

I'm writing to express my unwavering support for Clear Mountain Energy Center. Beyond the evident economic advantages, this solar project resonates with the American values of free enterprise and private property rights. Our landowners deserve to be trusted to use their land in the way they see fit. If the market is demanding more electrons from clean sources, then who are we to deny them the right to produce them? By harnessing solar energy, we not only foster economic growth but also become pioneers in the pursuit of a cleaner, more sustainable environment. Vote 'yes' for progress, vote 'yes' for a greener tomorrow.
