commissioners: If AEP Ohio does apply, reject their application outright. Their failure to plan for sever weather is not their customers' fault or responsibility. It is, however, your responsibility to "assure Ohioans adequate, safe, and reliable public utility services at a fair price."

* Ohio Elected Officials: Use your oversight powers - the ones you were elected to use on behalf of constituents - to ensure the PUCO acts in the best interests of Ohioans and rejects the application. I'm watching to see what happens, and I'll remember in November.

The "cleanup costs" passed on to customers from 2004, 2008, and 2012 combined are less than 15% of AEP Ohio's profits for 2011 alone. Only bad business planning and practices could explain asking customers to bear the cleanup costs.

I don't expect anyone to change the weather, but I do expect you to prepare for it and respond accordingly - just like my family and I do when we know a storm is coming. AEP customers and your constituents won't stand for corporate greed disguised as disaster cleanup, and we won't let our Public Utilities Commission help you, and we won't forget about it if our elected officials fail to act in our interests.

Do the right thing - make AEP pay to clean up its own mess.

coral abel
Carrollton, Ohio

Note: this email was sent as part of a petition started on Change.org, viewable at

<http://www.change.org/petitions/aep-don-t-make-customers-pay-for-your-mistakes>. To respond, click here

Lowery, Judy

---

From: Mary Seevers <mail@change.org>
Sent: Tuesday, July 17, 2012 4:54 PM
To: Snitchler, Todd
Subject: Spam: Don't make customers pay for your mistakes!

AEP executives, PUCO members, and Ohio Statehouse Officials,

I just signed the petition at Change.org/AEP, and I wanted to tell you directly how I feel.

* AEP executives Michael Morris, Nicholas Atkins, and Terri Flora: Don't submit the application requesting the PUCO to let you pass on "cleanup costs" of the recent storm to customers after making record profits of $1.9 billion last year. This would be greedy, deceptive and unfair - and it would make me want to do business with a different power company that I can trust and respect.

* PUCO Chairman and Commissioners: If AEP Ohio does apply, reject their application outright. Their failure to plan for sever weather is not their customers' fault or responsibility. It is, however, your responsibility to "assure Ohioans adequate, safe, and reliable public utility services at a fair price."

* Ohio Elected Officials: Use your oversight powers - the ones you were elected to use on behalf of constituents - to ensure the PUCO acts in the best interests of Ohioans and rejects the application. I'm watching to see what happens, and I'll remember in November.

The "cleanup costs" passed on to customers from 2004, 2008, and 2012 combined are less than 15% of AEP Ohio's profits for 2011 alone. Only bad business planning and practices could explain asking customers to bear the cleanup costs.

I don't expect anyone to change the weather, but I do expect you to prepare for it and respond accordingly - just like my family and I do when we know a storm is coming. AEP customers and your constituents won't stand for corporate greed disguised as disaster cleanup, and we won't let our Public Utilities Commission help you, and we won't forget about it if our elected officials fail to act in our interests.

Do the right thing - make AEP pay to clean up its own mess.

Mary Seevers

,

Note: this email was sent as part of a petition started on Change.org, viewable at

<http://www.change.org/petitions/aep-don-t-make-customers-pay-for-your-mistakes>. To respond, click here

Lowery, Judy

---

From: William Nixon <mail@change.org>
Sent: Tuesday, July 17, 2012 4:54 PM
To: Snitchler, Todd
Subject: Spam: Don't make customers pay for your mistakes!

AEP executives, PUCO members, and Ohio Statehouse Officials,

I just signed the petition at Change.org/AEP, and I wanted to tell you directly how I feel.

* AEP executives Michael Morris, Nicholas Atkins, and Terri Flora: Don't submit the application requesting the PUCO to let you pass on "cleanup costs" of the recent storm to customers after making record profits of $1.9 billion last year. This would be greedy, deceptive and unfair - and it would make me want to do business with a different power company that I can trust and respect.

* PUCO Chairman and Commissioners: If AEP Ohio does apply, reject their application outright. Their failure to plan for sever weather is not their customers' fault or responsibility. It is, however, your responsibility to "assure Ohioans adequate, safe, and reliable public utility services at a fair price."

* Ohio Elected Officials: Use your oversight powers - the ones you were elected to use on behalf of constituents - to ensure the PUCO acts in the best interests of Ohioans and rejects the application. I'm watching to see what happens, and I'll remember in November.

The "cleanup costs" passed on to customers from 2004, 2008, and 2012 combined are less than 15% of AEP Ohio's profits for 2011 alone. Only bad business planning and practices could explain asking customers to bear the cleanup costs.

I don't expect anyone to change the weather, but I do expect you to prepare for it and respond accordingly - just like my family and I do when we know a storm is coming. AEP customers and your constituents won't stand for corporate greed disguised as disaster cleanup, and we won't let our Public Utilities Commission help you, and we won't forget about it if our elected officials fail to act in our interests.

Do the right thing - make AEP pay to clean up its own mess.

William Nixon
Columbus, Ohio

Note: this email was sent as part of a petition started on Change.org, viewable at

<http://www.change.org/petitions/aep-don-t-make-customers-pay-for-your-mistakes>. To respond, click here

Lowery, Judy

---

From: Carol Nixon <mail@change.org>
Sent: Tuesday, July 17, 2012 4:54 PM
To: Snitchler, Todd
Subject: Spam: Don't make customers pay for your mistakes!

AEP executives, PUCO members, and Ohio Statehouse Officials,

I just signed the petition at Change.org/AEP, and I wanted to tell you directly how I feel.

* AEP executives Michael Morris, Nicholas Atkins, and Terri Flora: Don't submit the application requesting the PUCO to let you pass on "cleanup costs" of the recent storm to customers after making record profits of $1.9 billion last year. This would be greedy, deceptive and unfair - and it would make me want to do business with a different power company that I can trust and respect.

* PUCO Chairman and Commissioners: If AEP Ohio does apply, reject their application outright. Their failure to plan for sever weather is not their customers' fault or responsibility. It is, however, your responsibility to "assure Ohioans adequate, safe, and reliable public utility services at a fair price."

* Ohio Elected Officials: Use your oversight powers - the ones you were elected to use on behalf of constituents - to ensure the PUCO acts in the best interests of Ohioans and rejects the application. I'm watching to see what happens, and I'll remember in November.

