Exhibit C-6 "Credit Rating"

Attached below to this Exhibit C-6 are recent credit ratings of Accenture PLC issued by Moody's, S&P and Fitch.

FITCH AFFIRMS ACCENTURE PLC AT 'A+'; OUTLOOK STABLE

Fitch Ratings-Chicago-06 March 2017: Fitch Ratings has affirmed the ratings for Accenture plc (Accenture) and its subsidiaries, including Accenture's Long-Term Issuer Default Rating (IDR) at 'A+'. The Rating Outlook is Stable. Fitch's actions affect $1 billion of debt, including the undrawn revolving credit facility (RCF). A full list of ratings follows at the end of this release.

KEY RATING DRIVERS

Strong Market Position: Fitch expects Accenture's market positions as the largest independent information technology (IT) services firm provide significant scope and scale, providing a wide breadth of service offerings at scale and global delivery capabilities. Fitch also believes Accenture's scale results in meaningful competitive advantages, particularly with respect to investing in next generation offerings (organically or via acquisition), procurement, working capital efficiency and leveraging delivery capabilities.

Expectations for Low Leverage: Fitch anticipates Accenture will maintain low leverage, given its track record of funding acquisitions and shareholder distributions with free cash flow (FCF) rather than debt. Fitch believes Accenture views its credit rating as a strategic asset and that the company is committed to maintaining a financial position consistent with its current rating.

Recurring Revenue and FCF: Accenture's ratings reflect the company's resilient business model, supported by recurring revenue and long-term outsourcing contracts that Fitch expects to account for more than 45% of revenue (excluding revenue from reimbursements) (46% during FY 2016). Moreover, Accenture's revenue diversification from management consulting, technology, and outsourcing services to clients across a broad range of industry verticals and geographies reduces operating volatility.

Durable Cash Flow Profile: Fitch believes Accenture's revenue diversification also results in consistent FCF, particularly given the company's variable cost structure and low capital requirements. Fitch believes EBITDA and FCF margin expansion during the 2008-2009 economic down turn supports Accenture's cash flow profile. Fitch expects FCF will range between $2.5 billion and $3.5 billion through the intermediate term.

Low Margins and FCF: Despite Accenture's industry leading profit margins, Fitch believes comparatively low margins for the IT services industry overall could limit upside to the company's ratings. Fitch expects operating EBITDA margins of more than 18% through the intermediate term, versus the mid-teens for the IT services peer group but less than half the median of Fitch's 'A +' rated universe.

Intensified Competition for Talent: Fitch expects competition for employees capable of driving digital transformation products and services will remain intensified, making talent acquisition and retention a key differentiator across the IT service industry. Fitch believes Accenture's critical mass of "new technology" employees provide advantages acquiring incremental talent but that tuck-in acquisitions also will remain a key way for Accenture to acquire personnel to expand capabilities in emerging technologies.

KEY ASSUMPTIONS

Fitch's key assumptions within the rating case for Accenture include:

- --Growth in digital, cloud, and security services driving low- to mid-single digit organic constant currency revenue growth per year.
- --Modest operating leverage driving EBITDA margin expansion through the intermediate term with competition, acquisitions, and rising labor costs dampening margin uplift from operating leverage.
- -- A 25% effective cash tax rate.
- --$1 billion of acquisitions per year.
- --Annual capital expenditure of roughly 1.5% of revenue.
- --10% dividend growth per year with excess cash is returned to shareholders through share repurchases.

RATING SENSITIVITIES

Negative: Negative rating actions could accompany Fitch's expectation for:

- --Gross leverage (total debt to EBITDA) sustained above 1.25x or adjusted leverage (total adjusted debt to EBITDAR) above 2x; or
- --Margin pressure leading to FCF margins sustained below 5%.

Positive: Fitch does not anticipate positive rating action over the intermediate term. However, with leverage sustained near current levels, positive rating action would likely accompany Fitch's expectation for FCF margins durably sustained above 10%.

