Hello,

I understand that ^{PUCO}POCO is on the cusp of making a decision about permitting several electric companies to add a surcharge to their distribution charges that all of us must pay to cover generation costs of coal fired legacy plants. (Case #14-1693 etc.).

This is disturbing ~~for~~ for several reasons. The original law creating electrical choice was supposed to save consumers money by encouraging competition among generators of electricity, including greener sources. Forcing consumers to subsidize obsolete, dirty coal-fired plants undercuts the purpose of that law.

Then there are the environmental costs.

Please DO NOT approve this anti-consumer, anti-environment, even anti-market giveaway. It is past time for these plants to close.

Thank you,
