Exhibit 1

This petition was signed by over 1400 of Concord Township voting age residents in support of having the proposed transmission line by First Energy confined to existing right of ways and not construct an additional new route through our community which would devalue our home sites, parks and farmland.

The Preferred Route as proposed by First Energy achieves our community's commitment and represents a win/win solution for the community and the First Energy Corp.

The Alternate Route deviates significantly from either being confined to existing right of ways or parallel to existing power lines. In addition it carves a new route through our community destroying trees and vegetation, and crosses the O'Shaughnessy Reservoir at a segment of 950 feet.

Exhibit 2 (7 pages)

My personal Analysis and Best understanding of the Formal Application case # 11-4884-EL-BTX filed 5/18/2012

(Most of the following text has been cut and pasted directly from the formal application and are the words and conclusions of the preparers of the report. Thomas Prestera, D.O.)

1. The following code requirement to be contained in the application:

4906-15-06 Socioeconomic and land use impact analysis

(d) Measures that will be taken to minimize any visual impacts created by the proposed facility

2. Discussion of the route selection process

(3) Route Selection Process: The objective of the studies was to identify routes that minimize the overall impacts to the community and the environment, while taking into account the engineering and construction needs of the Project.

3. Discussion of impacts on Land Use of London-Tangy routes:

London-Tangy Segment Preferred:

Most of the construction along the Preferred London-Tangy Segment will occur within existing Ohio Edison(OE) owned right-of-way (ROW) or paralleling existing transmission lines. Land use in the immediate surrounding area on the Preferred London-Tangy Segment, and not within Ohio Edison owned ROW, is predominately agricultural.

There are 744 residences within 1,000 feet of the Preferred London-Tangy Segment. 4 residences within 100 feet (OE ROW with existing 69kV line), all located south of Plain City. Six sensitive land uses were identified along the Preferred London-Tangy Segment (37/203)

The Preferred London-Tangy Segment near London High School, National Road Golf Course, and the scenic river land is located within Ohio Edison owned ROW and is co-located with an existing 69 kV transmission line. Additionally, one commercial and one industrial area are located within 1,000 feet of the Preferred London-Tangy Segment. Impacts on commercial and industrial land use areas associated with construction of the proposed Project are anticipated to be minimal

London Tangy Segment Alternate:

There are 508 residences within 1,000 feet of the Alternate London-Tangy Segment. 20 residences within 100 feet (all along the 42 mile route)

Seven sensitive land uses were identified along the Alternate London-Tangy Segment. Segment crosses approximately 950 feet of a portion of the O'Shaughnessy Reservoir - which is a part of the Scioto River - that is owned by Columbus Parks and Recreation. Based on a review of available land use plans, and contacts with local agencies, neither the Preferred nor Alternate routes are inconsistent or incompatible with local or regional development projects. Overall, the Preferred Route has fewer land use impacts (pt.1:pg.38/203).

4. Cultural Impacts:

Preferred-

There is one Archaeology Site identified within 100 feet of the Preferred London-Tangy Segment. This site is located along the western bank of the Scioto River. There are eight Historic Structures identified within 1,000 feet of the Preferred London-Tangy Segment. These structures are located between the London Substation and Interstate 70.

No National Register of Historic Places (NRHP) or Historic Districts were identified within 1,000 feet of the Preferred London-Tangy Segment.

Alternate-

There are twelve Historic Structures identified within 1,000 feet of the Alternate London-Tangy Segment. These structures are located between the London Substation and Interstate 70.

ATSI Conclusion: Based on the literature review conducted for the project, adverse impacts to previously identified cultural resources as a result of the proposed Project are not expected. ATSI will further coordinate with OHPO on the potential requirement for further Phase 1 studies.

