I am writing concerning the street car project in Cincinnati and the need to relocate utilities lines because of the project.

If not for the street car project the utility lines would not need to be moved. I do not believe the project is needed to keep the city going therefore the cost of the whole project should be absorbed by the city of Cincinnati.

RECEIVED-SOCKETING DIV

Take energy customers outside of Hamilton County should not be held liable for the cost of relocating the utility lines.

I never go to Cincinnati and the street car is of no benefit to me and I am sure I am only one in millions.

Sincerely