LIQUIDITY

Fitch believes Accenture's liquidity position is strong, supported by:

- --$4 billion of readily available cash and cash equivalents, essentially all of which is readily available; and
- --$832 million of availability under the company's $1 billion revolving credit facility.

Fitch's expectation for annual FCF of $2.5 billion to $3.5 billion also supports liquidity.

FULL LIST OF RATING ACTIONS

Fitch affirms the following ratings:

Accenture plc

--Long-Term Issuer Default Rating (IDR) at 'A+'.

Accenture International Capital SCA

- --IDR at 'A+';
- --Revolving credit facility (RCF) at 'A+'.

Accenture Capital Inc.

- --IDR at 'A+';
- -- RCF at 'A+'.

Update to Discussion of Key Ratings Factors

Summary

Accenture's A1 rating reflects its position as a leading information technology (IT) services firm with a resilient business model supported by long-term arrangements and predictable cash flow. Accenture, the largest independent IT services provider, has consistently gained market share over the past decade spurred by newer digital offerings. We believe that ongoing demand for consulting and outsourcing services that help companies reduce costs and increase efficiency helps to buffer Accenture's operating performance even during an economic downturn.

Accenture does not have any material reported debt while maintaining strong liquidity. Accenture generates operating margins higher than its largest U.S. industry peers due to its global scale, efficient offshore workforce, proven ability to execute, and the growth of digital and cloud-related solutions. At the same time, Accenture competes with several strong U.S. and offshore players in a consolidating and evolving technology industry, which could threaten the company's credit profile longer term.

MOODY'S INVESTORS SERVICE CORPORATES

Credit Strengths

- » Leading IT services firm with global scale and low-cost offshore infrastructure
- » Strong revenue growth in excess of industry growth rates with high levels of profits and free cash flow
- » Diversified client base, long-standing relationships, and high retention rates
- » Market trend towards outsourcing and leaner IT models

Credit Challenges

- » Strengthening of global competitors and the consolidation of IT services firms could pressure long-term profitability
- » Heightened M&A activity in the technology industry and the potential for shifting alliances could elevate event risk

Rating Outlook

The stable outlook reflects our expectation that Accenture will continue to maintain conservative financial policies with low financial leverage (e.g., debt to EBITDA after standard adjustments below 1x) and generate profitability and cash flow consistent with historical levels through economic cycles. We expect at least mid-single digit revenue growth over at least the next 18 months (ahead of Moody's projected G-20 real GDP growth of 3.1%) with adjusted operating margins continuing at over 14%. We also project operating cash flow of over $5 billion annually.

Factors that Could Lead to an Upgrade

We believe Accenture's rating is well positioned at A1, which incorporates the potential for moderate levels of debt issuance. Upwards ratings pressure could develop if Accenture can sustain organic revenue growth exceeding that of the market and significant operating margin expansion (e.g., above 17%) that is consistently better than its direct business peers, and commits to maintaining debt to EBITDA at the current level.

Factors that Could Lead to a Downgrade

» Accenture's A1 rating could experience downwards rating pressure if revenues, operating income, or free cash flow were to decline on a sustained basis. The rating could also be lowered if adjusted debt increases meaningfully such that that leverage (Moody's adjusted debt/EBITDA) exceeded 1.5x on a sustained basis.

This publication does not announce a credit rating action. For any credit ratings referenced in this publication, please see the ratings tab on the issuer/entity page on www.moodys.com for the most updated credit rating action information and rating history.

Profile

Accenture plc is a global management consulting, technology services, and outsourcing company with projected annual gross revenues over $37 billion.