The "cleanup costs" passed on to customers from 2004, 2008, and 2012 combined are less than 15% of AEP Ohio's profits for 2011 alone. Only bad business planning and practices could explain asking customers to bear the cleanup costs.

I don't expect anyone to change the weather, but I do expect you to prepare for it and respond accordingly - just like my family and I do when we know a storm is coming. AEP customers and your constituents won't stand for corporate greed disguised as disaster cleanup, and we won't let our Public Utilities Commission help you, and we won't forget about it if our elected officials fail to act in our interests.

Do the right thing - make AEP pay to clean up its own mess.

Carol Nixon
Cincinnati, Ohio

Note: this email was sent as part of a petition started on Change.org, viewable at

<http://www.change.org/petitions/aep-don-t-make-customers-pay-for-your-mistakes>. To respond, click here

Lowery, Judy

---

From: Kathy Hatfield <mail@change.org>
Sent: Tuesday, July 17, 2012 4:54 PM
To: Snitchler, Todd
Subject: Spam: Don't make customers pay for your mistakes!

AEP executives, PUCO members, and Ohio Statehouse Officials,

I just signed the petition at Change.org/AEP, and I wanted to tell you directly how I feel.

* AEP executives Michael Morris, Nicholas Atkins, and Terri Flora: Don't submit the application requesting the PUCO to let you pass on "cleanup costs" of the recent storm to customers after making record profits of $1.9 billion last year. This would be greedy, deceptive and unfair - and it would make me want to do business with a different power company that I can trust and respect.

* PUCO Chairman and Commissioners: If AEP Ohio does apply, reject their application outright. Their failure to plan for sever weather is not their customers' fault or responsibility. It is, however, your responsibility to "assure Ohioans adequate, safe, and reliable public utility services at a fair price."

* Ohio Elected Officials: Use your oversight powers - the ones you were elected to use on behalf of constituents - to ensure the PUCO acts in the best interests of Ohioans and rejects the application. I'm watching to see what happens, and I'll remember in November.

The "cleanup costs" passed on to customers from 2004, 2008, and 2012 combined are less than 15% of AEP Ohio's profits for 2011 alone. Only bad business planning and practices could explain asking customers to bear the cleanup costs.

I don't expect anyone to change the weather, but I do expect you to prepare for it and respond accordingly - just like my family and I do when we know a storm is coming. AEP customers and your constituents won't stand for corporate greed disguised as disaster cleanup, and we won't let our Public Utilities Commission help you, and we won't forget about it if our elected officials fail to act in our interests.

Do the right thing - make AEP pay to clean up its own mess.

Kathy Hatfield
Hilliard, Ohio

Note: this email was sent as part of a petition started on Change.org, viewable at

<http://www.change.org/petitions/aep-don-t-make-customers-pay-for-your-mistakes>. To respond, click here

Lowery, Judy

---

From: meranda fox <mail@change.org>
Sent: Tuesday, July 17, 2012 4:54 PM
To: Snitchler, Todd
Subject: Spam: Don't make customers pay for your mistakes!

AEP executives, PUCO members, and Ohio Statehouse Officials,

I just signed the petition at Change.org/AEP, and I wanted to tell you directly how I feel.

* AEP executives Michael Morris, Nicholas Atkins, and Terri Flora: Don't submit the application requesting the PUCO to let you pass on "cleanup costs" of the recent storm to customers after making record profits of $1.9 billion last year. This would be greedy, deceptive and unfair - and it would make me want to do business with a different power company that I can trust and respect.

* PUCO Chairman and Commissioners: If AEP Ohio does apply, reject their application outright. Their failure to plan for sever weather is not their customers' fault or responsibility. It is, however, your responsibility to "assure Ohioans adequate, safe, and reliable public utility services at a fair price."

* Ohio Elected Officials: Use your oversight powers - the ones you were elected to use on behalf of constituents - to ensure the PUCO acts in the best interests of Ohioans and rejects the application. I'm watching to see what happens, and I'll remember in November.

The "cleanup costs" passed on to customers from 2004, 2008, and 2012 combined are less than 15% of AEP Ohio's profits for 2011 alone. Only bad business planning and practices could explain asking customers to bear the cleanup costs.

I don't expect anyone to change the weather, but I do expect you to prepare for it and respond accordingly - just like my family and I do when we know a storm is coming. AEP customers and your constituents won't stand for corporate greed disguised as disaster cleanup, and we won't let our Public Utilities Commission help you, and we won't forget about it if our elected officials fail to act in our interests.

Do the right thing - make AEP pay to clean up its own mess.

meranda fox
Zanesville, Ohio

Note: this email was sent as part of a petition started on Change.org, viewable at

<http://www.change.org/petitions/aep-don-t-make-customers-pay-for-your-mistakes>. To respond, click here

Lowery, Judy

---

From: Bryna Marshall <mail@change.org>
Sent: Tuesday, July 17, 2012 4:54 PM
To: Snitchler, Todd
Subject: Spam: Don't make customers pay for your mistakes!

AEP executives, PUCO members, and Ohio Statehouse Officials,

I just signed the petition at Change.org/AEP, and I wanted to tell you directly how I feel.

* AEP executives Michael Morris, Nicholas Atkins, and Terri Flora: Don't submit the application requesting the PUCO to let you pass on "cleanup costs" of the recent storm to customers after making record profits of $1.9 billion last year. This would be greedy, deceptive and unfair - and it would make me want to do business with a different power company that I can trust and respect.

* PUCO Chairman and Commissioners: If AEP Ohio does apply, reject their application outright. Their failure to plan for sever weather is not their customers' fault or responsibility. It is, however, your responsibility to "assure Ohioans adequate, safe, and reliable public utility services at a fair price."

* Ohio Elected Officials: Use your oversight powers - the ones you were elected to use on behalf of constituents - to ensure the PUCO acts in the best interests of Ohioans and rejects the application. I'm watching to see what happens, and I'll remember in November.

The "cleanup costs" passed on to customers from 2004, 2008, and 2012 combined are less than 15% of AEP Ohio's profits for 2011 alone. Only bad business planning and practices could explain asking customers to bear the cleanup costs.

I don't expect anyone to change the weather, but I do expect you to prepare for it and respond accordingly - just like my family and I do when we know a storm is coming. AEP customers and your constituents won't stand for corporate greed disguised as disaster cleanup, and we won't let our Public Utilities Commission help you, and we won't forget about it if our elected officials fail to act in our interests.

