Dear Johnson,

I'm writing today to ask you to say no to FirstEnergy's request for the PUCO to authorize substantial, customer-funded subsidies to bail out its uneconomic power plants.

Please reject FirstEnergy's proposal and ensure full corporate separation, so that a utility can no longer cross-subsidize or favor its affiliate companies in order to block competition. Doing so would send a clear message to clean energy businesses, entrepreneurs, investors, and residents that Ohio is ready for a new era -- one in which utility profits are not placed ahead of Ohioans' best interest and electricity is clean, reliable, and affordable.

Please reject FirstEnergy's request. It's what's right for Ohio's clean energy future.

Sincerely,

M. Candace Park

Dear Johnson,

I'm writing today to ask you to say no to FirstEnergy's request for the PUCO to authorize substantial, customer-funded subsidies to bail out its uneconomic power plants.

Please reject FirstEnergy's proposal and ensure full corporate separation, so that a utility can no longer cross-subsidize or favor its affiliate companies in order to block competition. Doing so would send a clear message to clean energy businesses, entrepreneurs, investors, and residents that Ohio is ready for a new era -- one in which utility profits are not placed ahead of Ohioans' best interest and electricity is clean, reliable, and affordable.

Please reject FirstEnergy's request. It's what's right for Ohio's clean energy future.

Sincerely,

M. Carol Middlehurst

Dear Johnson,

I'm writing today to ask you to say no to FirstEnergy's request for the PUCO to authorize substantial, customer-funded subsidies to bail out its uneconomic power plants.

Please reject FirstEnergy's proposal and ensure full corporate separation, so that a utility can no longer cross-subsidize or favor its affiliate companies in order to block competition. Doing so would send a clear message to clean energy businesses, entrepreneurs, investors, and residents that Ohio is ready for a new era -- one in which utility profits are not placed ahead of Ohioans' best interest and electricity is clean, reliable, and affordable.

Please reject FirstEnergy's request. It's what's right for Ohio's clean energy future.

Sincerely,

Subject: Power Bill Rip off.

Dear Commissioner Johnson,

My name is Brad Arnold. I live in Lewis Center, Ohio. I have been following my bills monthly for about eight years now. I have noticed a alarming trend in the difference between the generation and transmission/distribution charges of my bill. If AEP and First energy are given the green light to have guaranteed profits you will increase the ridiculous amount of money myself and all others in Ohio pay. Do you find it curious that even with led bulbs, automatic timers, hybrid electric water heater, and a smart thermostat: my power bill is more now than previously before. Wasted money on energy efficiency to only have the same outcome. The scam is in place to have individuals pay for efficiency while increasing the cost of power. It now costs more to have power delivered to my home than the actual power generation. This is a not helping anyone. Guarenteed profits for AEP and First Energy are a bad idea and will cost all of us money, including the person reading this email.

Dear Johnson,

I'm writing today to ask you to say no to FirstEnergy's request for the PUCO to authorize substantial, customer-funded subsidies to bail out its uneconomic power plants.

Please reject FirstEnergy's proposal and ensure full corporate separation, so that a utility can no longer cross-subsidize or favor its affiliate companies in order to block competition. Doing so would send a clear message to clean energy businesses, entrepreneurs, investors, and residents that Ohio is ready for a new era -- one in which utility profits are not placed ahead of Ohioans' best interest and electricity is clean, reliable, and affordable.

Please reject FirstEnergy's request. It's what's right for Ohio's clean energy future.

Sincerely,

COMMENT DESCRIPTION:

Comments regard the proposed new rate plan May 16 ? and $3/4 subsidy per month that is included. Local economic effects for the 2 + 2 plants with possible closure/reduction is not questioned. However this is a regional proposal not local and far reaching for the greater good of all. In other words the bigger picture is the main concern. Energy says if their projections are correct the consumers will save $ 1/2 Billion over the eight years. The IEEFA and Ohio C C say their projections indicate a loss of $4 Billion will occur. If both parties are 1/2 right or wrong the loss to consumers is still almost $2 billion. Of the 3 possibilities 2 are bad. "Woody" used to say that about passing. The spread between the 2 projections is just too great. Energy needs to relook at their generation strategy with a bigger eye on gas and/or possible conversions. Thus, the PUCO should deny the current proposal and consider a more appropriate revision in due course.

COMMENT DESCRIPTION:

Please do not approve a rate increase for Ohio Edison. In reading about the proposed rate increase, it seems as if they are asking for a guaranteed profit. I never read about improved systems and procedures or pay cuts. When my husband was working, he had to take 3 pay cuts, the last one being 23%! A guaranteed profit would only promote waste and inefficiencies. Please help the consumer by rejecting this rate increase. Sincerely, Rita Ridenbaugh

After more than a year of hearings, thousands of citizens and businesses calling for its rejection, and expert testimony, FirstEnergy has failed to explain why using ratepayer dollars to prop up their aging, inefficient, dirty power plants makes any sense.

The proposed settlement that is pending before you does nothing to mitigate the environmental and public health impacts these coal plants will have in Ohio and beyond. The proposed settlement flies in the face of Ohio policy that honors customer choice. And just as egregious is asking Ohioans - the very same people who will suffer from air pollution and will have diminished energy choice under this proposed deal - to pick up the tab of over $8 a month per household. By comparison, the cost of clean, renewable power that customers pay now is only about $1 per month!

It is past time for FirstEnergy to adapt to a competitive market that is becoming more and more favorable to cleaner resources; the PUCO should encourage them to innovate and invest in the energy resources of the future instead of doubling down on the energy resources of the past.

Please stand with Ohio families and small businesses and reject this proposed settlement.

