As a resident and tax payer of Ohio I am writing to express my opinion against FirstEnergy bailout. I do not want to pay additional cost to operate outdated, inefficient, polluting, coal plants. With today's technology there are better ways of generating electricity than with the use of Old Polluting Coal Plants. Even in Indiana the farmers have windmills on their farm land. I think it is time we ask the Providers, Duke Energy, AEP, and First Energy, to start thinking outside the box instead reverting to their archaic way of doing business in order to increase the value of their stock which in turn increases the CEO's and executives compensation. Look at the mess Duke Energy created in North Carolina. There was even a "60 Minute" episode covering that disaster. It is clearly obvious that they, Duke Energy, AEP, and FirstEnergy, should not be allowed to decide how we Ohioans get our electric energy. After all we Ohioans are the customer which pays their salary. They need to start listening to us. I deeply care about this issue because it effects the quality of life of my sons and their future children. Why should we consumers give more money for a BAD cause?

Sincerely,

Kathleen Singleton