Do the right thing - make AEP pay to clean up its own mess.

Bryna Marshall
Archbold, Ohio

Note: this email was sent as part of a petition started on Change.org, viewable at

<http://www.change.org/petitions/aep-don-t-make-customers-pay-for-your-mistakes>. To respond, click here

Lowery, Judy

---

From: Lisa Chesterfield <mail@change.org>
Sent: Tuesday, July 17, 2012 4:54 PM
To: Snitchler, Todd
Subject: Spam: Don't make customers pay for your mistakes!

AEP executives, PUCO members, and Ohio Statehouse Officials,

I just signed the petition at Change.org/AEP, and I wanted to tell you directly how I feel.

* AEP executives Michael Morris, Nicholas Atkins, and Terri Flora: Don't submit the application requesting the PUCO to let you pass on "cleanup costs" of the recent storm to customers after making record profits of $1.9 billion last year. This would be greedy, deceptive and unfair - and it would make me want to do business with a different power company that I can trust and respect.

* PUCO Chairman and Commissioners: If AEP Ohio does apply, reject their application outright. Their failure to plan for sever weather is not their customers' fault or responsibility. It is, however, your responsibility to "assure Ohioans adequate, safe, and reliable public utility services at a fair price."

* Ohio Elected Officials: Use your oversight powers - the ones you were elected to use on behalf of constituents - to ensure the PUCO acts in the best interests of Ohioans and rejects the application. I'm watching to see what happens, and I'll remember in November.

The "cleanup costs" passed on to customers from 2004, 2008, and 2012 combined are less than 15% of AEP Ohio's profits for 2011 alone. Only bad business planning and practices could explain asking customers to bear the cleanup costs.

I don't expect anyone to change the weather, but I do expect you to prepare for it and respond accordingly - just like my family and I do when we know a storm is coming. AEP customers and your constituents won't stand for corporate greed disguised as disaster cleanup, and we won't let our Public Utilities Commission help you, and we won't forget about it if our elected officials fail to act in our interests.

Do the right thing - make AEP pay to clean up its own mess.

Lisa Chesterfield
Canton, Ohio

Note: this email was sent as part of a petition started on Change.org, viewable at

<http://www.change.org/petitions/aep-don-t-make-customers-pay-for-your-mistakes>. To respond, click here

Lowery, Judy

---

From: BEATA HENLEY <mail@change.org>
Sent: Tuesday, July 17, 2012 4:54 PM
To: Snitchler, Todd
Subject: Spam: Don't make customers pay for your mistakes!

AEP executives, PUCO members, and Ohio Statehouse Officials,

I just signed the petition at Change.org/AEP, and I wanted to tell you directly how I feel.

* AEP executives Michael Morris, Nicholas Atkins, and Terri Flora: Don't submit the application requesting the PUCO to let you pass on "cleanup costs" of the recent storm to customers after making record profits of $1.9 billion last year. This would be greedy, deceptive and unfair - and it would make me want to do business with a different power company that I can trust and respect.

* PUCO Chairman and Commissioners: If AEP Ohio does apply, reject their application outright. Their failure to plan for sever weather is not their customers' fault or responsibility. It is, however, your responsibility to "assure Ohioans adequate, safe, and reliable public utility services at a fair price."

* Ohio Elected Officials: Use your oversight powers - the ones you were elected to use on behalf of constituents - to ensure the PUCO acts in the best interests of Ohioans and rejects the application. I'm watching to see what happens, and I'll remember in November.

The "cleanup costs" passed on to customers from 2004, 2008, and 2012 combined are less than 15% of AEP Ohio's profits for 2011 alone. Only bad business planning and practices could explain asking customers to bear the cleanup costs.

I don't expect anyone to change the weather, but I do expect you to prepare for it and respond accordingly - just like my family and I do when we know a storm is coming. AEP customers and your constituents won't stand for corporate greed disguised as disaster cleanup, and we won't let our Public Utilities Commission help you, and we won't forget about it if our elected officials fail to act in our interests.

Do the right thing - make AEP pay to clean up its own mess.

BEATA HENLEY
Dayton, Ohio

Note: this email was sent as part of a petition started on Change.org, viewable at

<http://www.change.org/petitions/aep-don-t-make-customers-pay-for-your-mistakes>. To respond, click here

Lowery, Judy

---

From: Cole Akins <mail@change.org>
Sent: Tuesday, July 17, 2012 4:54 PM
To: Snitchler, Todd
Subject: Spam: Don't make customers pay for your mistakes!

AEP executives, PUCO members, and Ohio Statehouse Officials,

I just signed the petition at Change.org/AEP, and I wanted to tell you directly how I feel.

* AEP executives Michael Morris, Nicholas Atkins, and Terri Flora: Don't submit the application requesting the PUCO to let you pass on "cleanup costs" of the recent storm to customers after making record profits of $1.9 billion last year. This would be greedy, deceptive and unfair - and it would make me want to do business with a different power company that I can trust and respect.

* PUCO Chairman and Commissioners: If AEP Ohio does apply, reject their application outright. Their failure to plan for sever weather is not their customers' fault or responsibility. It is, however, your responsibility to "assure Ohioans adequate, safe, and reliable public utility services at a fair price."

* Ohio Elected Officials: Use your oversight powers - the ones you were elected to use on behalf of constituents - to ensure the PUCO acts in the best interests of Ohioans and rejects the application. I'm watching to see what happens, and I'll remember in November.

The "cleanup costs" passed on to customers from 2004, 2008, and 2012 combined are less than 15% of AEP Ohio's profits for 2011 alone. Only bad business planning and practices could explain asking customers to bear the cleanup costs.

I don't expect anyone to change the weather, but I do expect you to prepare for it and respond accordingly - just like my family and I do when we know a storm is coming. AEP customers and your constituents won't stand for corporate greed disguised as disaster cleanup, and we won't let our Public Utilities Commission help you, and we won't forget about it if our elected officials fail to act in our interests.

Do the right thing - make AEP pay to clean up its own mess.

