DOCKETING CASE #: 21-0637-GA-AIR

SUBJECT: Columbia Gas of Ohio - Protest Rate Case

Please docket the associated customer comment and/or attached in the case number referenced above under "Public Comments". This information was received by the Consumer Services Division through alternate channels and is being forwarded to be filed formally. This information is not the opinion of Staff and should not be viewed as such.

Customer comments: "While it is admirable to see that Columbia Gas has the ambitions for improvement, this proposed rate hike comes at the wrong time which casts doubt on their true intentions. Currently, the energy sector is reporting record breaking profits in different parts of the industry at the cost of the consumer, specifically gas/oil companies. They're corporations that our meant to create profit for their stakeholders though. Columbia Gas isn't just a profit-driven corporation, but something that the community relies on. They are providing a public service, which means their goal should be to improve the publics life through what they provide. The rate hike will not do that even with planned improvements right now. Entire communities are facing increasing financial hardships. Some folks are already struggling to keep their car running to get to their job, and feed themselves or their kids. Increasing the rates at this time will only further drive people away and into more financial hardships that some may not recover from. If the commission truly believes that this rate hike is in the best interest of the public, I would at least propose that this rate hike has a time-limit on it. Columbia Gas should be able to provide the exact amount of money they need to install and maintain new pipelines, and not at the current inflated price of things. They should be able to provide a strict timeline of when they will acquire the money needed, and then agree to lower the rates back down. If they cannot agree to something along those terms, Columbia Gas is clearly looking to pad their pockets by providing their services at inflated prices even when the financial crisis this country is currently experiencing winds down."

Sincerely,

Robert Rumsey
