Subject: Birch Solar Project in Lima Ohio

Dear OPSB board:

As a mother, I am concerned with the Birch Solar project being so close to a large rural population. I am concerned that the project will reduce the wildlife and transform the local outdoor environment to a more urban, metal wall of solar panels. The elimination of the outdoors affects children and their development. Have you considered the affects that a large (900 acres) of metal, fence and panels will have on the development of local children? A project of this size does not need to be so close to a highly populated rural community.