Cole Akins
Columbus, Ohio

Note: this email was sent as part of a petition started on Change.org, viewable at

<http://www.change.org/petitions/aep-don-t-make-customers-pay-for-your-mistakes>. To respond, click here

Lowery, Judy

---

From: xavier suggs <mail@change.org>
Sent: Tuesday, July 17, 2012 4:54 PM
To: Snitchler, Todd
Subject: Spam: Don't make customers pay for your mistakes!

AEP executives, PUCO members, and Ohio Statehouse Officials,

I just signed the petition at Change.org/AEP, and I wanted to tell you directly how I feel.

* AEP executives Michael Morris, Nicholas Atkins, and Terri Flora: Don't submit the application requesting the PUCO to let you pass on "cleanup costs" of the recent storm to customers after making record profits of $1.9 billion last year. This would be greedy, deceptive and unfair - and it would make me want to do business with a different power company that I can trust and respect.

* PUCO Chairman and Commissioners: If AEP Ohio does apply, reject their application outright. Their failure to plan for sever weather is not their customers' fault or responsibility. It is, however, your responsibility to "assure Ohioans adequate, safe, and reliable public utility services at a fair price."

* Ohio Elected Officials: Use your oversight powers - the ones you were elected to use on behalf of constituents - to ensure the PUCO acts in the best interests of Ohioans and rejects the application. I'm watching to see what happens, and I'll remember in November.

The "cleanup costs" passed on to customers from 2004, 2008, and 2012 combined are less than 15% of AEP Ohio's profits for 2011 alone. Only bad business planning and practices could explain asking customers to bear the cleanup costs.

I don't expect anyone to change the weather, but I do expect you to prepare for it and respond accordingly - just like my family and I do when we know a storm is coming. AEP customers and your constituents won't stand for corporate greed disguised as disaster cleanup, and we won't let our Public Utilities Commission help you, and we won't forget about it if our elected officials fail to act in our interests.

Do the right thing - make AEP pay to clean up its own mess.

xavier suggs
Zanesville, Ohio

Note: this email was sent as part of a petition started on Change.org, viewable at

<http://www.change.org/petitions/aep-don-t-make-customers-pay-for-your-mistakes>. To respond, click here

Lowery, Judy

---

From: Emily Axel <mail@change.org>
Sent: Tuesday, July 17, 2012 4:54 PM
To: Snitchler, Todd
Subject: Spam: Don't make customers pay for your mistakes!

AEP executives, PUCO members, and Ohio Statehouse Officials,

I just signed the petition at Change.org/AEP, and I wanted to tell you directly how I feel.

* AEP executives Michael Morris, Nicholas Atkins, and Terri Flora: Don't submit the application requesting the PUCO to let you pass on "cleanup costs" of the recent storm to customers after making record profits of $1.9 billion last year. This would be greedy, deceptive and unfair - and it would make me want to do business with a different power company that I can trust and respect.

* PUCO Chairman and Commissioners: If AEP Ohio does apply, reject their application outright. Their failure to plan for sever weather is not their customers' fault or responsibility. It is, however, your responsibility to "assure Ohioans adequate, safe, and reliable public utility services at a fair price."

* Ohio Elected Officials: Use your oversight powers - the ones you were elected to use on behalf of constituents - to ensure the PUCO acts in the best interests of Ohioans and rejects the application. I'm watching to see what happens, and I'll remember in November.

The "cleanup costs" passed on to customers from 2004, 2008, and 2012 combined are less than 15% of AEP Ohio's profits for 2011 alone. Only bad business planning and practices could explain asking customers to bear the cleanup costs.

I don't expect anyone to change the weather, but I do expect you to prepare for it and respond accordingly - just like my family and I do when we know a storm is coming. AEP customers and your constituents won't stand for corporate greed disguised as disaster cleanup, and we won't let our Public Utilities Commission help you, and we won't forget about it if our elected officials fail to act in our interests.

Do the right thing - make AEP pay to clean up its own mess.

Emily Axel
Columbus, Ohio

Note: this email was sent as part of a petition started on Change.org, viewable at

<http://www.change.org/petitions/aep-don-t-make-customers-pay-for-your-mistakes>. To respond, click here

Lowery, Judy

---

From: Samantha Webster <mail@change.org>
Sent: Tuesday, July 17, 2012 4:54 PM
To: Snitchler, Todd
Subject: Spam: Don't make customers pay for your mistakes!

AEP executives, PUCO members, and Ohio Statehouse Officials,

I just signed the petition at Change.org/AEP, and I wanted to tell you directly how I feel.

* AEP executives Michael Morris, Nicholas Atkins, and Terri Flora: Don't submit the application requesting the PUCO to let you pass on "cleanup costs" of the recent storm to customers after making record profits of $1.9 billion last year. This would be greedy, deceptive and unfair - and it would make me want to do business with a different power company that I can trust and respect.

* PUCO Chairman and Commissioners: If AEP Ohio does apply, reject their application outright. Their failure to plan for sever weather is not their customers' fault or responsibility. It is, however, your responsibility to "assure Ohioans adequate, safe, and reliable public utility services at a fair price."

* Ohio Elected Officials: Use your oversight powers - the ones you were elected to use on behalf of constituents - to ensure the PUCO acts in the best interests of Ohioans and rejects the application. I'm watching to see what happens, and I'll remember in November.

The "cleanup costs" passed on to customers from 2004, 2008, and 2012 combined are less than 15% of AEP Ohio's profits for 2011 alone. Only bad business planning and practices could explain asking customers to bear the cleanup costs.

I don't expect anyone to change the weather, but I do expect you to prepare for it and respond accordingly - just like my family and I do when we know a storm is coming. AEP customers and your constituents won't stand for corporate greed disguised as disaster cleanup, and we won't let our Public Utilities Commission help you, and we won't forget about it if our elected officials fail to act in our interests.

Do the right thing - make AEP pay to clean up its own mess.

Samantha Webster
Convoy, Ohio

Note: this email was sent as part of a petition started on Change.org, viewable at

<http://www.change.org/petitions/aep-don-t-make-customers-pay-for-your-mistakes>. To respond, click here

Lowery, Judy

---

From: Roger Sams <mail@change.org>
Sent: Tuesday, July 17, 2012 4:54 PM
To: Snitchler, Todd
Subject: Spam: Don't make customers pay for your mistakes!

AEP executives, PUCO members, and Ohio Statehouse Officials,

I just signed the petition at Change.org/AEP, and I wanted to tell you directly how I feel.

