Re: Case number 17-0032

Sirs,

As a utility rate payer in Ohio I believe that it is counter-productive to increase the customer distribution charge by nearly 400%. This is not a fee that can be managed or reduced due to increased efficiencies by the consumer but will amount to a great burden to the lowest income groups. These are the very people that commissions such as yourselves should protect.

Therefor, I ask you to disallow this injurious rate increase.

We would like to invest in energy efficiency upgrades, but can't do that with increased energy costs. Please reconsider this course of action.

I'm writing to urge you not to increase the "Distribution Customer Charge" to prop up old, dirty, coal-fired power plants. We live on a fixed income and an increase in our electric bill will require sacrifices elsewhere in our budget.