5. Project Schedule Summary: Start 1/2013: ISD 6/2014

Construction of the Project on the proposed alternate route requires obtaining substantially more new right-of-way. To the extent that the right-of-way can be obtained in a timely manner, construction of the Project on the proposed Alternate route would follow the same schedule as the proposed route. However, right-of-way acquisition associated with the Alternate Route could delay the in-service date of the Project.

6. See scheduling milestones

(91/203 pt.1)

(2) Delays

Critical delays in construction or other processes necessary to bring the Project on-Line will impact the Applicants and customers on the 138 kV and 69 kV Systems by exposing customers to ongoing capacity, voltage and reliability issues until such time as the Project is brought online.

7. Route descriptions:

Preferred-

Route 213 in the original route selection study (A-B-D-D'-G-J-K-N(west)-P-R-Y-DD-GG-II-JKK-LL(west)), is approximately 39 miles long and ranks 40th overall, with a score of 27.68.

River crossing:

Alternative A-B-D-D'-G has the least amount of potential Category 3 wetland impacts and the least potential for overall wetland impacts (segment included in the Preferred Route 213). Also, alternative A-B-D-D'-G, parallels existing overhead transmission lines for nearly 80% of its length, and has fewer residences within 1,000 feet, both of which were reflected in the original Study ranking. Based on these four attributes, ATSI has selected this route as the Preferred Route. This combination of segments is identified as Route 213 (A-B-D-D'-G-J-K-N(west)-P-R-Y-DD-GG-II-JJ-KK-LL(west)). Route 213 is approximately 39 miles long and ranks 40th overall, with a score of 27.68.

Alternate-

Route 321(A-E-G-F-I-M-O-CC-DD-GG-HH-JJ-KK-LL(east)) had the third best score in the Route Selection Study (21.70 out of 100) and had approximately 17% in common with Route 213

River crossing:

However, ATSI has decided to retain segments A-E-G as part of the previously determined Alternate Route. This combination of segments is identified as Route 321 (A-E-G-F-I-M-O-CCDD-GG-HH-JJ-KK-LL (east)). Route 321 is approximately 41 miles long and ranks 3rd overall, with a score of 21.70. Route 321 is the highest ranking route with less than 20% in common of the preferred route.

8. Route Segments Paralleling Existing Transmission Lines (table 04-1)(pt.2, 88/200)

Preferred London Tangy- 28.24 miles 28.24/39.2= 72.05%

Nearly all of the Preferred Route of the London-Tangy Segment from London Substation, extending approximately 25 miles to a point near Route 33 in Jerome Township will be located within existing right-of-way, and in most locations parallels existing ATSI 69 kV transmission lines. Where the Preferred Route of the London-Tangy Segment runs parallel to Route 42 and in many other areas, the necessary right of way will be located parallel to existing 69 kV or 138 kV transmission lines, depending on the location. Most of these existing 69 kV or 138 kV transmission lines and right-of- way are owned by ATSI and or Ohio Edison, although a small portion is owned by other utilities.

Alternate London Tangy- 9.09 miles 9.09/41.2= 22.06%

Nearly all of the Alternate Route of the portion of the London-Tangy Segment, approximately 28 miles, that begins near the London Substation and extends to where it joins a corridor with an existing 138 kV line near the intersection of Adams Road and Ketch Road, will require new right-of-way(ROW) to be owned by ATSI. From a point near where the Alternate Route of the London-Tangy Segment crosses Route 42 and extending northeast to the Tangy Substation, new right-of-way to be owned by ATSI will be required .(additional 32,654 ft. or 6.184 miles) pt.2 155/200

Nearly 83% of the Alternate Route will require new ROW

9. Capital Cost: (Table 05.1 pt.2 157/200)

Preferred- $26,700,000

Alternate- $31,600,000

Difference -$4,900,000 as a result of additional land costs

10. Recreational Land Use:

Preferred: Two recreational land uses were identified within 1,000 feet of the Preferred London-Tangy Segment.