* AEP executives Michael Morris, Nicholas Atkins, and Terri Flora: Don't submit the application requesting the PUCO to let you pass on "cleanup costs" of the recent storm to customers after making record profits of $1.9 billion last year. This would be greedy, deceptive and unfair - and it would make me want to do business with a different power company that I can trust and respect.

* PUCO Chairman and Commissioners: If AEP Ohio does apply, reject their application outright. Their failure to plan for sever weather is not their customers' fault or responsibility. It is, however, your responsibility to "assure Ohioans adequate, safe, and reliable public utility services at a fair price."

* Ohio Elected Officials: Use your oversight powers - the ones you were elected to use on behalf of constituents - to ensure the PUCO acts in the best interests of Ohioans and rejects the application. I'm watching to see what happens, and I'll remember in November.

The "cleanup costs" passed on to customers from 2004, 2008, and 2012 combined are less than 15% of AEP Ohio's profits for 2011 alone. Only bad business planning and practices could explain asking customers to bear the cleanup costs.

I don't expect anyone to change the weather, but I do expect you to prepare for it and respond accordingly - just like my family and I do when we know a storm is coming. AEP customers and your constituents won't stand for corporate greed disguised as disaster cleanup, and we won't let our Public Utilities Commission help you, and we won't forget about it if our elected officials fail to act in our interests.

Do the right thing - make AEP pay to clean up its own mess.

Roger Sams
Cleveland, Ohio

Note: this email was sent as part of a petition started on Change.org, viewable at

<http://www.change.org/petitions/aep-don-t-make-customers-pay-for-your-mistakes>. To respond, click here

Lowery, Judy

---

From: Arline Bennett <mail@change.org>
Sent: Tuesday, July 17, 2012 4:54 PM
To: Snitchler, Todd
Subject: Spam: Don't make customers pay for your mistakes!

AEP executives, PUCO members, and Ohio Statehouse Officials,

I just signed the petition at Change.org/AEP, and I wanted to tell you directly how I feel.

* AEP executives Michael Morris, Nicholas Atkins, and Terri Flora: Don't submit the application requesting the PUCO to let you pass on "cleanup costs" of the recent storm to customers after making record profits of $1.9 billion last year. This would be greedy, deceptive and unfair - and it would make me want to do business with a different power company that I can trust and respect.

* PUCO Chairman and Commissioners: If AEP Ohio does apply, reject their application outright. Their failure to plan for sever weather is not their customers' fault or responsibility. It is, however, your responsibility to "assure Ohioans adequate, safe, and reliable public utility services at a fair price."

* Ohio Elected Officials: Use your oversight powers - the ones you were elected to use on behalf of constituents - to ensure the PUCO acts in the best interests of Ohioans and rejects the application. I'm watching to see what happens, and I'll remember in November.

The "cleanup costs" passed on to customers from 2004, 2008, and 2012 combined are less than 15% of AEP Ohio's profits for 2011 alone. Only bad business planning and practices could explain asking customers to bear the cleanup costs.

I don't expect anyone to change the weather, but I do expect you to prepare for it and respond accordingly - just like my family and I do when we know a storm is coming. AEP customers and your constituents won't stand for corporate greed disguised as disaster cleanup, and we won't let our Public Utilities Commission help you, and we won't forget about it if our elected officials fail to act in our interests.

Do the right thing - make AEP pay to clean up its own mess.

Arline Bennett
McConnelsville, Ohio

Note: this email was sent as part of a petition started on Change.org, viewable at

<http://www.change.org/petitions/aep-don-t-make-customers-pay-for-your-mistakes>. To respond, click here

Lowery, Judy

---

From: Andrew McKeown <mail@change.org>
Sent: Tuesday, July 17, 2012 4:54 PM
To: Snitchler, Todd
Subject: Spam: Don't make customers pay for your mistakes!

AEP executives, PUCO members, and Ohio Statehouse Officials,

I just signed the petition at Change.org/AEP, and I wanted to tell you directly how I feel.

* AEP executives Michael Morris, Nicholas Atkins, and Terri Flora: Don't submit the application requesting the PUCO to let you pass on "cleanup costs" of the recent storm to customers after making record profits of $1.9 billion last year. This would be greedy, deceptive and unfair - and it would make me want to do business with a different power company that I can trust and respect.

* PUCO Chairman and Commissioners: If AEP Ohio does apply, reject their application outright. Their failure to plan for sever weather is not their customers' fault or responsibility. It is, however, your responsibility to "assure Ohioans adequate, safe, and reliable public utility services at a fair price."

* Ohio Elected Officials: Use your oversight powers - the ones you were elected to use on behalf of constituents - to ensure the PUCO acts in the best interests of Ohioans and rejects the application. I'm watching to see what happens, and I'll remember in November.

The "cleanup costs" passed on to customers from 2004, 2008, and 2012 combined are less than 15% of AEP Ohio's profits for 2011 alone. Only bad business planning and practices could explain asking customers to bear the cleanup costs.

I don't expect anyone to change the weather, but I do expect you to prepare for it and respond accordingly - just like my family and I do when we know a storm is coming. AEP customers and your constituents won't stand for corporate greed disguised as disaster cleanup, and we won't let our Public Utilities Commission help you, and we won't forget about it if our elected officials fail to act in our interests.

Do the right thing - make AEP pay to clean up its own mess.

Andrew McKeown
Lakewood, Ohio

Note: this email was sent as part of a petition started on Change.org, viewable at

<http://www.change.org/petitions/aep-don-t-make-customers-pay-for-your-mistakes>. To respond, click here

Lowery, Judy

---

From: michelle williams <mail@change.org>
Sent: Tuesday, July 17, 2012 4:54 PM
To: Snitchler, Todd
Subject: Spam: Don't make customers pay for your mistakes!

AEP executives, PUCO members, and Ohio Statehouse Officials,

I just signed the petition at Change.org/AEP, and I wanted to tell you directly how I feel.

* AEP executives Michael Morris, Nicholas Atkins, and Terri Flora: Don't submit the application requesting the PUCO to let you pass on "cleanup costs" of the recent storm to customers after making record profits of $1.9 billion last year. This would be greedy, deceptive and unfair - and it would make me want to do business with a different power company that I can trust and respect.

