COMMENT DESCRIPTION:

This is not a complaint but rather a comment on Case Number 12-1682-EL-AIR. This is in regards to a Duke Energy request to be able to add a rider to the bill of City of Cincinnati residents to pay for the cost of utility relocation for the pending streetcar project. There is a dispute over who should pay for these costs. Duke maintains that they are the City's responsibility and can be paid for directly by the City or this proposed rider.

While I live in Blue Ash and am not a resident of the City of Cincinnati, approving this rider would be equivalent to taxing the citizens without proper public participation in the process and establish a precedent. The fact is the City is scrambling to cobble together funding for the streetcar project and this would be a way to force residents to pay a "tax" without calling it a tax.

This is to certify that the images appearing are an accurate and complete reproduction of a case file document delivered in the regular course of business.

Please deny case NO. 12-1682 - EL - AIR. It is unprecedented to place costs associated with completing non utilities infrastructure programs on the backs of the rate payers. Please vote NO. Thanks.

COMMENT DESCRIPTION:

The premise of this complaint is for your review of case # 12-1692-El-air. Citizens should not be charged one cent for any work deemed necessary by Duke Energy toward the street car project in the city of Cincinnati. This is a blatant disregard of taxation without representation since we did not vote on the street car project. It is the duty of the PUCO to reject any work that can not be paid for with existing funds. Sincerely, Gary Pfleger

I do not beleive that the electric rates should be raised for ANYONE in regard to the funding of the Streetcar in Cincinnati. If a private entity were building a streetcar, that entity would be responsible for the costs associated with their investment, not the prospective customers ...

COMMENT DESCRIPTION:

RE: PUCO case number 12-1682-EL-AIR I and my spouse, wish to speak against this motion. The cost of relocating the utility lines and manholes along the streetcar in Cincinnati should not be borne by those of use who live outside the city limits. They should be borne by the city itself since they elected to do this project. We pay more than enough in taxes and hidden "taxes" and should not be forced to cover the cost of this. You would better off spending your legal fees making Cincinnati bear the cost. They knew about the relocation possibility and arrogantly assumed Duke would pay for it. Obviously they do not understand how a business works as that cost is passed on. Please make the decision to have the city pay for this and not add additional burden to us.

COMMENT DESCRIPTION:

It is WRONG to have Duke Energy customers across the board pay to relocate power lines due to the City of Cincinnati's fiscally irresponsible decision to proceed with the Streetcar project. It is nothing more than a diverted tax increase that City Council is attempting to hide in order to get the Streetcar in at any cost.

PUCO case number 12-1682-EL-AIR

Please do not allow Duke to raise Cincinnati citizens' utility rates to pay for the utility relocation for the Cincinnati street car project. I already burn up in the summer and freeze in the winter trying to keep my billings at a reasonable rate, but they're still never reasonable billings. If Duke can afford to pay a CEO 44 million dollars for 3 day's work, and can afford to donate millions to charity, it can certainly afford to pay for the relocation of utility lines for the street car. This is absurd that citizens must reimburse Duke for this work. We've already experienced a property tax increase in June, 2012, and another one is expected in December, 2012 to pay for an astoundingly wasteful project. Please don't let Duke put any additional expenses on our already broken backs! Thank you!

Our business is located in the City of Cincinnati but we do not live in the city, therefore did not get a vote on the decision to build a street car. Regarding the Duke energy plan 12-1682-EL-AIR, we are against raising our energy bill in order to subsidize the infrastructure needed to have a streetcar.

Sincerely, Charles J. Beuke