Detailed Credit Considerations

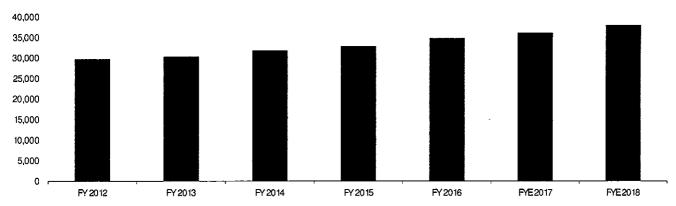

AT LEAST MID-SINGLE DIGIT REVENUE GROWTH EXPECTED, DRIVEN BY DIGITAL OFFERINGS

We expect at least mid-single digit annual revenue growth (in constant currency) for Accenture over the next year, ahead of our industry growth projections of low single digits through 2018. While revenue growth has moderated to about 7% in constant currency for the nine months ended May 31, 2017 (following a couple of years of double-digit constant currency growth), this rate of growth is still considered exceptional for a technology company with a revenue base likely to exceed $37 billion over the next fiscal year. By investing earlier and more effectively than its global peers, Accenture will likely continue to capitalize on the rapidly changing IT environment. We expect sustained revenue growth to continue for Accenture driven by a strong track record of execution and favorable industry dynamics. Positive factors include the ongoing demand for consulting and outsourcing services as companies continue to seek ways to use technology to reduce costs, increase efficiency, and enhance functionality.

Corporate and government IT spending will likely remain cautious due to lingering global macroeconomic and political challenges, which include the still tepid growth in the Euro area and concerns regarding the growth trajectory of emerging markets. We think the IT spending environment will remain healthy over the long term as corporations and governments rely on IT consultants to help navigate through growth initiatives and rapidly evolving IT models (e.g., cloud computing, mobile enterprise, data analytics, and social networking).

STRONG MARKET POSITION AS LARGEST INDEPENDENT IT SERVICES FIRM

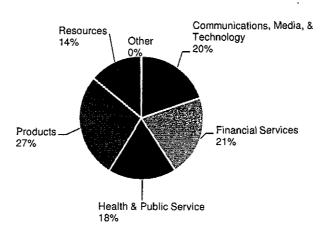

We expect that Accenture will continue to gain market share as its growth will likely outpace that of its largest U.S. competitors, IBM Global Services and DXC Technology (which represents the merger of Computer Sciences Corporation with Hewlett Packard Enterprise Company's Enterprise Services business). As an independent IT services firm, we believe that Accenture benefits from playing the role of a neutral, unbiased channel partner and advisor. Most enterprise hardware and software providers solicit Accenture's help when launching new product offerings. Clients, meanwhile, rely on Accenture to select the best option applicable as the firm is not aligned with a specific solution or product suite.

Accenture's size and global reach allow the company to attract a diversified client base of multinational corporations and public sector agencies. Accenture also benefits from high barriers to entry given its highly-scalable offshore labor infrastructure and deeply-entrenched customer base and financial strength which, we believe, will allow the company to remain a leading player in the IT services industry globally.

In addition, Accenture has a highly diversified business profile as measured by its geographic revenue distribution, service offerings, and customer concentration. More than half of total net revenues are derived outside of North America with Europe and Growth Markets accounting for about 34% and 19% of total net revenues, respectively, for the nine months ended May 31, 2017.

Accenture offers a wide range of services and participates in several industry verticals including communications, media, high-tech, financial services, healthcare & public service, products, and resources.

Accenture also has a well-diversified client base. Additionally, about 54% of revenues are generated from consulting versus 46% from the outsourcing business, which provides revenue stability due to the long-term nature of outsourcing arrangements.

Exhibit 5
Accenture's Revenue by Geographic Region and Segment

Footnote Source: Moody's Financial Metrics™

BUSINESS MODEL IS RELATIVELY RESILIENT DURING ECONOMIC CYCLES

During the last recession, Accenture generated high levels of cash flow and profits even as revenue fell slightly. A large portion of Accenture's costs are variable with a labor force that can be managed with flexibility during a slowdown. Accenture's recurring revenue stream is secured by long-term contracts, high customer retention rates (which we estimate to be well over 90%), and a diversified customer base in multiple industries. The company's performance was also supported by customer demand for services that help streamline their business and IT processes, and reduce infrastructure costs.

