FirstEnergy got caught red-handed bribing Ohio officials in one of the biggest corruption cases in the state's history, and now they want to quietly pass through a $1.4 billion increase to consumers. Proof, as always, FE only is concerned about their shareholders as they increase their payouts at a time when energy consumption continues to trend upward. With demand increasing, they're looking to make a cash grab while the consumers continue to suffer the consequences. Even with their so called promise to help senior discount programs. Surely, this is offset easily by the $1.4 billion ask and we'll never see any actual improvements in line quality or service - just more money getting yanked from our pockets year after year from these greedy fiends.
