Enter your question or comment	I currently reside in Williamsport, and have major concerns about the solar projects. There are no zoning restrictions that I am aware of. The panels can literally come up to my back door. I'm really concerned about property value. The solar companies state that it won't devalue my property, however, who will pay to look at a view of solar panels. I'm concerned about the removal of all the topsoil and the amount of time it would take to regenerate that soil. My research says 50-100 years to generate one inch of topsoil. We say NO to industrial solar farming!