MOODY'S INVESTORS SERVICE CORPORATES

Regardless of economic climate, businesses will need to manage their IT systems cost-effectively and without disruption. In addition, risk management, regulatory compliance, and data security/privacy have become greater priorities for management teams, especially in the wake of the financial-market crisis and heightened government scrutiny. We also believe global enterprises and government agencies will continue to integrate their businesses, functions, and underlying systems, which is a process that often requires an overhaul of older systems to achieve greater efficiency and productivity. In addition, the continuing shift towards cloud computing whether conducted onsite or at third party data centers should provide further growth opportunities for Accenture.

OFFSHORE INFRASTRUCTURE SUPPORTS COMPETITIVE MARKET POSITION BUT THE GROWTH OF FOREIGN COMPETITORS COULD WEIGH ON MARGINS

Accenture has an industry leading global footprint in which 75% of its overall workforce is located in its Global Delivery Network (GDN), which is predominantly offshore (up from 28% in 2004). The balance of onshore and offshore mix is comparable to that of IBM Global Services, HPE Services, and Cognizant Technology Solutions Corporation and well ahead of smaller peers such as CSC and Xerox' IT services firm, which is currently in the process of being spun off. Accenture's GDN headcount is about 308,000 and is increasingly concentrated in India and the Philippines. This network enables the company to deliver comprehensive and specialized services and cost-effective solutions to clients around the clock.

India-based IT service providers such as Tata Consultancy Services, Infosys Technologies, and Wipro have grown more rapidly in the past decade with operating margin percentages far exceeding their U.S. counterparts (in excess of 20% for the top Indian outsourcers versus high single digit to mid-teens percentage for the leading U.S. firms), driven principally by labor cost advantages and less complex engagements. However, the Indian labor market continues to be stressed by rising wages as demand has increased not only from local employers but also from the multinational firms seeking to expand offshore infrastructure.

Although we believe India will remain the leading targeted location for offshore infrastructure, higher wages and pricing pressures from clients will provide little opportunity for operating margin percentage growth. We expect Accenture to continue to migrate its labor force abroad to India as well as other foreign locations (e.g., Philippines, China, Eastern Europe, and Latin America) to combat rising competition and the growing trend towards outsourcing services, which tend to be lower margin than consulting services.

INCREASING SHIFT OF BUSINESS MIX TO OUTSOURCING MAY LIMIT MARGIN EXPANSION

Outsourcing services now represents about 46% of total revenues, with the remainder largely from consulting. The demand for outsourcing services remained strong during the economic downturn as companies sought ways to reduce costs. While outsourcing contracts can provide stability due to their long-term nature (e.g. 5-7 years), this segment has an operational and financial risk profile that differs from the consulting business, which consists of management and technology consulting and system integration services (e.g., implementation of enterprise resource planning systems).

When Accenture enters into an outsourcing arrangement, the company either has to take over certain operations in which client personnel or subcontractors are transferred to the company or develop its own internal team. Outsourcing contracts usually have longer contractual terms than consulting projects and typically have lower gross margins, especially during the first year of the contract. As new contracts are taken on and outsourcing activity increases, profit margins are likely to be negatively impacted compared to historical levels due not only to the shift in service line offerings (from consulting to outsourcing), but also to the start-up investment required during the early stages of new outsourcing contracts. However, Accenture has adopted an "asset light" approach by focusing on application outsourcing and business process outsourcing instead of the more capital-intensive infrastructure outsourcing.

While outsourcing services may become a larger part of overall revenues over the long-term given industry trends, we expect that Accenture will be able to preserve or expand its consolidated operating margins with higher offshore mix, the continued expansion of its global workforce, and new projects related to cloud migration and data analytics. Adjusted operating margin percentages have increased modestly (by about one percentage point) over the past 5 years to just over 14% currently.

RECENT INDUSTRY CONSOLIDATION COULD ALTER COMPETITIVE LANDSCAPE

MOODY'S INVESTORS SERVICE CORPORATES

Accenture faces challenges in achieving revenue and earnings growth in an environment where it competes with several strong competitors including International Business Machines (IBM) and DXC Technology, which completed its merger with HPE Services in April 2017. Although both CSC and HPE are struggling to return to sustained growth, the combined entity will have combined revenues of over $25 billion, which will encroach on Accenture's number two market position behind IBM. Continued consolidation in the industry could further threaten Accenture's market position as competitors with enough scale may be able to put together more comprehensive solutions and exert greater pricing pressure on Accenture. Furthermore, the consolidation of the overall technology industry could reduce market opportunities for Accenture if a key partner were to be acquired by a leading hardware or software provider with its own services arm or preferred channel network.