* PUCO Chairman and Commissioners: If AEP Ohio does apply, reject their application outright. Their failure to plan for sever weather is not their customers' fault or responsibility. It is, however, your responsibility to "assure Ohioans adequate, safe, and reliable public utility services at a fair price."

* Ohio Elected Officials: Use your oversight powers - the ones you were elected to use on behalf of constituents - to ensure the PUCO acts in the best interests of Ohioans and rejects the application. I'm watching to see what happens, and I'll remember in November.

The "cleanup costs" passed on to customers from 2004, 2008, and 2012 combined are less than 15% of AEP Ohio's profits for 2011 alone. Only bad business planning and practices could explain asking customers to bear the cleanup costs.

I don't expect anyone to change the weather, but I do expect you to prepare for it and respond accordingly - just like my family and I do when we know a storm is coming. AEP customers and your constituents won't stand for corporate greed disguised as disaster cleanup, and we won't let our Public Utilities Commission help you, and we won't forget about it if our elected officials fail to act in our interests.

Do the right thing - make AEP pay to clean up its own mess.

michelle williams
Lima, Ohio

Note: this email was sent as part of a petition started on Change.org, viewable at

<http://www.change.org/petitions/aep-don-t-make-customers-pay-for-your-mistakes>. To respond, click here

Lowery, Judy

---

From: Nathan Sabelli <mail@change.org>
Sent: Tuesday, July 17, 2012 4:54 PM
To: Snitchler, Todd
Subject: Spam: Don't make customers pay for your mistakes!

AEP executives, PUCO members, and Ohio Statehouse Officials,

I just signed the petition at Change.org/AEP, and I wanted to tell you directly how I feel.

* AEP executives Michael Morris, Nicholas Atkins, and Terri Flora: Don't submit the application requesting the PUCO to let you pass on "cleanup costs" of the recent storm to customers after making record profits of $1.9 billion last year. This would be greedy, deceptive and unfair - and it would make me want to do business with a different power company that I can trust and respect.

* PUCO Chairman and Commissioners: If AEP Ohio does apply, reject their application outright. Their failure to plan for sever weather is not their customers' fault or responsibility. It is, however, your responsibility to "assure Ohioans adequate, safe, and reliable public utility services at a fair price."

* Ohio Elected Officials: Use your oversight powers - the ones you were elected to use on behalf of constituents - to ensure the PUCO acts in the best interests of Ohioans and rejects the application. I'm watching to see what happens, and I'll remember in November.

The "cleanup costs" passed on to customers from 2004, 2008, and 2012 combined are less than 15% of AEP Ohio's profits for 2011 alone. Only bad business planning and practices could explain asking customers to bear the cleanup costs.

I don't expect anyone to change the weather, but I do expect you to prepare for it and respond accordingly - just like my family and I do when we know a storm is coming. AEP customers and your constituents won't stand for corporate greed disguised as disaster cleanup, and we won't let our Public Utilities Commission help you, and we won't forget about it if our elected officials fail to act in our interests.

Do the right thing - make AEP pay to clean up its own mess.

Nathan Sabelli
city, Ohio

Note: this email was sent as part of a petition started on Change.org, viewable at

<http://www.change.org/petitions/aep-don-t-make-customers-pay-for-your-mistakes>. To respond, click here

Lowery, Judy

---

From: Joan Royer <mail@change.org>
Sent: Tuesday, July 17, 2012 4:54 PM
To: Snitchler, Todd
Subject: Spam: Don't make customers pay for your mistakes!

AEP executives, PUCO members, and Ohio Statehouse Officials,

I just signed the petition at Change.org/AEP, and I wanted to tell you directly how I feel.

* AEP executives Michael Morris, Nicholas Atkins, and Terri Flora: Don't submit the application requesting the PUCO to let you pass on "cleanup costs" of the recent storm to customers after making record profits of $1.9 billion last year. This would be greedy, deceptive and unfair - and it would make me want to do business with a different power company that I can trust and respect.

* PUCO Chairman and Commissioners: If AEP Ohio does apply, reject their application outright. Their failure to plan for sever weather is not their customers' fault or responsibility. It is, however, your responsibility to "assure Ohioans adequate, safe, and reliable public utility services at a fair price."

* Ohio Elected Officials: Use your oversight powers - the ones you were elected to use on behalf of constituents - to ensure the PUCO acts in the best interests of Ohioans and rejects the application. I'm watching to see what happens, and I'll remember in November.

The "cleanup costs" passed on to customers from 2004, 2008, and 2012 combined are less than 15% of AEP Ohio's profits for 2011 alone. Only bad business planning and practices could explain asking customers to bear the cleanup costs.

I don't expect anyone to change the weather, but I do expect you to prepare for it and respond accordingly - just like my family and I do when we know a storm is coming. AEP customers and your constituents won't stand for corporate greed disguised as disaster cleanup, and we won't let our Public Utilities Commission help you, and we won't forget about it if our elected officials fail to act in our interests.

Do the right thing - make AEP pay to clean up its own mess.

Joan Royer
Columbus, Ohio

Note: this email was sent as part of a petition started on Change.org, viewable at

<http://www.change.org/petitions/aep-don-t-make-customers-pay-for-your-mistakes>. To respond, click here

Lowery, Judy

---

From: shawn hutchison <mail@change.org>
Sent: Tuesday, July 17, 2012 4:54 PM
To: Snitchler, Todd
Subject: Spam: Don't make customers pay for your mistakes!

AEP executives, PUCO members, and Ohio Statehouse Officials,

I just signed the petition at Change.org/AEP, and I wanted to tell you directly how I feel.

* AEP executives Michael Morris, Nicholas Atkins, and Terri Flora: Don't submit the application requesting the PUCO to let you pass on "cleanup costs" of the recent storm to customers after making record profits of $1.9 billion last year. This would be greedy, deceptive and unfair - and it would make me want to do business with a different power company that I can trust and respect.

* PUCO Chairman and Commissioners: If AEP Ohio does apply, reject their application outright. Their failure to plan for sever weather is not their customers' fault or responsibility. It is, however, your responsibility to "assure Ohioans adequate, safe, and reliable public utility services at a fair price."

* Ohio Elected Officials: Use your oversight powers - the ones you were elected to use on behalf of constituents - to ensure the PUCO acts in the best interests of Ohioans and rejects the application. I'm watching to see what happens, and I'll remember in November.

