	said that watching all his animals die is 'unbearable'. "They lost weight, we lost 120 in five years. It can not be explained, even veterinarians do not know what to do," Mr Le Nechet said. He said: "The human body has an electrical resistance of 1,500 Ohms, while the cows, only 500 Ohms, not to mention that they are not separated from the ground by rubber soles. farminguk.com/news/amp/french-farmers-claim-cows-are-dying-due-to-turbines-and-solar-panels
