

I write to you not only as a resident but as a parent invested in the future of our community. Clear Mountain Energy Center presents an exciting prospect for our schools and the education of our children.

The tax revenue generated by this solar project will translate into increased funding for our schools for decades to come without adding pupils. As a result, we can enhance educational programs, invest in infrastructure, and provide better resources for our students.

Beyond the financial aspects, supporting solar energy aligns with our responsibility to teach our children about environmental stewardship. Approving Clear Mountain Energy Center is a practical way to demonstrate our commitment to a sustainable future for these kids.

I urge you to consider the educational impact and long-term benefits for our community this project represents. Let us provide a brighter future for our children by embracing clean and renewable energy sources.
