RE: Birch Lima Solar Panel Farm – Revise History/Architecture Survey Methodology
Shawnee Township, Allen County, and Logan Township, Auglaize County, Ohio

Dear Ms. Kramb:

This letter is in response to correspondence received January 4, 2021. The comments of Ohio's State Historic Preservation Office (SHPO) are submitted in accordance with provisions of Ohio Revised Code 149.53 requesting cooperation among state agencies in the preservation of historic properties, Ohio Administrative Code Chapters 4906-1 to 4906-17, and with provisions of the National Historic Preservation Act of 1966, as amended and the associated regulations at 36 CFR Part 800.

The correspondence included the revised History/Architecture Survey Methodology Report for the Proposed Birch Lima Solar Panel Farm in Portions of Shawnee Township, Allen County and Logan Township, Auglaize County, Ohio. The Project includes the construction and operation of a commercial-scale solar energy facility on approximately 1,700 acres.

The SHPO agrees that the proposed survey methodology is a suitable method to evaluate the overall effects of the Birch Lima Solar Panel Farm and inform appropriate mitigation measures if necessary. We look forward to continuing consultation regarding the Project.

If you have any questions, please contact me at kkoehlinger@ohiohistory.org or (614) 298-2000. Thank you for your cooperation.

Sincerely,

Kristen Koehlinger

Dear Tom:

The bowstring bridge on private property in Duchouquet Township north of Auglaize County's Wapakoneta is a rare example of David H. Morrison's 1867 patent, reissued in 1871. According to research done in 1980 by Dan Bennett, this bridge was originally part of three spans constructed in the county over the Auglaize River in 1874 and moved to its current location on a private farm in the 1920s.

The only other example of this design I am aware of is the Mallaham Bridge near Columbus Grove in Putnam County. It was featured in my February 1985 TIMELINE article and has since been renovated by the county.

The Bridgehunter website references a small, 43-foot example in Siloam State Park in Illinois, but it is only attributed to Morrison and has not been well documented.

Morrison filed his application for a US Patent in April 1867, creating a bowstring design with an arch of curved I-beams in which the web of the beam was horizontal. His original application included an option of using parallel I-beams held together with spacers. This led a Patent Office examiner to refuse approval because Zenas King had received a patent in 1866 that used parallel I-beams connected by boilerplate to create a true tubular design. Morrison felt the incorporation of I-beams would reduce the cost of his bowstring and that the vertical orientation of the flanges would help resist lateral sway in the arch. To appease the Patent Office, however, he removed the I-beam claim and based his patent on lesser connection details. When resubmitting his application to the Patent Office in 1871, Morrison reinserted the language regarding the I-beam arch design and was, in this second attempt, successful in getting it approved and the patent reissued.

D. H. Morrison founded the Columbia Bridge Works in Dayton, Ohio, in 1852. His son, Charles Carroll, eventually joined the firm, which was, at times, characterized as "D. H. and C. C. Morrison." Before the senior Morrison's death in 1882, "Morrison's Patent Wrought Iron Arch Truss Bridge" was a favorite company design and examples were built throughout the Midwest.

Given the importance of the design for this important Ohio bridge company and the unique character of the design itself, there is no question in my mind that it would be eligible for the National Register of Historic Places. Its removal from its original site is a negligible factor in that evaluation.

Please let me know if you need any additional information.

Sincerely,

David A. Simmons
President