The "cleanup costs" passed on to customers from 2004, 2008, and 2012 combined are less than 15% of AEP Ohio's profits for 2011 alone. Only bad business planning and practices could explain asking customers to bear the cleanup costs.

I don't expect anyone to change the weather, but I do expect you to prepare for it and respond accordingly - just like my family and I do when we know a storm is coming. AEP customers and your constituents won't stand for corporate greed disguised as disaster cleanup, and we won't let our Public Utilities Commission help you, and we won't forget about it if our elected officials fail to act in our interests.

Do the right thing - make AEP pay to clean up its own mess.

shawn hutchison
Dresden, Ohio

Note: this email was sent as part of a petition started on Change.org, viewable at

<http://www.change.org/petitions/aep-don-t-make-customers-pay-for-your-mistakes>. To respond, click here

Lowery, Judy

---

From: shannon switzer <mail@change.org>
Sent: Tuesday, July 17, 2012 4:54 PM
To: Snitchler, Todd
Subject: Spam: Don't make customers pay for your mistakes!

AEP executives, PUCO members, and Ohio Statehouse Officials,

I just signed the petition at Change.org/AEP, and I wanted to tell you directly how I feel.

* AEP executives Michael Morris, Nicholas Atkins, and Terri Flora: Don't submit the application requesting the PUCO to let you pass on "cleanup costs" of the recent storm to customers after making record profits of $1.9 billion last year. This would be greedy, deceptive and unfair - and it would make me want to do business with a different power company that I can trust and respect.

* PUCO Chairman and Commissioners: If AEP Ohio does apply, reject their application outright. Their failure to plan for sever weather is not their customers' fault or responsibility. It is, however, your responsibility to "assure Ohioans adequate, safe, and reliable public utility services at a fair price."

* Ohio Elected Officials: Use your oversight powers - the ones you were elected to use on behalf of constituents - to ensure the PUCO acts in the best interests of Ohioans and rejects the application. I'm watching to see what happens, and I'll remember in November.

The "cleanup costs" passed on to customers from 2004, 2008, and 2012 combined are less than 15% of AEP Ohio's profits for 2011 alone. Only bad business planning and practices could explain asking customers to bear the cleanup costs.

I don't expect anyone to change the weather, but I do expect you to prepare for it and respond accordingly - just like my family and I do when we know a storm is coming. AEP customers and your constituents won't stand for corporate greed disguised as disaster cleanup, and we won't let our Public Utilities Commission help you, and we won't forget about it if our elected officials fail to act in our interests.

Do the right thing - make AEP pay to clean up its own mess.

shannon switzer
Lorain, Ohio

Note: this email was sent as part of a petition started on Change.org, viewable at

<http://www.change.org/petitions/aep-don-t-make-customers-pay-for-your-mistakes>. To respond, click here

Lowery, Judy

---

From: MARY MOORE <mail@change.org>
Sent: Tuesday, July 17, 2012 4:55 PM
To: Snitchler, Todd
Subject: Spam: Don't make customers pay for your mistakes!

AEP executives, PUCO members, and Ohio Statehouse Officials,

I just signed the petition at Change.org/AEP, and I wanted to tell you directly how I feel.

* AEP executives Michael Morris, Nicholas Atkins, and Terri Flora: Don't submit the application requesting the PUCO to let you pass on "cleanup costs" of the recent storm to customers after making record profits of $1.9 billion last year. This would be greedy, deceptive and unfair - and it would make me want to do business with a different power company that I can trust and respect.

* PUCO Chairman and Commissioners: If AEP Ohio does apply, reject their application outright. Their failure to plan for sever weather is not their customers' fault or responsibility. It is, however, your responsibility to "assure Ohioans adequate, safe, and reliable public utility services at a fair price."

* Ohio Elected Officials: Use your oversight powers - the ones you were elected to use on behalf of constituents - to ensure the PUCO acts in the best interests of Ohioans and rejects the application. I'm watching to see what happens, and I'll remember in November.

The "cleanup costs" passed on to customers from 2004, 2008, and 2012 combined are less than 15% of AEP Ohio's profits for 2011 alone. Only bad business planning and practices could explain asking customers to bear the cleanup costs.

I don't expect anyone to change the weather, but I do expect you to prepare for it and respond accordingly - just like my family and I do when we know a storm is coming. AEP customers and your constituents won't stand for corporate greed disguised as disaster cleanup, and we won't let our Public Utilities Commission help you, and we won't forget about it if our elected officials fail to act in our interests.

Do the right thing - make AEP pay to clean up its own mess.

MARY MOORE
Reynoldsburg, Ohio

Note: this email was sent as part of a petition started on Change.org, viewable at

<http://www.change.org/petitions/aep-don-t-make-customers-pay-for-your-mistakes>. To respond, click here

Lowery, Judy

---

From: Robert Vance <mail@change.org>
Sent: Tuesday, July 17, 2012 4:55 PM
To: Snitchler, Todd
Subject: Spam: Don't make customers pay for your mistakes!

AEP executives, PUCO members, and Ohio Statehouse Officials,

I just signed the petition at Change.org/AEP, and I wanted to tell you directly how I feel.

* AEP executives Michael Morris, Nicholas Atkins, and Terri Flora: Don't submit the application requesting the PUCO to let you pass on "cleanup costs" of the recent storm to customers after making record profits of $1.9 billion last year. This would be greedy, deceptive and unfair - and it would make me want to do business with a different power company that I can trust and respect.

* PUCO Chairman and Commissioners: If AEP Ohio does apply, reject their application outright. Their failure to plan for sever weather is not their customers' fault or responsibility. It is, however, your responsibility to "assure Ohioans adequate, safe, and reliable public utility services at a fair price."

* Ohio Elected Officials: Use your oversight powers - the ones you were elected to use on behalf of constituents - to ensure the PUCO acts in the best interests of Ohioans and rejects the application. I'm watching to see what happens, and I'll remember in November.

The "cleanup costs" passed on to customers from 2004, 2008, and 2012 combined are less than 15% of AEP Ohio's profits for 2011 alone. Only bad business planning and practices could explain asking customers to bear the cleanup costs.

I don't expect anyone to change the weather, but I do expect you to prepare for it and respond accordingly - just like my family and I do when we know a storm is coming. AEP customers and your constituents won't stand for corporate greed disguised as disaster cleanup, and we won't let our Public Utilities Commission help you, and we won't forget about it if our elected officials fail to act in our interests.

