Re: Case Number 15-1830-EL-AIR

Dear PUCO,

Recently, I became aware of the proposed increase of mandatory residential fixed fees. An increase in fees can lead to a significant negative impact on non-profits, for-profit small business, and individuals. I am opposed to Dayton Power & Light's plan to more than double their customer service charge and ask this be re-evaluated.

In addition, I would like to ask that more efficient programs be put in place to help our environment such as renewable energy research and implementation.

Thank you,

Amy Wamsley

Dear PUCO,

I am writing to protest DP+L's plan to more than double its customer service charge. I work hard to minimize my electric usage, so the increased flat fee will add considerably to my bill. I am also on a fixed income, so this will be a hardship for me.

DP+L should adopt programs to promote energy efficiency, thereby reducing its dependence on old, polluting coal powered plants. For the sake of our children and grandchildren, we need to convert to renewable energy sources that won't destroy our environment, and efficiency will be an essential step to get us there.

Sincerely,

Jennifer W Clark

I have recently become aware of the fact that DP+L plans to to drastically raise their service charge. Is this because people are reducing their usage? Dayton Power & Light should be encouraging energy efficiency & not punishing its users.

I really want to see DP+L increase their renewable energy and energy efficiency programs. It's time for companies to start doing their part in taking care of our environment.

Dear PUCO,

As a homeowner and consumer of energy, I implore you to increase your renewable energy and efficiency programs, NOT increase your customer service charge.

As a lover of our earth, I cannot sit idly by and watch greed for money and power destroy the only home we have. There has to be a balance, a compromise, that will aid all parties involved - and raising service charges is not part of a compromise.

Renewable energy is the only sensible option. Please, please, invest in it, invest in energy efficiency. Stop hurting the consumer. Stop hurting the earth.

Enough is enough. You have a responsibility. Do something for the good of the masses, not the pockets of the wealthy.

Dear PUCO,

It was recently brought to my attention that, once again, DP&L is wanting to raise the customer charge on my bill. The rate that they are requesting seems extremely excessive and unnecessary.

The focus for DP&L, and all energy providers, should be on efficiency and renewable energy. Customers who are actively looking for and utilizing ways to conserve energy should be rewarded. They should not have their bill increased.

Please reject DP&L's request for this increase, case number 15-1830-EL-AIR.

Regarding case number 15-1830-EL-AIR, I am strongly opposed to Dayton Power & Light's plan to more than double their customer service charge. This would place an undue financial burden on my family's extremely limited resources. DP&L would better serve its' consumers if they increased their renewable energy and energy efficiency programs instead of running outdated, polluting plants on the backs of their customers. Finally, DP&L should be encouraging energy efficiency, not punishing customers like me who can and want to reduce use of their product.

Dear P.U.C.O.,

I am writing to voice my opposition to DP&L's plan to more than double their customer service charge. This increase will most certainly cause a financial hardship for many customers who already struggle to make ends meet.

There must be other avenues that DP&L can explore to balance their economic shortfalls; avenues that do not include sticking customers with a huge increase in "service" fees.

I would like to see DP&L explore ways to expand the use of renewable energy and energy efficiency programs. Energy companies like DP&L should feel a civic responsibility to respect and support our ecology for future generations.

It is unfair to punish customers who make efforts to reduce use, particularly given the threats our planet faces because of global warming. Energy efficiency should be rewarded and encouraged!

Dear P.U.C.O.,

I am writing to voice my opposition to DP&L's plan to more than double their customer service charge. Such a huge increase in "service" fees is nothing more than price gouging customers.

I want DP&L to work harder to expand the use of renewable energy and energy efficiency programs. The state of Ohio should set an example with a commitment to greener forms of energy.

Punishing customers who make efforts to reduce use is clearly DP&L's effort to manage profits. I would hope the P.U.C.O. could recognize this for what it is and not allow customers to be robbed in this fashion.

RE: Case Number 15-1830-EL-AIR

Dear PUCO,

I am opposed to Dayton Power & Light's plan to more than double their customer service charge. This charge eliminates the incentive to conserve energy. I believe that Dayton Power & Light should be continuing to encourage energy efficiency and increasing their renewable energy.

It is not the consumers' responsibility to pay for poor judgment on the part of utilities companies relying on coal remaining inexpensive and forcing us to pay a 223% increase in the guise of a "customer service charge."

Again, Dayton Power & Light should be encouraging energy efficiency, not punishing customers who reduce their use. Let's work together to find a better way to use energy more efficiently and responsibly.

Thank you for your consideration.

Re: 15-1830 - EL - Air

I'm writing in opposition to DP&L's proposed fixed rate fee increase. Rather than raise rates to compensate for poor business practices and inefficiency, I want to see DP&L expand into more cost-efficient renewable energy sources that better balance long-term sustainability and environmental sensitivity. Increased fixed rates merely punishes customers who seek to reduce energy consumption and forces all to turn already tight budgets to offset the fixed increase.

Please work to stop DP&L's increase.

Sincerely,

DEAR PUC,

In Reference To CAN # 15-1830-AIR, I AM writing

As a result, I am categorically opposed to D.P.'s aggressive attempt to engage in renewable efficiency programs

Thank you for taking the time to address this issue.

Dear PUC,

I am opposed to Dayton Power and Light's plan to more than double their customer service charge. As a single working mother of two, receiving no child supports, I cannot afford for these rates to increase.

I do not understand why companies, outside of utilities, are always striving to do things better, faster, and more efficiently. But this company, which provides a necessity, because of their monopoly, refuse to do things better. Therefore, I want to see DP&L increase their renewable energy and energy efficiency programs.

BP & L should be encouraging efficiency, not punishing customers who reduce their use.