Thank you for your time in considering this request.

I would like to thank Commissioner Sass and Dr. Parmigian for their comments regarding this important issue before us. In October 2014, the OCIC made a request to the Governor and the PUCO. From an economic and workforce development organization's perspective, our request was straightforward – give a thorough and balanced review of FirstEnergy's electric security plan. Give the plan a thorough and balanced review in light of the baseload generation capabilities that facilities like Davis Besse represent, where baseload generation facilities represent arguably the most reliable sources of electricity production in this country. Give the plan thorough and balanced consideration because preserving our reliable electricity production facilities will not only result in tremendous job retention and economic impact at Davis Besse, but it will continue to support a competitive business environment in Ohio. One where businesses know when they flip that switch, the lights and machines are going to turn on. In 2013 and 2014, we were on the cusp of not having this luxury and some businesses were forced to shut down for several days.

OCIC's position on FirstEnergy's electric security plan before the PUCO has not changed. In fact, since FirstEnergy's submission of its electric security plan to the PUCO, every other private investor-owned utility in the state has also submitted similar plans – AEP, Dayton Power & Light, and Duke Energy. With every other major investor-owned utility in Ohio presenting similar plans, one has to ask if there is a broader statewide energy portfolio/policy issue. My gut tells me absolutely.

Since 2005, Ohio has lost more than 5,000 MW of electric generation. We are a net importer of power, relying on our transmission system, "an electric superhighway," to deliver power into Ohio. And in order to deliver that power into Ohio, our utility companies have invested more than $1.2 BILLION in transmission infrastructure upgrades to handle the importation of that power. But these investments have not come at the choice of our utilities, rather as REQUIRED by the government's Federal Energy Regulatory Commission and the regional grid manager, PJM.

And now we are seeing television ads trying to influence the decisions before the PUCO. Influencing decisions that could ultimately see Ohio lose even more electric generation facilities, which equals jobs and tax base. These ads are coming in part from a Texas-based company, Dynergy, that has filed for bankruptcy on at least two occasions and has put the cost of those bankruptcies back on its customers, creditors and shareholders. And now they and others want to use those billions of dollars of investments made by our ratepayers to dump their power into Ohio.

We need a balanced energy portfolio in Ohio that drives our economy long-term. I am concerned the policies we have in place now will not ensure reliable and affordable power in the long run. I am confident the 8 years outlined in these electric security plans will give enough time for Ohio's leadership to define a clear, balanced and competitive energy policy that positions us for future growth.

We should also remember that several years ago Ottawa County entered into an aggregation agreement for residential electric customers. This aggregation agreement negotiated rate savings to residential customers through 2018. The electric security plan cannot change that negotiated rate and as a group, the county can renegotiate residential rates after 2018 looking forward.

The decisions the PUCO and state leaders will be making are critical. They are critical to supporting the 750 Davis Besse jobs, the more than 5,000 regional contractor jobs that work at Davis Besse, the $387 million in economic impact and the $61 million in annual payroll. BUT, they are critical to giving Ohio's leadership the time needed to restructure our state's energy portfolio and energy policies to make sure that a balanced and reliable portfolio exists.

The Honorable John R. Kasich, Governor
State of Ohio
77 South High Street
Columbus, OH 43215-6117

Dear Governor Kasich:

As you are aware, many of Ohio's largest power plants have closed in recent years due to market challenges and tougher regulations, with many more plant retirements expected in the near future. This means the potential for more Ohio jobs being lost, and rising electricity prices in the years ahead.

Ottawa County is home to FirstEnergy Corporation's Davis Besse Nuclear Power Station, a 900 megawatt electric baseload generation facility that employs more than 750 highly-skilled individuals from throughout Northwest Ohio. This facility provides a carbon-free, reliable, long-term source of power for our region and our state that many of our manufacturing and industrial operations rely upon.

Baseload generation facilities, like Davis Besse, are arguably the most reliable sources of electricity production in this country. Preserving this most reliable form of electricity production is critical to the manufacturing and industrial sectors not just in Ottawa County, but across Northwest Ohio and the entire State of Ohio. Companies that do business in our region demand reliable energy production in order to effectively and efficiently operate their facilities. Blips in the grid (whether it is rolling brownouts or blackouts) cost our companies significant amounts of money and diminish Ohio's competitiveness as a place to do business. If Davis Besse shuts its facility, I am certain that we will see our local business community seriously question whether the cost of doing business in Ottawa County, Northwest Ohio, and Ohio overall is affordable, or if they should look to relocate to other parts of the country where reliable power is available.

Davis Besse's facility has a profound economic impact on our local economy, with an annual economic impact of more than $387 million in Ottawa County, with its employees generating an annual payroll of $61 million. Additionally, the Davis Besse Nuclear Power Station creates thousands of additional jobs involved in ongoing maintenance and refueling projects, with the company just completing a $600 million steam generator replacement and refueling investment project in 2014 that will create more than double the plant's annual economic impact compared to a typical year.

It is our understanding that FirstEnergy Corporation has submitted a proposed Electric Security Plan, Powering Ohio's Progress, to the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio. On behalf of the Ottawa County Improvement Corporation (OCIC), I wish to express our organization's support for a thorough and balanced review of FirstEnergy's proposal, so long as any rider charges placed on industrial customers does not have a significantly negative impact on these customers overall. Additionally, the OCIC supports FirstEnergy's commitment to provide future rebates to its customers as detailed in their plan.

Thank you for your continued work to ensure Ohio remains a premier location for existing and future businesses. Please do not hesitate to contact me directly at (419) 898-6242 or via email at jbgrant@ocic.biz.

Sincerely,

Jamie N. Beler Grant