-National Road Golf Course, located south of US 40(Impacts to the crossed section of golf course will be temporary and limited to equipment use during construction)

-Scenic river land owned by the Ohio Division of Natural Resources (ODNR) just north of Interstate 70. The Preferred London-Tangy Segment is co-located within the Ohio Edison owned ROW with an existing 69 kV transmission line as it crosses both the National Road Golf Course and the scenic river land.

Alternate: Four recreational land uses were identified within 1,000 feet of the Alternate London-Tangy Segment.

-London Country Club is located approximately 750 feet south of the route, near the intersection of Spring Valley Road and US 42.

- National Road Golf Course is located approximately 450 feet south of the Alternate London-Tangy Segment.

- Rolling Meadows Golf Club is located approximately 200 feet south of the route between Industrial Parkway and Crottinger Road.

- Crosses approximately 950 feet of the O'Shaughnessy Reservoir, a part of the Scioto River owned by Columbus Parks and Recreation.

11. Institutional Land Use:

Preferred: 3 institutional uses within 1000 feet

- London High School is located approximately 450 feet south of the Preferred London-Tangy Segment (co located within Ohio Edison ROW with existing 69kV line)

- Crosses property owned by the Board of Education of the London City School District, which contains the newly constructed London Middle School (co located within Ohio Edison ROW with existing 69kV line)

- located approximately 250 feet southeast of a property containing the Madison Correctional Institute (institution facility 3000feet away)

Alternate: 3 institutional uses within 1000 feet

- Madison Correction Institute. the actual facility is located approximately 2,200 feet west of the Alternate London-Tangy Segment.

- Segment is located within 450 feet of property owned by the Board of Education Of the London City School District, which contains the newly constructed London Middle School.

- Fairhaven School was identified approximately 950 feet east of the Alternate London-Tangy Segment

12. General discussion from the ATSI/First Energy's formal application:

Aesthetics: New electric transmission facilities are more likely to "blend-in" with surroundings where existing transmission facilities exist. Since the Project parallels several existing transmission lines, uses the open arm position of an existing line, or is located within existing ATSI right-of-way with an existing transmission line, very minimal impacts to the existing visual aesthetics are expected to these areas.

Views of the Transmission Line: Public views along the candidate routes from residences and other potentially sensitive vantage points will be minimally altered. As previously stated, a large portion of the Project either parallels existing transmission lines, is located on the open arm portion of an existing transmission line, or is located within existing ATSI right-of-way.

Visual Impact Minimization: The primary form of visual impact minimization for the proposed Preferred and Alternate Routes is the placement of the majority of the new transmission line on existing structures or adjacent to existing transmission infrastructure, utilizing existing utility right-of-way where practical.

Route consideration:

For example, potential routes being considered within the siting area cross both the Big Darby Creek and Little Darby Creek, which are designated as state and National Scenic Rivers. The routing analysis has been narrowed to cross these rivers only at the location of an existing crossing, which is less of an impact than creating a new crossing.

13. Stream Crossing: (pt.3 95/200)

Preferred: -The Preferred London-Tangy Segment survey corridor contains 32 streams for a total of approximately 5,804 linear feet.

- Scioto River Bank/Bank 200 ft., survey corridor 214 ft., construction corridor 64 ft.

Alternate: Alternate London-Tangy Segment survey corridor contains 34 streams for a total of approximately 8,748 linear feet.

Scioto River Bank/Bank 660 ft., survey corridor 218, const. corridor 68

ODNR Discussion: The proposed river crossings of the Big Darby Creek and Little Darby Creek for both the Preferred and Alternate Routes of the London-Tangy Segment parallel existing infrastructure and were selected in order to minimize vegetation clearing to the extent practical. From the multiple meetings with ODNR - Scenic Rivers Division, it was determined that paralleling existing electric distribution line crossings would minimize potential impacts to riparian corridors.

Impacts to ponds and lakes are not anticipated by the construction, operation or maintenance of the proposed transmission line.

