Subject: Link to Green Energy Ohio AGRIVOLTAICS webinar for passing to board members, with 8 minutes highlighted in case of time constraints

Hello Matt,

I received an email from the director of Green Energy Ohio Jane Harf indicating that the YouTube video link to the recording of the GEO-sponsored webinar on agrivoltaics has now become available and that she would be sending this link directly to you in the hope it can be passed to members of the OPSB. As I believe this webinar contains the most informative discussion of this cutting edge topic yet produced in Ohio - especially the slide presentation by prominent agrivoltaics spokesperson Dan French -

I am of course hoping that members will view the entire program. But I am also aware that they may be facing time constraints. If so, I would like to offer the recommendation that they key in on about 8 minutes of Dan's slideshow presentation - which includes a quick explanation of basic concepts and also a highly impressive "tour" of agrivoltaics being implemented in countries across the world.

Just in case Jane has not yet sent this YouTube link, here it is:

The specific 8 minutes I would like to direct board members to if they are facing a time constraint would be from 21:00 to 28:30 in this video.

Respectfully,

Gary Houser [Author of commentary on agrivoltaics in the Ohio Capital Journal]

PS: Would you kindly confirm receipt of this link and this request?

"I will file your commentary below in the case record for Oak Run Solar for the Board members to consider during their review of the project. I'd be happy to include a link to the webinar recording in the comments. No timeline for an Oak Run decision at this point."
