To All Concerned Project: Scioto Ridge Wind Farm FACTS.

Hardin County is the poorest county in northern Ohio.

Hardin County has 31,629 men, women and children of which live in cities and burges, in fact the amount is 19,049 that live in residences in towns (see below). That leaves 12,580 people who live in the 471 square miles of this county. At 3 per family the means there are only 4,127 homes on the county farms.

Taxes have been reduced for houses in the county, but due to a few acres being sold very high, taxes on farm land is carrying the tax burden of the county and have been raised substantially.

We have only two buisnesses in the county that employ over 100 people.

In summation we need the tax income plus the jobs that the wind industry will bring, not to mention the need of this countys need of energy of any and all forms.

We of Hardin County need this project and ask for your consideration.