Impacts to ponds and lakes are not anticipated by the construction, operation or maintenance of the proposed transmission line

14. Wetlands:

The Ohio Rapid Assessment Method (ORAM) was developed to determine the relative ecological quality and level of disturbance of a particular wetland. Wetlands are scored on the basis of hydrology, upland buffer, habitat alteration, special wetland communities, and vegetation communities.

Preferred:- -86 NWI (National Wetland Inventory) areas, and 7 of these NWI areas were crossed by the proposed centerline

-27 delineated wetlands totaling 4.76 acres (2.19 acres in construction corridor)

-proposed centerlines cross 12 wetlands for a total of 1,451 linear feet

- Category 3 NWI 0.05 acres/ 58 feet in construction corridor

Alternate: -80 NWI areas
 -24 wetlands totaling 6.36 acres (2.43 acres in construction corridor)
 -proposed centerline crosses 11 wetlands for a distance of 1,005 linear feet.
 -Category 3 NWI 0.14 acres/ 102 feet in construction corridor

15. Endangered species and special land uses:

Preferred: -contains six species of concern locations within 1,000 feet of the proposed centerline.

 -four sinkhole locations within 1,000 feet of the proposed centerline

Alternative: -seven species of concern locations within 1,000 feet of the proposed centerline

Exhibit 3

Email dated January 17, 2012 from Mr. Keith Lott, Dept. U.S. Fish & Wildlife Service regarding the presence of endangered species within the vicinity of the properties of 5411 and 5461 Dublin Rd., Delaware, Ohio 43015 (site of Scioto River crossing by the Alternate Route)

Dear Mr. Prestera,

I was forwarded your request for information regarding the presence of Indiana bats on your property. Our information regarding the presence of this species is typically derived from surveys conducted by consultants, academia, etc. and is generally project driven (i.e., they are going to impact suitable habitat in a specific area and thus need to assess potential impacts to the bat). Therefore, our knowledge of the distribution of the species is limited to where these surveys have been conducted. So, while I cannot give you specifics as to whether the Indiana bat occurs on your property, I can tell you that 4 surveys have been conducted within 10-miles of your property. Of those surveys, 1 detected Indiana bats. A male Indiana bat was captured ~ 4.7 miles away, in Union county in 2008. Summer habitat requirements for the species are not well defined but the following are considered important:

- (1) dead or live trees and snags with peeling or exfoliating bark, split tree trunk and/or branches, or cavities, which may be used as maternity roost areas;
- (2) live trees (such as shagbark hickory and oaks) which have exfoliating bark;
- (3) stream corridors, riparian areas, and upland woodlots which provide forage sites.

During the summer female Indiana bats form maternity colonies. These colonies are typically located under the sloughing bark of live, dead and partially dead trees in upland and lowland forest (Humphrey et al. 1977; Gardner et al. 1991). Colony trees are usually large-diameter, standing dead trees with direct exposure to sunlight. The warmer temperature from sunlight exposure helps development of fetal and juvenile young (USFWS 1999). A maternity roost may contain 100 or more adult females and their pups. If impacts to suitable habitat are anticipated, the U.S. Fish & Wildlife Service would recommend further coordination with this office.

Clubshell mussel (Pleurobema clava), typically inhabits waters with sand or gravel substrates and also prefers areas with riffles and runs. Potential habitat does occur within 1-mile of your property (the Scioto River). Similar to Indiana bats, we have no site-specific information for the aforementioned property. If impacts were anticipated, please contact our office for further coordination. The rayed bean (Villosa fabalis), and snuffbox (Epioblasma triquetra) are two additional species of mussel that the Service has records of for Delaware County. Mill Creek, a tributary to the Scioto, approximately 1-half mile north of your property is listed as potential habitat for this species.

If you have any questions, please let me know.

Keith

1. "Vegetated Buffers — The beneficial effects of grassed buffers can be quite substantial, with reductions of pesticide movement into adjoining streams of up to 80 to 90%. The combination of infiltration, reduced overland flow rates, and adsorption in these zones can be quite effective in keeping pollutants in field runoff from being delivered to waterways."

