COMMENTS: I do not believe wind turbines belong in Lake Erie. I love coming up to the Lake. The views are awesome. It's the only place in Ohio and perhaps in the interior continental U.S., aside from the other four Great Lakes, where a person can look out from shore and see only horizon. The sunrises, sunsets, the full moon shimmering on its waters, and the dark forbidding movement of storm clouds over the Lake are priceless. Wind turbines are foreign to the visual experience and should not be permitted in our Great Lake.