VERY LOW LEVERAGE; HOWEVER, SPENDING WILL CONTINUE FOR M&A AND SHAREHOLDER RETURNS

Based on Moody's standard adjustments, which includes an operating lease adjustment of about $2.55 billion and a pension adjustment of over $965 million, Accenture's adjusted debt was $3.54 billion at May 31, 2017. As such, the company's adjusted debt to EBITDA approximates 0.6x at May 31, 2017. Accenture does not have any material reported debt, and we do not anticipate the company will take on debt absent a substantial acquisition.

During the trailing twelve months ended May 2017, Accenture's adjusted cash flow from operations of $5.5 billion exceeded the sum of its spending for share buybacks (nearly $2 billion, net of proceeds from the issuance of shares), M&A ($1.34 billion, excluding asset divestitures), and dividends ($1.57 billion). We expect Accenture to continue to engage in small to modest-sized acquisitions to enhance technological capabilities, expand service offerings, and increase its presence in certain industries and geographies, similar to recent acquisitions.

Liquidity Analysis

Accenture maintains excellent liquidity, based on the expectation of continued robust free cash flow and high cash balances. We expect the company to generate over $3 billion of annual free cash flow ($3.0 billion for the twelve months ended May 31, 2017, after dividends of $1.57 billion). Meanwhile, Accenture had $3.4 billion of cash and cash equivalents at May 31, 2017, with foreign cash that is readily accessible. In addition, Accenture has an undrawn $1.0 billion syndicated loan facility maturing January 2020, as well as $500 million uncommitted multicurrency revolving credit facilities. We expect the company to remain in compliance with its covenants over the next twelve months.

CURRENT RATINGS VIEW CRITERIA

Rationale

Business Risk: Strong

- · Consistently strong operating performance;
- · Large and globally diverse customer base; and
- Revenue growth led by digital-related transformational projects.

Financial Risk: Minimal

- Strong cash flows and a net cash financial position;
 and
- Moderately higher acquisitions balanced with ongoing shareholder return activity funded primarily through free cash flow.

Outlook: Stable

The stable outlook on Dublin-based technology consulting and services company Accenture PLC reflects S&P Global Ratings' expectation that the company will maintain mid-single-digit revenue growth and stable EBITDA margins, and continue adhering to strong credit measures.

Downside scenario

We could consider lowering the rating if Accenture's business position and profitability deteriorates, or if the company engages in debt-financed acquisitions or aggressive shareholder return practices, such that the company's leverage remains above 1.5x.

Upside scenario

Highly competitive industry conditions and a business profile somewhat narrower than that of its 'AA-' rated peers limit the possibility of an upgrade.

Our Base-Case Scenario

Assumptions

- Real U.S. GDP growth of 2.2% in 2017 and 2.3% in 2018;
- Global technology spending growth in the lowsingle digits in 2018;
- Accenture revenue growth in the mid-single-digits in fiscal 2018 and 2019, higher than the overall information technology (IT) environment;
- Consistent revenue growth going forward reflects healthy bookings across most business segments driven by stable macroeconomic conditions coupled with continued client demand for automation and digitization workloads, partially offset by pricing pressure; and
- Stable EBITDA margins as increased labor costs and reinvestments offset higher operating efficiency.

Company Description

Accenture is a leading global technology consulting and services company with offices and operations in 53 countries serving various industry groups. The company seeks to use its extensive industry and business process knowledge to help clients identify and adapt to new technology trends. It also helps enterprises formulate and implement solutions to boost revenue, enter new markets, or deliver products and services more efficiently. Accenture's clients include Global Fortune 500 and Fortune 1000 companies, as well as mid-sized enterprises and government entities.