Do the right thing - make AEP pay to clean up its own mess.

Robert Vance
Cambridge, Ohio

Note: this email was sent as part of a petition started on Change.org, viewable at

<http://www.change.org/petitions/aep-don-t-make-customers-pay-for-your-mistakes>. To respond, click here

Lowery, Judy

---

From: Lori Riggs <mail@change.org>
Sent: Tuesday, July 17, 2012 4:54 PM
To: Snitchler, Todd
Subject: Spam: Don't make customers pay for your mistakes!

AEP executives, PUCO members, and Ohio Statehouse Officials,

I just signed the petition at Change.org/AEP, and I wanted to tell you directly how I feel.

* AEP executives Michael Morris, Nicholas Atkins, and Terri Flora: Don't submit the application requesting the PUCO to let you pass on "cleanup costs" of the recent storm to customers after making record profits of $1.9 billion last year. This would be greedy, deceptive and unfair - and it would make me want to do business with a different power company that I can trust and respect.

* PUCO Chairman and Commissioners: If AEP Ohio does apply, reject their application outright. Their failure to plan for sever weather is not their customers' fault or responsibility. It is, however, your responsibility to "assure Ohioans adequate, safe, and reliable public utility services at a fair price."

* Ohio Elected Officials: Use your oversight powers - the ones you were elected to use on behalf of constituents - to ensure the PUCO acts in the best interests of Ohioans and rejects the application. I'm watching to see what happens, and I'll remember in November.

The "cleanup costs" passed on to customers from 2004, 2008, and 2012 combined are less than 15% of AEP Ohio's profits for 2011 alone. Only bad business planning and practices could explain asking customers to bear the cleanup costs.

I don't expect anyone to change the weather, but I do expect you to prepare for it and respond accordingly - just like my family and I do when we know a storm is coming. AEP customers and your constituents won't stand for corporate greed disguised as disaster cleanup, and we won't let our Public Utilities Commission help you, and we won't forget about it if our elected officials fail to act in our interests.

Do the right thing - make AEP pay to clean up its own mess.

Lori Riggs
Mount Gilead, Ohio

Note: this email was sent as part of a petition started on Change.org, viewable at

<http://www.change.org/petitions/aep-don-t-make-customers-pay-for-your-mistakes>. To respond, click here

Lowery, Judy

---

From: kim garrett <mail@change.org>
Sent: Tuesday, July 17, 2012 4:55 PM
To: Snitchler, Todd
Subject: Spam: Don't make customers pay for your mistakes!

AEP executives, PUCO members, and Ohio Statehouse Officials,

I just signed the petition at Change.org/AEP, and I wanted to tell you directly how I feel.

* AEP executives Michael Morris, Nicholas Atkins, and Terri Flora: Don't submit the application requesting the PUCO to let you pass on "cleanup costs" of the recent storm to customers after making record profits of $1.9 billion last year. This would be greedy, deceptive and unfair - and it would make me want to do business with a different power company that I can trust and respect.

* PUCO Chairman and Commissioners: If AEP Ohio does apply, reject their application outright. Their failure to plan for sever weather is not their customers' fault or responsibility. It is, however, your responsibility to "assure Ohioans adequate, safe, and reliable public utility services at a fair price."

* Ohio Elected Officials: Use your oversight powers - the ones you were elected to use on behalf of constituents - to ensure the PUCO acts in the best interests of Ohioans and rejects the application. I'm watching to see what happens, and I'll remember in November.

The "cleanup costs" passed on to customers from 2004, 2008, and 2012 combined are less than 15% of AEP Ohio's profits for 2011 alone. Only bad business planning and practices could explain asking customers to bear the cleanup costs.

I don't expect anyone to change the weather, but I do expect you to prepare for it and respond accordingly - just like my family and I do when we know a storm is coming. AEP customers and your constituents won't stand for corporate greed disguised as disaster cleanup, and we won't let our Public Utilities Commission help you, and we won't forget about it if our elected officials fail to act in our interests.

Do the right thing - make AEP pay to clean up its own mess.

kim garrett
Maumee, Ohio

Note: this email was sent as part of a petition started on Change.org, viewable at

<http://www.change.org/petitions/aep-don-t-make-customers-pay-for-your-mistakes>. To respond, click here

Lowery, Judy

---

From: Eric Rottmayer <mail@change.org>
Sent: Tuesday, July 17, 2012 4:55 PM
To: Snitchler, Todd
Subject: Spam: Don't make customers pay for your mistakes!

AEP executives, PUCO members, and Ohio Statehouse Officials,

I just signed the petition at Change.org/AEP, and I wanted to tell you directly how I feel.

* AEP executives Michael Morris, Nicholas Atkins, and Terri Flora: Don't submit the application requesting the PUCO to let you pass on "cleanup costs" of the recent storm to customers after making record profits of $1.9 billion last year. This would be greedy, deceptive and unfair - and it would make me want to do business with a different power company that I can trust and respect.

* PUCO Chairman and Commissioners: If AEP Ohio does apply, reject their application outright. Their failure to plan for sever weather is not their customers' fault or responsibility. It is, however, your responsibility to "assure Ohioans adequate, safe, and reliable public utility services at a fair price."

* Ohio Elected Officials: Use your oversight powers - the ones you were elected to use on behalf of constituents - to ensure the PUCO acts in the best interests of Ohioans and rejects the application. I'm watching to see what happens, and I'll remember in November.

The "cleanup costs" passed on to customers from 2004, 2008, and 2012 combined are less than 15% of AEP Ohio's profits for 2011 alone. Only bad business planning and practices could explain asking customers to bear the cleanup costs.

I don't expect anyone to change the weather, but I do expect you to prepare for it and respond accordingly - just like my family and I do when we know a storm is coming. AEP customers and your constituents won't stand for corporate greed disguised as disaster cleanup, and we won't let our Public Utilities Commission help you, and we won't forget about it if our elected officials fail to act in our interests.

Do the right thing - make AEP pay to clean up its own mess.

Eric Rottmayer
Columbus, Ohio

Note: this email was sent as part of a petition started on Change.org, viewable at

<http://www.change.org/petitions/aep-don-t-make-customers-pay-for-your-mistakes>. To respond, click here

