COMMENT DESCRIPTION:

Re: Case Nos. 17-32-EL-AIR, et al - I understand that Duke Energy is requesting a customer fee increase from $72 to over $273, nearly 400%. I can't begin to imagine what could justify a hike of that proportion. If they succeed, customers will pay almost four times as much before they even flip on the lights. That's bad news for Ohioans, especially those trying to manage a budget, cut back on electricity usage, or rely on home-generated energy from solar panels. I urge you to put Ohioans first and deny their request.