Business Risk: Strong

Our view of Accenture's business risk profile reflects the company's recognized leadership position in consulting and IT services and established client relationships with global corporations. It ended fiscal year 2017 with revenues before reimbursements exceeding $34 billion, up 6% from the prior year. We expect the strength in Accenture's digital capabilities to continue bolstering revenue growth in consulting work across various end markets, surpassing growth in traditional outsourcing business. However, projects in the consulting segment are more transformational in nature and vary in length and contract value, and thus are less predictable. Outsourcing revenues, which represent a smaller proportion of total net revenue, enhance predictability through contractually recurring revenues. With about half of sales originating outside North America, Accenture faces currency fluctuation on top-line growth given the strong dollar. Nevertheless, the company generates a proportionate amount of operating expenses in local currencies, alleviating the impact on margins. Additionally, the company's focus on higher-value digital services, a highly variable cost base, and moderate capital intensity have allowed it to maintain above-industry-average EBITDA margins in the high-teens area, which we expect to remain in the coming year.

Financial Risk: Minimal

Our view of Accenture's financial risk profile reflects the company's significant amount of balance sheet cash. Robust cash generation gives Accenture the flexibility to continue evaluating merger and acquisition (M&A) opportunities and pursue shareholder-friendly activities without diminishing overall credit quality. We expect free cash flow (FCF) of more than $4 billion per year over the next two years. Capital expenditure requirements remain moderate, at about $600 million-$700 million, the majority of which are related to IT infrastructure investments. We continue viewing Accenture's financial policy as consistent, including its maintenance of a very significant net cash position, albeit declining moderately over the next two years, and ample debt capacity. We expect the company to balance ongoing buybacks, dividends, and acquisitions in a manner consistent with its stated financial policy and within our leverage expectations.

Liquidity: Strong

We view Accenture's liquidity as strong, with sources of cash likely to exceed uses by well over 2x and to remain positive even if the company's EBITDA declined by 30%.

Principal Liquidity Sources

- Cash and short-term investment balances of about $4.1 billion as of Aug. 31, 2017;
- · Expected annual FCF of more than $4 billion; and
- Additional liquidity from full availability under the $1 billion credit facility maturing in December 2020.

Principal Liquidity Uses

- Capital spending of about $600 million-$700 million;
- Annual dividends and share repurchases totaling about $4.5 billion; and
- Moderate sized acquisitions that are not expected to materially increase leverage.

Other Credit Considerations

We apply a negative comparable rating modifier to the 'aa-' anchor score arriving at the final corporate credit rating of 'A+', based on our view that the company has less business diversity and lower profitability compared to 'AA-' rated companies.

Incidence of Delinquent Payment

Among Companies with This Class	5.80%
Average Compared to All Businesses	10.20%
Credit Score Percentile	54
Credit Score	503
Number of Payment Experiences	223

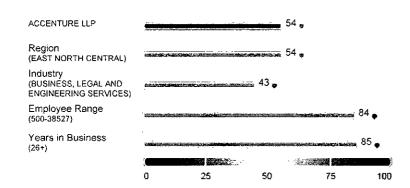

Key Factors

- · Proportion of past due balances to total amount owing
- · Higher risk industry based on delinquency rates for this industry
- · Evidence of open suits and liens
- · Proportion of slow payments in recent months

Notes:

- The Credit Score Class indicates that this firm shares some of the same business and payment characteristics of other companies with this classification. It does not mean the firm will necessarily experience delinquency.
- The Incidence of Delinquent Payment is the percentage of companies with this classification that were reported 91 days past due or more by creditors. The calculation of this value is based on D&B's trade payment database.
- . The Credit Score Percentile reflects the relative ranking of a firm among all scorable companies in D&B's file.
- The Credit Score offers a more precise measure of the level of risk than the Class and Percentile. It is especially helpful to customers using a scorecard approach to determining overall business performance.

Credit Score Percentile Norms Comparison

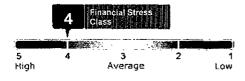

- Similar risk compared to other companies in the same region.
- Lower risk than other companies in the same industry.
- Higher risk than other companies in the same employee size range.
