Necessity is the plea for every infringement of human freedom. It is the argument of tyrants; it is the creed of slaves.

Willam Pitt

Speech in the House of Commons.

November 18, 1783

All tyranny needs to gain a foothold is for people of good conscience to remain silent.
Thomas Jefferson

Climate terror is meant to frighten us so deeply that we will surrender our personal freedom to the liars who promote it

He who controls global energy controls all.

Energy is the sun and the sun the source of global warmth. CO2 is the molecule of life and so tiny a part of the atmosphere it's fecundity astonishing.

The Anthropogenic Green Cycle

The global surface temperature of the earth during the time that food cultivation developed and significant civilizations emerged was higher than the global surface temperature we have experienced since modern record keeping began in 1850.

That beneficial pre-industrial period of higher temperature occurred without anthropogenic influence and demonstrates that alarm over the modest modern warming trend is unwarranted.

In fact the Anthropogenic Green Cycle by which CO2 is returned to the atmosphere from sequestration in coal, gas and oil deposits is having a positive effect on global biomass which means increased food production around the world.