2. "Harvesting trees in the area beside a stream can affect water quality by reducing the stream bank shading that regulates water temperature and by removing vegetation that stabilizes the stream banks. These changes can harm aquatic life by limiting sources of food, shade and shelter."

3. "Many Forest Service specialists think that water supplies can be best protected by actively managing these watersheds to maintain forest vegetation and watershed processes within their natural range of variation."

http://www.stream.fs.fed.us/publications/PDFs/Water_and_FS.pdf

4. "The four most important water quality components affected by the riparian corridor are nutrient loading, sediment loading, water temperature and the dissolved oxygen levels in the water. Riparian corridors that are forested or covered with native, unmowed grasses not used for grazing can serve as a buffer for the stream by trapping sediment and pollutants carried in surface run off before they enter the stream."

"Tree roots are very effective at stabilizing banks that aren't too tall."

<http://www.mostreamteam.org/Documents/Fact%20Sheets/17430.pdf>

5. Erosion and Sediment Control: The dense root systems of a riparian buffer zone hold soil on the stream bank and helps to trap sediment flowing downstream that would otherwise become a contaminant. Sediment is a major contaminant in our rivers and streams, but it has been shown that riparian zones are capable of retaining more than 300,000 pounds per acre, per year of sediment.

Water Quality: Riparian zones also help to prevent water pollution. Vegetation in riparian zones function as filters—both to filter water flowing downstream and to filter the pollutants in stormwater runoff before it reaches streams and rivers.

The USDA has studies showing riparian buffers reducing nitrogen from agricultural runoff by 68%.

Re: case #11-4884-EL-BTX

Dear Mr. Ruberto:

My wife and I have lived at 5411 Dublin Rd. for the past 22 years and have invested more than $1,000,000 in this property when you consider the initial costs, improvements, taxes and the mortgage interest over the last 22 years. This land is a beautifully wooded lot containing many expensive evergreen trees located on deep water on the Scioto River with dock access. Deep water river front lots are scarce in this part of Ohio which enhances its value. Developers cannot just go out and "make" any more river front lots like ours.

My wife and I have spent these past 22 years nurturing and improving our property through extensive maintenance, yard care, foliage and tree planting and have enjoyed too numerous to count times with friends and family. We were planning on the value in our property to increase to the point that we could live out the rest of our days in deserved financial comfort and security. The presence of your lines on or near our property and related structures will destroy the current value and the expected increase in value in the future.

The value of our river front property is now being threatened, not by a temporary downturn in the housing market but by a permanent devaluation by the proposed 138,000-v, double circuit 3 phase line by American Transmission Systems, Inc. (ATSI). The serenity and the beauty of our land will be forever scarred by the presence of your line on our property or our neighbors' properties.

If a proposed route is chosen by ATSI that crosses our land and the river behind our house we will not negotiate our property rights away unless your company offers my wife and I full market value for all 7.5 acres and 2 buildings that contain more than 6,000 sq. ft. under roof. This value will be determined during a normal market condition. If this condition is not offered, then we will not relinquish our property rights and you will have to "confiscate" our property rights and property through the power of eminent domain. If you force us into a lawsuit, we will demand a jury trial at that time.

According to the public statement released on September 1, 2011, placed in the Sports Section of the Delaware Gazette, ATSI considers existing corridors with existing wooden structures and lines as viable routes for your new line from Springfield to the substation at Bunty Station Rd.

Let's have a win/win solution. Help the residents of Concord Township retain the value in their lands that they justly deserve and place your new lines in existing corridors along state route 42. This plan would give your company the added capacity for future growth (have you seen the GDP projections for the next 2 yrs.?) if and when the economy and the housing market ever improves.

Respectfully:

Dr. and Mrs. Thomas J. Prestera
